Now that the children are all back at school again, safety not only to and from school but after school hours cannot be stressed too strongly. Elmer the Safety Elephant should be a daily reminder to all the children to obey all the Rules of Safety. In connection with this Mr. Martin, Principal of the Thornhill School distributed pamphlets to the children explaining all about "Elmer". Another very important booklet was also given to the children entitled "You and Your Bike". With so many of our youngsters riding bicycles, this booklet showing the rules of the road and many ways in which bicycles can be repaired should be very well received.
