THE HOOK SLIDE

The hook slide is to enable you to get into a base safely, even when the fielder has the ball before you get there, or if he gets it just as you go into the base. This slide is performed like this: First you decide to which side of the base you will slide. Naturally, you choose the one opposite to the side at which the fielder is taking the ball. For example, if the throw is from third to second base, you will slide to the outfield side of second base. If the throw is from centre field and the baseman is facing the outfield, you should slide to the infield side of the

When sliding to the outside of the base you slide with your right foot forward and wide of the base. Your left leg should be bent at the knee and your foot should be hooked so that you hook the base with your left instep. Your right foot should go well past and outside the base. Your body should be thrown outward away from the base.

When you slide you should land on your right hip. When sliding to the inside of the bag everything is just the opposite — left foot forward and so on.

Remember - you slide past the bag with your front foot, throwing your body well away from it and you hook the instep of your bent rear leg on the bag.

Before you use a hook slide in a game you should practice until you get it down pat.

HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR CRAWL

When moving your arm forward in the crawl don't reach too far — the hand should go into the water just before the arm is almost straightened.

Actually you should never completely straighten out | Mangotich off guard and dropped | your arm because a slightly bent arm can produce a lot him with a slam and top spread. more power than a straight arm.

You should also make sure that your hand enters the water before your elbow. If your elbow enters first your forearm will slap down into the water and thus you will be pushing water and slowing yourself down. AN AFTER-PRACTICE TREAT

For a dessert treat after a hard practice, and a wonderful way to replenish the energy and protein stores of your body try a honey sundae. All you have to do is fill a dish with ice cream and pour liberal amounts of honey over it.

This dessert is a favorite of the Sports College Track and Field Testing Group, so why don't you try it today.

Some of the greatest fun on TV comes from the give-away shows. Or maybe you think they're a pain in the neck.

Whichever way you lean, you must admit nothing has stirred up so much fuss on TV. Not so well known is the little bit of larceny that has grown up around these shows.

A favorite racket is worked by kindly-looking old ladies who write down the name of a winner and drop into the producer's office explaining they'd like to pick up their prize because they have to leave town.

A few weeks later the real win-ner shows up and, sure enough, the old lady has kept her word, she's left town.

But some of the larceny has been on the other side of the fence. A New York show that's now off the air awarded a woman her choice of jewellery, broilers, watches and similar loot. They ran out of prizes before she called, so the station gave her a certificate for free salami and bologna. Now she can't find any store that will honor the certificate.

TV is fun, and as the number of TV owners increases, naturally the range and variety of programs is being increased too. But TV can be a lot less than fun if you haven't a quality set in the first place, and if a dealer with prompt and experienced servicemen isn't handy to know your problems.

That's why the New Dumont with the clearest picture yet and Blackburn's Appliance, make such a wonderful combination.

MASSEY-HARRIS FIRST WITH FULL SCALE TEST TRACK FOR FARM EQUIPMENT

Wide-spread and fast has been the swing to modern mechanization. Urgent demands have been made upon implement engineers to develop new models to keep up with the needs of agriculture.

To get information on materials, designs and features in hours and days instead of the usual months and years, Massey-Harris designed and built the first full scale test track for tractors and modern power farm equipment.

On this test track the machines lug heavy loads, bump and shake, bounce and sway, jolt and jar, climb steep grades, and spin round and round. As they go through the test, electronic instruments write the inside story of stress and strains and complete records are kept of the day to day wear and tear.

These controlled supervised tests help Massey-Harris engineers design equipment that will offer more advantages in ease of operation, long life with low upkeep cost and greater ability in saving time and labour. For quality, satisfaction, and service with modern mechanization, equip with Massey-Harris.
