Youth 17, Killed In Unionville Crash

Thomas Palmer, 17, of Georgetown was killed and three other youths were injured at midnight last Friday, when their car crashed into the rear of a stalled truck half a mile east of Unionville. The truck was driven through guard rails and over a 50-foot embankment, police said. The top of the car was peeled back and the engine jammed into the front seat.

The death car had a metal plate on the back with "Don't Speed" inscribed under a skull and crossbones.

Palmer died of head and internal injuries minutes after arrival at Toronto General hospital. In fair condition with undetermined injuries was the driver, Ron Breen, 16, and Paul Barber, 17. Bob Hill, fourth occupant in the car, was shaken up. The youths are all from Georgetown.

The truck driver, Lloyd Bartholomew, 23, of Guthrie, received cuts and bruises. His helper, who was putting out flares, was unhurt.

P.C. Bill Shearn, of Markham, Twp. Police, said after the west-bound truck stalled, one flare was set out and a second was being taken out when the truck was struck on the left corner, driving it 50 feet down the road before it jumped through the rails.
