NEW C.N.R. LINE WILL SERVE KITIMAT

The Canadian National Railways, already the largest on the continent, is adding to its mileage. Parliament has passed a Bill authorizing the Company to build a new line from Terrace — east of Prince Rupert — to Kitimat where the Aluminum Company of Canada is building a huge water power and aluminum manufacturing industry.

To go from the Skeena River down to the sea at Kitimat, the new line will traverse some of the most rugged mountain country in British Columbia, and it is estimated that 2,300,000 cubic yards of material (enough to make a pile almost twice as big as New York's Empire State building) will have to be moved to provide for the right-of-way.

The first engineering problem to be encountered will be the crossing of the Skeena River near Terrace and, for this purpose, the Canadian National will have to build an eight-span bridge, 1,013 feet long. Four smaller bridges will have to be erected to cross the Lakelse, Wedene, Little Wedene and Coldwater Rivers, which will be met along the 43-mile route.

Assuming that there will be no delays in the delivery of essential building materials, it is hoped that the new C.N.R. line will be ready for operation about the end of 1954.

The sketch map shows the route that the new line will take from Terrace to Kitimat; and the insert charts the general area, including the famous C.N.R. triangle tour route from Vancouver to Jasper, to Prince Rupert and back to Vancouver.

Laxar, A New Organic Soil Conditioner Now Available

Laxar, a new organic soil conditioner, changes hard-packing clay and silt soils into easy-to-work loamy soil — usually within twenty-four hours.

One application properly applied to "problem" soils will quickly turn the heavy sticky mass into loose crumbly particles or aggregates which are water stable and which maintain the porous texture of the soil indefinitely.

Laxar is a high polymer, high viscosity acrylic resin that is formulated to a free-flowing powder containing 40% of the active ingredient. Tests have shown that the high viscosity material is more efficient in aggregating the soil particles and that the 40% material will permit even distribution of the active acrylic resin at the proper treatment rates without further mixing or dilution.

Laxar will also stabilize soils on banks, playing fields, tennis courts, baseball diamonds, and other exposed soil areas. Laxar treated soil may be worked or played on within minutes after a rain or heavy watering.

Laxar takes the place in the soil of natural organic gums which are formed by the decomposition of manure and other organic forms of humus. Properly applied to clay or silt soils, Laxar binds together the microscopically small soil particles to form granules or clusters ranging in size from pinheads to peas. This forms a very water-stable soil structure that absorbs and retains water far better than untreated soils. Since Laxar is exceptionally resistant to soil bacteria, its action in holding the soil in a stabilized form is indefinite, although heavy mechanical pressure and prolonged cultivation will tend to break the aggregate down.

Laxar has been rated from 100 to 1,000 times more effective than commonly used organic materials in its improvement of soil structures. Although Laxar will quickly and effectively stabilize soil particles, the whole soil mass must be mechanically worked into the desired state of tilth to incorporate the water and air spaces required by the plant roots. The soil will then retain its porosity.

40 YEARS AGO
JULY 4, 1912
Letter to Editor Column:

Dear Sir:

In your issue of last week you stated that so far Wednesday afternoon closing did not appear to be a howling success, but with a number it seems to work quite satisfactorily. About four weeks ago this Wednesday afternoon closing was talked over with most of the business people and a number of others, and they all agreed that they thought it would be a fine thing.

An agreement was drawn up and with a little effort on the part of a few it was signed by nearly every business house in the village. Nearly all got out cards with the expectation of closing. About five or six closed up tight, three or four others, or locked up for a couple of hours, and two others have never made the slightest attempt to keep their cards up. I feel satisfied that with a fair trial it would prove as successful as the Monday and Wednesday evening closing, and it gives the business person a great deal more of an opportunity to get out and have some pleasure or to do some very necessary work which they cannot do if they just have the evenings. And I am sure with a number of others intend to close during July and August at 1 o'clock on Wednesdays.

I wish to thank my many customers for their patronage during the past, and wish for a continuance of the same, and ask them to remember Wednesday afternoon.

I also wish to thank you, Mr. Editor, for so much space in your valuable paper.

I am
Yours sincerely,
Norman J. Glass
