

More Money For Ice

Well, the "Wrestling for Ice" show brought in approximately $225 last Thursday night when Red Garner, the Langstaff promoter, donated the entire proceeds of the evening to the ice drive. The Association was also fortunate in that the Ontario Hospital Tax branch waived their 121/2% tax and the Ontario Athletic Commission did likewise with their 2% tax which means more money for our artificial ice. Every cent counts. The Arena was used rent free for the evening thanks to our local Council. The usual charge is $40.

Enough about the finances, the show was very good as it featured district wrestlers who took a pounding on behalf of ice. One wrestler, after the match, showed me some painful looking mat burns and bruises and said that he thought he had given his donation for ice. His marks, scars and other deformities were his receipts.

Maybe I shouldn't make any comments but I don't think children should be allowed at wrestling matches. Last Thursday there were 45 sold admissions at 25c for kids which amounts to $11.25. Now this was a good night and $11.25 makes little difference in the overall total so to cut the kids out wouldn't hurt the profits. The kids are somewhat of a nuisance as they rush the ring and throw anything that isn't nailed down. Hero worship is evident and these kids think it's great for one wrestler to kick another's nose, throat and accessory organs. An adult has a better understanding of the tactics used but children I doubt it. In a recent meeting with Charlie Box, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Federation of Secondary School Associations, he told me that one of their biggest problems is the television wrestling shows. They take a very dim view of the training in "sportsmanship" that immature minds might pick up on viewing it.

I'm not condemning wrestling, its excellent entertainment for adults but watch out for the children; to them it contributes very little worthwhile.

Not Over Yet! NEWS ITEM: More than $80,000 has been raised by Highland Creek Lions Club in the last four years for the construction of a large recreation centre in Heron Park. This year the proceeds of their carnival held Saturday go towards the construction of an artificial ice

You see that it takes time to raise large sums of money for a public purpose.

The local Lions took about 10 weeks to raise only part of the money for the Community Hall. The Richmond Hill Arena Association has had members of all the Service Clubs canvassing for just four weeks so there is still hope and the campaign will be extended past its deadline. Therefore there will be NO MEETING this Monday to decide the Arena's fate as mentioned prevlously. The Kinsmen Club, which is a newly organized group in town is joining in the canvass as they feel they are now in a position to offer service to the Village.

If you haven't been canvassed, don't get discouraged. There are 2,000 homes to be canvassed in the district and it takes time. If you have invested and can invest a little more or even give a post-dated cheque for September, you will certainly be doing your part for the youth of the district. If you wish a canvasser to call and explain the entire set-up that will provide artificial ice for our Arena this winter don't hesitate to phone the following mem-

.. Marie Assn. Drains Cleaned & Repaired

The Sports Day and Carnival sponsored by the Lake Marie Richmond Hill TU. 4-1245 Athletic Association on July 1 in King City Memorial Park promises to be a day of fun for everyone. It will start off with a pipe band parade at 1.30. The program includes baseball tournaments, two hour concert by Vince Mountford wrestling bouts and a free dance. There will be a lucky draw on the admission tickets at 11.30 p.m. A polished floor surface has been laid in the Lake Marie pavilion making an excellent dance floor. The cost of the floor was $500.

Bowlers Tie For First Place

top honours. The two winning teams each bowled six games, each scoring a total of 1445 pins. Each team was awarded a prize of $25.00.

Sufrin Snakes

Rainbow Trout in the Pine River grow to be big fish and to do this they sometimes have to eat unusual food. Conservation Officer E. W. Smith of Orangeville reports that the plunge of a fully clothed youngster into the cold water recently, was rewarded with a 24" rainbow which he observed in a disabled condition. The cause of the trout's trouble was a long snake which it had attempted to swallow but could only get half-way down.

Pheasants Have Mechanical Problems

Having time is here again and the approach of the farmers mower poses a threat for parent pheasants and their young hidden in the long grass of the hayfields.

While many adult pheasants are able to escape, large numbers of birds undoubtedly fall victim to the cutting bar. Those not killed are often badly cut, and if not observed, left to die. While the mower usually passes over eggs in the nest, broods of young chicks and poults are also frequently destroyed.

This say Fish and Wildlife officials, is but one of the hazards with which pheasants must contend. Reports of first casualties for 1954, have just been receiv-
