Over 70 Enjoy Home & Sch. Banquet For Powell Rd. Grads.

On Friday, November 6th, the Powell Road Home and School gave a banquet in honour of the graduates of the 52-53 term who have successfully gone on to high school. Over seventy persons sat down to a delicious supper, and enjoyed the evening. Mrs. G. McCallum, convener and her assistants deserve a hearty vote of thanks for the beautiful decorated tables in school colours and the plentiful table provided. Thanks also goes to all who donated to the occasion. The program opened with The Queen, and a welcome by Mr. W. Sanders, chairman. Grace was said by Rev. C. H. Chambers, of Thornhill Presbyterian Church. After dinner, Mr. W. Biggs, proposed the toast to the Queen, in the absence of Mr. R. Fisher, past president who was ill, Mr. Hallman, inspector of the school area, gave the graduates a word of congratulations and expressed the hope that they would continue their education. Mr. G. Learn, principal, proposed the toast to the Graduates and Miss Hazel Legault responded. The guest speaker, Rev. Chambers, spoke to the students and gave them the message to push forward to better goals in life and always to strive to live to the final reward of being ready for the farther beyond. Mrs. J. Hill, thanked the speaker, for his encouraging message.

Mr. S. Griffiths of the school board added his congratulations and left the thought with the boys and girls that they could someday have an "Old Boys and Girls Association" for Powell Road. Mrs. E. Baxter then presented the grads with their pins and gave them the lovely booklets prepared for the occasion. Mr. Learn also gave each one a year book on the school area. Those receiving their pins were: Edward Banas, Bruce Barker, Robert Biggs, Gail Bowers, Sharon Burgess, George Cameron, Patricia Collins, Sandra Gibson, Terrance Higgs, Hazel Legault, Elizabeth Lilleyman, James McKinley, Helen Medcalf, Paul Medcalf, Ronald Medcalf, Roy Metcalfe, Donald Nicholson, Marilyn Wood, Helen Ostroski, Robert Parke, Allan Podorodeski, Donald Raeburn, Rauni Rasanen, Sandra Slighte, Shirley Smith and Marilyn Taylor. Following the presentation the photographer took several pictures, one of which will appear in this paper and Mr. I. J. Slighte gave a vote of thanks to the ladies for the evening. This event is going to be an annual one for Powell Road, we are sure, with the wonderful support and favour it is receiving. The entire teaching staff and Mrs. Morris of Home and School Council were also guests at the banquet.

Invite Friends For Chowder Supper

A CHOWDER supper can be a special treat. Filled with warmth and goodness, a steaming tureen seems a symbol of hospitality. A welcome to your family and friends. Everyone gathers gladly around the dining table. Or they pick up their own chowder bowls from the buffet, then settle comfortably around the living room to feast and chat. Grand makings for the chowder come right from your kitchen shelf. Creamy rich condensed mushroom soup or chicken soup as the base. Golden kernels of corn. Cubes of rosy ham or some leftover turkey to round out the chowder. How's that for a bowlful of goodness to savor with relishes (cranberry sauce and celery) and hot buttery cornbread! Wedges of pumpkin pie appear as dessert.

Mushroom Chowder
 1 cup cooked ham, finely diced
 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
 1 can (1 1/4 cup) condensed cream of mushroom or chicken soup
 1 soup can milk
 1 can (2 cups) cream style corn
 Brown ham in butter; add onion; cover and cook until limp. Blend in soup and milk; add corn. Heat but do not boil. Serve garnished with chopped green parsley.
Turkey Chowder: Cooked turkey

may be used in the chowder instead of ham. Then add 1 cup turkey when adding corn. Use 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento for garnish instead of parsley.

SOUP SCOOPS
Steakburger With Gravy Graces Platter: Shape a tender steakburger from the plentiful ground beef now on the market; and you have something to grace your most handsome platter. Use a can of good beef gravy to put extra richness into the burger. First mix 1/2 cup gravy with 1 pound ground beef, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs, salt and pepper. Form mixture into one large burger, about 1 1/2 inch thick. Broil until done and well browned. Also broil pineapple slices with the meat. Arrange burger on platter, pineapple around it. Spoon red currant jelly into center of each pineapple slice. Carry it forth to serve 4.
Bake Beans 'n' Sausage: Tempting oven dinner on a cold night is a juicy casserole of beans and pork topped with browned sausage. First brown 6 to 8 sausages in skillet; brown 2 slices of pineapple also. Meanwhile pour 2 cans of beans and pork into a casserole; place sausage and pineapple on top. Slide casserole into oven to bake at 350°F. about 30 minutes or until sausage is done.

OOPS! Take it easy, young lady... but polythene, one of chemistry's modern, lightweight plastics, is the secret of her "weight-lifting" act. She's holding a 9 3/4 pound polythene carboy used for storage and transport of chemicals. More familiar uses of versatile polythene are in flexible, handy "squeeze" bottles, and protective film bags for fruit and vegetables.

"WINDOW-CLEANING'S A WHIZ," says this pretty young housewife. She finds that a C-I-L Cellulose Sponge saves her a lot of work — no constant dipping in the water pail because these sponges are ultra-absorbent; the flat surfaces cover large areas quickly and when squeezed dry they do double duty as a chamois. Available in smart colors — blue, green, coral, yellow and buff.

Want Ads Are Not New; They Are as Old as Recorded History.

Advertising has existed as far back as man used written symbols, and probably well before that. Back in early Babylon the merchants employed barkers to describe their wares to passers-by. The first written advertisements were want ads. They were announcements on papyrus offering rewards for the return of runaway slaves and bond servants. Lost articles were also sought through those early want ads.

In Greek mythology, when Psche ran away, Venus requested Mercury, "to proclaim her in public, and announce a reward to him who shall find her."

Both Greeks and Romans used the walls of their houses as places to scratch or paint inscriptions concerning their affairs. Many such inscriptions were found when Pompeii was excavated.

The oldest newspaper paragraph fitting the description of an advertisement appears to have been a "want ad" for a book on botany, printed in an early German newsbook in 1591.

Notices of arrivals and sailings of ships, with lists of cargoes, are found in most sixteenth-century English newspapers. The first paid advertisement in an American newspaper appeared in the second issue of the Boston Newsletter (May 1, 1704). It was about two anvils which had been lost, and read:

Lost on the 10. of April last off of Mr. Shiffen's Wharf in Boston. Two Iron Anvils, weighing between 120 and 140 pounds each: Whoever has taken them up, and will bring or give true Intelligence of them to John Campbell Postmaster, (also editor of the newspaper) shall have a sufficient reward.

At first advertising occupied a relatively minor place in American newspapers, but by the middle of the eighteenth century many printers were becoming prosperous from the publication of three, four, and five pages of miscellaneous advertisements.

Gradually, as the confusion among the jumble of advertisements grew, want ads concerning one class of commodity or service were grouped together to facilitate the reader's finding what he was looking for.

Credit for "classifying" the advertisements is given to Benjamin H. Day, who founded the New York Sun in 1833.

Wants ads have furnished one of the richest sources for historians seeking to learn about the everyday life of Americans. News stories in colonial newspapers often were colored according to the publisher's ideas, but want ads were honest and forthright, telling researchers about the needs and interests of our ancestors.
