Publishes Book
Mrs. A. MacDonald, who lives at the mill, Bayview and Steeles, has recently had a book published under her maiden name "Billy Button". The book, "I Married An Artist" is a hilarious story of life with her artist husband, Mr. Angus MacDonald, A.R.C.A., who also did the art work for the cover of the book.

Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald and daughter Heather have been residents of Thornlea for a number of years, and live on the property where Mr. Lever used to run the grist mill. Old timers will remember those days.

Thornlea joins in wishing Mrs. MacDonald every success with the publication of her book.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Covell, Doncrest Road recently gave a pleasant surprise party to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cramer, Doncrest Road. The occasion was a housewarming for the Cramers on the completion of their new home. Twenty guests attended and extended their best wishes, also many lovely gifts were received by the surprised couple. Square dancing and modern dancing was enjoyed by all with music supplied by Messrs. Pat Riley, Arthur Blow and Al. McCallum. A delightful supper was enjoyed which was served by the ladies.

Ratepayers Association
Wednesday evening twenty members of Thornlea Ratepayers Association met at the school with Dr. D. Tanner as chairman. The meeting was busy with discussions on the protest regarding lot 6 as an industrial area. It was pointed out that Thornlea south of the school to Steeles Ave. was a highly residential district with estates while north of that area east and west were the working man's home sites. Realizing the railway that passes through the district through concession one and two could be utilized as desirable industrial property, it is the objective of the Ratepayers Association to see that restrictive by-laws will have a rigid control on the types of industry which may come into this area.

Mr. A. LeMasurier, newly elected councillor expressed his thanks to all in Thornlea who had supported him in the election.

The next meeting will be at the school on January 8, the second Tuesday of the new year.

Mrs. Thomas King Sr. has had a letter from her daughter, Alice, Mrs. Linklater who is in Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Linklater and children motored to New Westminster, Vancouver to stay with Mr. Warren Linklater for the winter. They had a lovely trip, and travelled through Los Angeles en route.

Mr. & Mrs. Mairs-nee-Rosemary King have taken up residence in and Mrs. Linklater's house, Johnson Ave. until her sister returns from Vancouver.

New Surface.
At last it looks like John Street is to get a new surface. The graders and gravel trucks drawing sand and gravel are very busy. When the job is finished it will be very much appreciated by all the motorists and pedestrians. Meanwhile an extra precaution should be taken by all motorists, as the unexpected pile of gravel may be just where it is not expected especially travelling at dark. Two piles were left in the road last week and motorists were talking about the hazards of these piles, caused by the carelessness of someone.

HEADFORD NEWS

The general monthly meeting of the Headford Home and School Association was held Tuesday evening, December 2, in Headford Public School which took the form of a Family Fair. The president Mrs. Vizely opened the meeting, welcoming parents, friends and pupils and in her short address gave reference to the passing of Mr. Don McAllister, a much loved member of the school board and said that a letter of sympathy had been sent to the sorrowing family on behalf of Headford Home and School.

The evening started with a movie showing how the excess energy of a boy could be turned into sport channels and showed hockey, lacrosse, baseball and other sports played across Canada the outcome being not whether you won the game but how you played it.

The teacher Miss Hardy led in a sing-song and after Mrs. Vizely declared the booths open.

The pupils had decorated their table very effectively and had themselves donated games, toys, books, etc. and they certainly made a grand contribution to the total raised. An outstanding contribution was a hand carved manger scene by Charles Barker, a beautiful piece of art.

Other booths contained hand-crafts, home baking, plants, bulbs and Christmas decorations, candy and vegetables.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Barker and helpers and a very happy time was had. On behalf of Headford Home & School many thanks to all who in any way helped make the annual Family Fair such a success.

Headford United Church and Sunday School are holding their annual Christmas Tree and Concert Saturday evening, December 15. All are welcome.

THE TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM
The greatly increased number of commuters in North York in the past few years, would surely warrant enquiries being made to the Canadian National Railways as to the feasibility of running a special morning and evening train, at more convenient hours than the present schedule calls for, in the opinion of many business men who being employed in Toronto, find increasing difficulty in reaching their offices and places of employment every day. At present there is a morning and evening train, but they run at inconvenient times, especially the morning train which, in the fall and winter, reaches the city about 11 a.m. with only a handful of passengers aboard. Meanwhile there are at least 1,000 persons who are potential customers from Newmarket, Aurora, King, Maple, Concord and Downsview, and the surrounding countryside, who travel to Toronto by car every morning. These people do not use the bus lines on Yonge Street, nor the Danforth Bus line from King City, and the promised bus routes on the new Barrie Highway do not solve their problem in every way. The drive to and from the city is not the most tiring part of the trip. It is the traffic problem when they reach the city, or when they try to get away from it at night that is getting worse each week, and which is becoming the straw that breaks the camel's, or commuter's, back. Then, after getting out of the city, to drive north in a snow storm, or a sleet blizzard, or fog, is something a motorist trembles to think upon. Many suburban people are planning to move to Toronto for the winter, but only those without young families of school age can consider this, or else place their children in boarding schools.

One young man in discussing a commuter's train, told of the expense involved every day in taking his car from King to Toronto. The gasoline is at least $1.00 each day, then the cheapest parking lot charges at least 50 cents daily, which makes a cost of $45.00 each month, without the cost of wear and tear on the car, which is not a small item with so many miles to be covered each month.

