York County Clerk

Miss Meyrick Retires After 23 Years Service
Twenty-three years of service to York County will end shortly for York County Clerk Miss Hilma M. Meyrick. At 48 years of age Miss Meyrick has resigned from her position with the County. While declining comment on any new position elsewhere, current metropolitan rumors predict she will soon become clerk-treasurer of the Toronto and York Roads Commission.
A victim of polio at the age of two, this dynamic and youthful woman who for years was the only woman to attend county council meetings, made municipal work her life hobby. "It's no chore," she pointed out, "and I love every minute of it."
Miss Meyrick would have to love her work to put in the hours she so often must. It is not unusual for her to work through to midnight on county affairs either in her office or her home. This is especially so during and immediately after each tri-annual session of the council.
Actually Miss Meyrick got into county affairs quite by accident. Asked to fill in at the Children's Aid Society for two weeks while a stenographer was on vacation she stayed four months. A few months later she was asked to work for the summer in the County Clerk's department. But instead of decreasing, the work increased and 23 years ago Miss Meyrick was taken on permanently as a junior stenographer in that office. In 1937 she was appointed deputy-clerk and in 1944 became York County Clerk.
