Hammering Out New Skills

Each ring of the mallet on the copper means greater skill for this student at a remarkable school at Rio de Janeiro. The school, operated jointly by the Brazilian government and the International Labor Organization, trains skilled workers for the expanding industries of Latin America. The student shown here was one of 99 from 18 Latin American countries, who left his job for a nine-month training course.

Markham Twp.
Ratepayers Claim That Swill By-law Is Not Being Enforced

Alleged failure by Markham township council to execute its recent by-law designed to prohibit the transporting of swill into the township has come under "fire" by a large delegation of ratepayers from the Eastern part of the township.

In response to questions as to why the by-law has not been enforced Reeve W. Timbers replied that the police are reluctant to act if the by-law is put on an individual basis.

Those complaining have only objected to the methods of one specific hog raiser, who is located on lot 2, concession 7. Turning to the Reeve, Deputy-Reeve A. LeMasurier queried, "As Chief Magistrate for this municipality haven't you the authority to force the police to act?"

Claiming that the whole issue is "rife" with "politics", Mr. E. Fairly then wondered "if the Chairman of the Police Committee couldn't order the police to act." Police Committee Chairman LeMasurier stated, "As Chairman of the Police Committee I can only act on a resolution of council."

Councillor C. Hooper maintained that the whole matter was a problem for the Police Committee. Deputy-Reeve LeMasurier—"Well then let Council pass an authorizing resolution and we'll soon have the police act."

As the by-law under discussion was duly passed in the accepted

Young Mother Killed In Two Car Crash

Mrs. Al Teengs, 24, mother of three small children, of R. R. 1 Gormley, was killed early last Friday when her husband's car collided broadside with another car at Don Mills Rd. and Steele's Ave., North York.

She died in Toronto East General hospital two hours after admittance. Her husband and Wilfred F. Gillings, 21, of Mill St., Richmond Hill, driver of the other car, were taken to Toronto East General hospital with minor injuries. They were admitted for observation.

North York police said the Gillings car was northbound on Don Mills Rd. while the Teengs' car was eastbound on Steele's Ave. The cars collided in the centre of the intersection and were welded together.

Police said the injured lay on the roadway for 25 minutes before an ambulance arrived. All were trapped in the cars and pulled free by passing motorists who gave first aid and wrapped the injured in blankets until the ambulance arrived.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Teengs is survived by two daughters, Audrey, five and Linda, two, and a son, Jackie nine months.

Home-School Work Shop Gives New Ideas For Local Ass'ns

Over 160 attended the York-Simcoe Home and School Leadership Training Workshop held in the Prince Charles Public School in Newmarket on Thursday evening, October 1.

Following registration conferences were held for officers, programme planning, educational conveners and parent education.

President Mrs. H. E. LeMasurier opened the meeting and J. L. R. Bell, Chairman of the Board of Education, extended a welcome to the Home and School. H. A. Jackson, supervising principal added his welcome.

National House
The President introduced H. E. LeMasurier, publisher of the York-Simcoe Home and School "Bulletin", who told his audience of the plans that are going forward for the establishment of a permanent National House for Home and School and Parent-Teacher Associations in Canada. The monetary objective for Ontario is $25,000.00 and Toronto has received the honour of being chosen for the location.

Panel Discussion
Following the showing of the film-strip "Mrs. Wright's Home and School", a panel consisting of Trustee Sinclair Burgis of Unionville, representing the taxpayer who sends his children to school, Teacher Mrs. O. Jacques of Holland Landing representing the teacher who leads the children along the paths of learning, Principal John Martin of Thornhill, representing the executive heads of schools, Inspector Maynard Hallman representing the Department of Education which lays down the program, and Chairman Mrs. P. A. McClelland, representing the Federation of Home and School Associations which are the connecting link between parents and teachers, led a discussion and question period on the place and merit of Home and School Associations.

Points brought out were to the effect that Home and School Associations have a special job in giving the teacher and parent an opportunity to become acquainted in a friendly atmosphere. Home and School Associations are no fund-raising organizations but are primarily to foster the knowledge of the educational need of children among parents, it was pointed out. If there was a desire among the members to get things for the school, a co-operative effort to purchase should be made in conference with the School Board, the Principal and the Teachers.

Methods of interesting teachers and parents and supplying the needs of each were advocated and it was shown that a knowledge of these requirements was needed by those planning the programs.

The conference on Program Planning, Mrs. Arthur Toogood, vice-president, and Mrs. R. Kennedy, outlined procedures and amenities used in good programs, and emphasized the importance of their role in introducing Home and School to the community.

Programs made to fit the framework of the community and fill its needs should be carefully planned. Continuity for the year's work around a central theme was suggested. It was felt that programs should always have in the background the aims of Home and School and that those making the plans should be sure that each program contributed something toward that objective.

Duties of conveners and new ideas for interlocking the work of several in a single program were clarified and discussed in
