There will be another Daily Vacation School this summer and a meeting to organize will be held on Thursday, May 22, at 8.30 p.m. at Bethel Baptist Church. Rev. D. C. Wotherspoon will be there to answer questions, and to interview persons interested in helping with the vacation school. Last year 11 voluntary workers found the children, who numbered 108 altogether, responsive to the program, which was prepared by the National committee of Christian Education.
Last year, during the two weeks of July that the Vacation School was in progress, the religious education centred around the meaning and the significance of the church. This year, the program is to teach the Bible and how to use it. The 1951 missionary project aimed at an understanding of the blind. This year the project will aim at an understanding of the need of the scriptures to be written in every language.
Robertson Lodge Ladies Auxiliary have held euches regularly all winter when four members were hostesses at each party. On May 2, the final game of the season was held. Scores were tallied for all the games and special prizes were provided to the lady and gentleman who won the highest score. The lady's prize was won by Mrs. Fred Boys, Fred Hare was winner of the gentleman's special prize.

The King City Wrestling Club have been invited to be part of the sporting show that is being sponsored in Richmond Hill on May 24. Bob McLeod, coach of the wrestling club and the boys are excited about their first engagement outside their village. The fellows who will take part are Donald Gordon, John Risbrough, Ron Fox, Gary Galloway, Richard Chapman, Roddy Bell and Glen Judd.

A 'Daffodil Tea' that turned into a 'yellow Snapdragon tea' was held on Thursday afternoon, under the auspices of the WMS of King City United Church. The clothing had been made and collected for the missionary outposts during the year, was on display, and the roll call was answered by each member giving the name of an outpost where these, and other gifts, had been sent.
The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Houston of Victoria Square, who was a nurse at Nelson House in Northern Manitoba, when her husband was a missionary of the United Church there. Musical numbers by Mrs. Gordon Orr, Mrs. Jack Cliff and Mrs. Ewart Patton was enjoyed. The pretty tea table was centred by yellow snapdragons and yellow candles, and was presided over by Mrs. M. R. Jenkinson. Mrs. P. J. Lambert of Maple, who is vice president of the district Presbyterial, was present. Miss Minnie Walker brought several friends from Richmond Hill and several visitors from Toronto, were present.

Miss Edna Jacques of Clarkson, well known poet and story teller, was the speaker at a real country style tea, when over 85 people came to hear her recite her poems and stories, recently, at Teston United Church.
The tea was arranged by the flower committee of the W.A., who are Miss Florence Gooderham, Mrs. Elmer Hadwin and Mrs. Henry Stevenson. A silver collection of about $45.00 was taken, in aid of the flower committee's work. Others who contributed to the program were Mrs. Charles Robson, who sang, Barbara Coutts, Jean Williamson and Betty O'Brien, who played piano trios. The Misses Jones and Marilyn Lloyd of Hope also played piano trios. The Sunday School room was decorated with spring flowers and the tea tables had small bouquets placed on each. A wonderful tea was served which will probably inspire Miss Jacques to write a poem.

On May 13, Mr. R. Young who is the Assistant Director of Physical Education gave a very interesting demonstration of physical training suitable for rural schools, using 20 children from Concord school as part of Vaughan Teachers Association monthly meeting.

On the afternoon of May 23, the senior and junior rooms of Concord School will combine to put on a presentation in honor of Empire Day. All parents are invited to attend.

On June 18, the Vaughan Teachers Association is holding a Field Day open to the schools in the township at Don Eddy Park.

"Elmer" is still flying over Concord school and "keeping an eye" on the children as they walk to and from school.
This month the children of Concord School were privileged to see during their monthly showing "Newfoundland Scene," a film which last month won an award as one of the best Canadian films produced this year.

Mrs. Alice Aitken returned to her home in Pasqua, Sask., last week after spending the winter with her sister, Mrs. John Bone.

History Of The Buttonville Women's Institute
By Mrs. Geo. Kelly

This is the first of two articles on the History of the Buttonville Women's Institute as compiled by Mrs. George Kelly on the occasion of that organization's 25th anniversary.
Twenty-five years ago, April 21, 1927, a tiny seed was planted. It was springtime, growing time, so the seed took root. It grew into a branch, a branch of the East York Women's Institute, and was called the Buttonville Junior Women's Institute. The little branch was sponsored and encouraged to grow by Mrs. R. L. Stiver and the district president, Mrs. Graves. Chosen as the first president was Mrs. Douglas Hood and Viola Walker became the first secretary. The first meeting was held at Mrs. Wm. Brown's and Mrs. R. L. Stiver was the speaker. Her subject was "Happiness by Duty". She said happiness is a habit which anyone may acquire by perseverance. There were 29 members that first year, five of whom have been members each of the 25 years. For long and faithful service we are greatly indebted to Mrs. Jas. Rodick, our secretary. There is no one like her. She is just Janet. She and Drew Boyington who was president for the longest time were each presented with life memberships.

