Weddings

An evening wedding was solemnized in Chalmers United Church Mount Dennis, recently, when Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Iomer Elliott of Weston, became the bride of John Reeve of Barrie. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Eagle. Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a white nylon marcellette gown made over taffeta, with Process waistline and ankle length flowing skirt. Her shoulder veil fell from a lace cap, and she carried white gardenias and lilies-of-the-valley. The bridesmaid was Miss Joyce Holder, who wore pale blue marcellette over taffeta, and carried yellow roses and baby's breath. The best man was James Newally of Barrie and the usher was the bride's brother, Denton Elliott also of Barrie. Like the groom, the best man and usher wore white flannel jackets and navy blue trousers. At the reception which was held at The Old Mill, Toronto, the bride's mother chose a gown of old rose crepe, trimmed with nylon lace, with navy blue accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother wore powder blue crepe with nylon lace trimming and pink accessories, with a corsage of bronze roses. The honeymoon was a motor trip to New York, the bride travelling in a tangerine coloured suit with brown hat, shoes and bag, and a corsage of bronze mums. Upon their return the young couple will live in Barrie. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Elliott and family lived at King Ridge Farm until 15 years ago. While there the bride attended Sacred Heart School at Mount St. Francis. Bales-Magee Sacred Heart Church was beautifully decorated with sweet peas and gladioli on Saturday morning recently, for the wedding of Clara Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Magee and Allen Francis Bales, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Bales of King. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Francis McGoe, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Hammersmith of Thornhill. During the service the bride's cousin, James Magee, sang "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother," "Ave Maria," and "Pon-us Angelicus." Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Eleanor Thomson, as matron of honour, Miss Betty Lewis of Thornhill as bridesmaid and by her little niece, Patricia Wood, as flower girl. The best man was Francis Thomson and the usher was William Magee. The bride was lovely in very full nylon net over white satin. The bolero jacket was made of lace with long pointed sleeves and tiny waist. The bouffant skirt was floor length, and a pearl tiara held the finger length veil. She carried red roses, with cascades of tiny white swansonia and fern tied in long white ribbons. She wore the groom's gift, a sapphire cross. The matron of honour was dressed in aqua organdy with puff sleeved bolero jacket. Her headdress was made of aqua sequins with white blossoms and her bouquet was of peach coloured roses. The bridesmaid chose deep lavender nylon tulle over organdy with headdress of deeper shade and white blossoms. She carried yellow roses. The little flower girl wore a pink nylon net dress over pink sequin with matching head-dress and her old-fashioned frilled nosegay was made of carnations, roses and baby's breath. A wedding breakfast was served at the Sacred Heart auditorium which was decorated for the occasion with many flowers. The bride's mother received, wearing a pink crepe frock with lace inserts in the yoke and sleeves and with a back panel of lace. She wore a white hat with shoes and gloves to match. The groom's mother wore navy sheer, trimmed with white, and her hat and accessories were white. For travelling the bride wore a pink gabardine suit, with large white picture hat, white shoes and bag and a corsage of pink and white carnations. The young couple on their return will make a temporary home with the bride's parents, until the groom is posted to a Provincial Police station. On their wedding day a telegram was received from the relatives of the bride's mother who live in Ireland extending the good wishes of her aunts and uncles.

The August meeting of Vellore Senior Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. E. Witherpoon. The topic was Music, the motto, "Sing ye ripening fields of wheat" and the roll call was answered by naming a favourite song. Mrs. H. Farr and Miss Annie Kerr sang a duet "Whispering Hope". Mrs. Wilson read the poem on the motto by Jean Blewett. This was followed by two piano duets by Mrs. Witherpoon and Mrs. Wilson. "In the Arena" and "Good Night". Mrs. L. Dooks read a paper on the life of Stephen Foster, after which Mrs. Farr and Miss A. Kerr sang two of his songs, "Nelly Bly" and "Old Black Joe". Community singing then featured more of Stephen Foster's melodies and other songs. Miss Agnes Bryson conducted a musical contest. It was a most interesting meeting and enjoyed by all present. The September meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. Burbridge on the second Tuesday in the month instead of first Tuesday. It was decided to have a shower at that meeting for the "Touch and Take" bazaar table. Bring a wrapped parcel and put price on it. The last Tuesday in September was suggested as possible date for the organized tour in Toronto - more details at a later date.
