Accidents
Twice in one week Oak Ridges was the scene of bad accidents. On Monday, November 9, Harold Carruthers, 14 years old, was seriously injured in front of the Log Cabin Restaurant. He was taken to the Toronto General Hospital.

TRANSITION: A little more than 50 years ago, the Canadian Pacific Railway introduced to Canadians their first internal combustion self-propelled rail car (INSET). This month (November) the CPR is placing in service four of the very latest in self-propelled cars — the Budd RDC's. Patterned along "Toonerville Trolley" lines, the old gasoline-powered, single truck rail car was 13 feet long and carried 14 passengers. Today's 90 ft. Budd car carries 89 persons and is air-conditioned. Old 502, the first of the breed in Canada, was also air-conditioned, but in a primitive sort of way — she had open sides. Unimpressive as the old car was, she can still lay claim to being the fore runner of the modern, stainless steel, streamlined rail diesel cars which today are providing service between Montreal and Mont Laurier, Toronto and Detroit and North Bay and Angliers. The original rail car, built in 1902, operated from Montreal's old Place Viger Station to Ste. Therese.