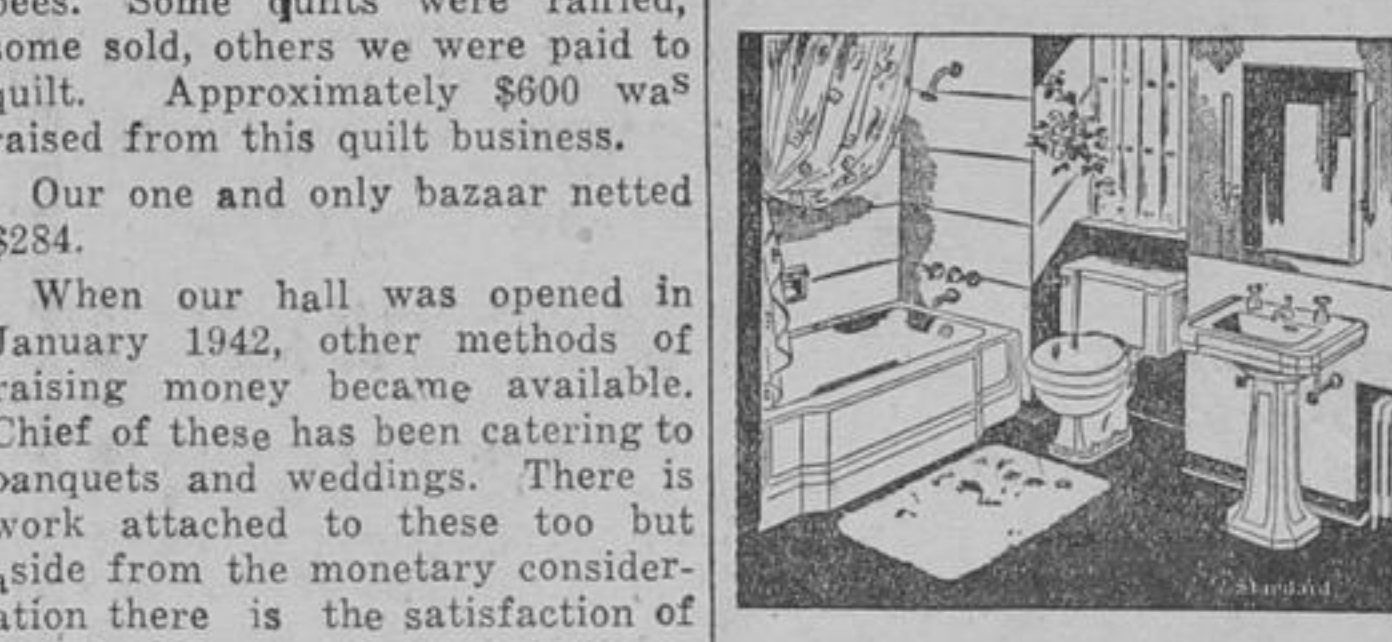

The highest membership was in 1932-33 when there were sixty on the roll. Today there are 34. In May 1934 we became a Senior Institute. Little did anyone think that a few years later the W. I. would be able to celebrate its 25th anniversary in a community hall, erected by their own efforts, aided by free labour of men of the community.
Let us look back over the years and see how this was accomplished. A great deal of money had to be raised, and this meant work, courage and perseverance, but little by little the money accumulated. In the early years an annual and strawberry Festival was held. Twelve of these garden parties yielded $982. The menu consisted of cold ham, potato salad, cabbage salad, pickles, jellies, strawberries and cream, bread and butter, cake, tarts and tea. After supper a concert, usually consisting of a play and musical numbers was held. Several hundreds attended each year. How much did our institute charge? Just 35c adults and 20c for children for supper and concert. That was not so very long ago, but the food prices were very different than they are today. In 1940 strawberries cost 10c a qt., the ham was purchased at Stouffville for 18c-20c a lb., coffee was 50c lb., sugar 7c a lb. and bread 10c a loaf.
Euches and dances were held in Victoria Square and Unionville halls. These provided good entertainment and slowly added $1700 to our savings.
An autograph quilt realized over $100. Mrs. Hill was an expert at keeping us busy with quilting bees. Some quilts were raffled, some sold, others were paid to quilt. Approximately $600 was raised from this quilt business.
Our one and only bazaar netted $284.
When our hall was opened in January 1942, other methods of raising money became available. Chief of these has been catering to banquets and weddings. There is work attached to these too but aside from the monetary consideration there is the satisfaction of knowing that we are rendering a real service to such organizations as the Milk Producers, the Markham Fair Board, local hockey clubs and other groups where such a gathering is desirable and beneficial. These have netted $3727.
We also tested our ability at presenting plays. Our first play