Toronto has become a large city, and the suburban population who pour into it every day is great. Oakville and Islington are only two towns serviced by commuters' trains. Truly, they are on a main line, but there is a train running through North York that could be used with benefit to many more people.

Obituary

SAMUEL JOHN ARMSTRONG
Requiem Mass was sung on Monday morning at St. Patrick's Church, Schomberg, by Rev. F. McGoey, for the late Samuel John Armstrong, who died suddenly at his home, the 8th line, King on Friday, December 7. The deceased had recovered from a heart attack suffered a month previously, but had not returned to his work with the Department of Public Works, Toronto, where he had been employed since the end of World War I.

The late Mr. Armstrong was a well known and popular member of this community. He came as a young man to King City with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. George Armstrong, when they bought the King City Hotel, 42 years ago. He was their youngest child, born at Humber Bay 62 years ago. He enlisted with the 123rd Battalion and went overseas with the 19th Battalion from Toronto, during the Great War. He was wounded at Passchendaele, resulting in the loss of an arm. When he returned from overseas he made his home on the 8th line, King, where he lived until his death. He is survived by his widow, the former Jenny Hilliard, and two sons, Edward of Pottageville and George of Toronto. Frank Armstrong of King is a brother. Interment was made at St. Patrick's Cemetery, Schomberg.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Peter and their two sons, Brian, aged 8 years, and Grant aged 20 months, have come to live in King. They have purchased the Billings' house on the King sidersoad west. Mr. Peter is a printing pressman, and is employed in Toronto with Howarth and Smith, Monotypers. The Peter family have come to King from Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bayliss were in Toronto recently to attend the convention of the Beekeepers of Ontario which was held at the Royal York Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Burns and family and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis spent last Sunday in Toronto, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wells, at a turkey dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fraser are the first to decorate an outdoor Christmas tree so far this year. It looks very pretty in front of their house on the King sidersoad at the 3rd concession.

During the past week the centre part of the village has been brightened with 8 new street lamps. By the end of the year the H.E.P.C. will have finished installing new lighting to the village limits.

Because of complaints by neighbors about the basements or water holes that were dug and apparently abandoned, letters were sent to the owners to make some protection about their properties. Mr. Sherratt of Toronto, who owns one of the basements has put up a temporary chicken wire fence about his property. He is the only one who has responded so far.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey 'Doc' Gordon have moved into their new home east of their former location on the King sidersoad.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis of Toronto visited Mrs. Frank Armstrong this past week end. Mrs. Lewis leaves shortly for Florida where she will spend the winter.

White Gift Sunday it will be White Gift Day in the three United churches on Sunday. Rev. M. R. Jenkinson is preaching a series of sermons as a prelude to Christmas at his churches this month. His sermons are on the Wonder, the Love and the Praise of Christmas.

Fellowship Group
Pancakes and maple syrup were made and served by the men of Teston church, when the Fellowship Group, under Miss Joan Pelletier's convener, held a Christmas Fair on the evening of December 5. The pancakes were delicious and the chefs looked smart in their chef's hats and white aprons. The church rooms and the booths were decorated with Christmas boughs, and a prize was given for the most attractive booth. The home baking table, trimmed with silver foil won the prize. The dolls' clothes booth was popular and the parcel party was sold out early in the evening. The group will realize about $150.00 from the sale.

Sunday School
Christmas treats and parties for the Sunday Schools will begin on Thursday night, when the Sunday School of King City United Church will start the Christmas season. They will hold a party at McDonald and Wells Hall, and Santa Claus has promised to be present. On Wednesday, December 19, the children and parents of Laskay will hold a Christmas supper. Thursday night, the Teston S. S. will also hold a supper. During the week between Christmas and New Year's the children of All Saints Sunday School will be entertained.

New Books
The Memorial Library of King City has received a donation of used books for children from Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Gordon. The books are in very fine condition, and are gladly welcomed. A cash donation was received recently from Mr. Frank Fogg. The library management is grateful to Douglas Wellesley for moving the little building and to the King City Motors for the help they gave in crafts on display. They included Mrs. J. Baxter, Mrs. R. Case, Mrs. G. Beatty, Mrs. J. L. Grew, Mrs. W. H. Denton, Mrs. E. Rolph, Mrs. H. Bryan, Mrs. E. Fraser, Mrs. R. Benson, Mrs. E. B. Phair, Mrs. E. B. Johnston, Miss Evelyn Courtney, Mrs. G. Wells, Mrs. J. A. Gilham, Mrs. L. Jewitt, Mrs. Pringle, Mrs. Ascott and Mrs. A. E. Jarvis.

Guest Preacher
Rev. T. W. Barnett, rector of St. Clements Anglican Church, of Toronto, who preached at All Saints Anglican Church on Sunday morning, told the congregation that he had preached in their church once before. He told them that the date was 1924, and at that time the lay reader was Dr. Pinkerton who now lives in England. Mr. Barnett remarked on the improvements that had been made to the church decorations since he was here before.

Contest
King Cold, the King City Cold Storage has held a contest the past two months, when the winners have been chosen by drawing a ballot from a box which contains all ballots collected each month. The prize for October was won by Mrs. E. D. Lockhart, and an electric toaster was the prize. The November prize an electric heating pad was won by Miss May Judge. The December prize will be an electric tea kettle. There is a special grand prize of a table radio, which will be won from the ballots cast during the three months of the contest. The drawing takes place on December 31.
