A little girl can dream, can't she? This beaver pelt, taken at Lake Panache in the Sudbury district, may one day adorn Milady. Trapping is still big business in Ontario which led all provinces last year in Canada's $14,000,000 wild fur production. Through experimental trapline studies, Lands & Forests Minister Hon. Welland S. Gemmell aims at more adequate utilization of the province's fur resources.

Sunshine Sunday School Rally Day
 The singing Kohler Sisters, along with their little sister and parents will be at Oak Ridges School Sunday, November 1 at 10.45 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

Music and children are the world's language, and when they are brought together in one melodious harmony, they are its sweetest spokesmen. The three children harmonize in three different voices with Barbara, 5, carrying the melody; Shirley Anne, 10, carrying the alto; and Jeanette, 7, carrying the tenor, an octave higher.

Baby sister, Rebecca Elaine, 2, gives promise of making a quartette in the near future. She already sings along with the girls on several songs. Shirley Anne was just two years old when she first broadcast over the radio in Grand Rapids, Michigan, where the family resided at that time.

The three girls have sung in many large meetings with audiences of 3,500 and more. One of the most receptive audiences to the girls' and family's singing was at the Ohio State Penitentiary and the London Prison Farm.

The Kohler family resides near Ashland, Ohio.

A program of fine gospel music and words are in store for all who attend.
