The strange appearance of the Masked Rider in Oak Ridges last Saturday is expected to take place again this Saturday. The Rider who passed out information about the Family Field Day was not able to cover all the district on the first trip. Many children were getting warm in guessing the identity so the Masked Rider thought it best to leave this part of the country for a while. Let's keep your eyes open again, kids, because I have information right from the horse that they will be back.

Wedding

POWELL-BAKER

Austin Huston officiated, and Mrs. S. J. English and Dorothy Hood were at the piano and organ. Soloist was Mrs. A. Haldenby of Holyrood, cousin of the groom, who sang "When Song is Sweet" and "Through the Years".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white rosepoint lace over aqua net and satin, worn over a crinoline, its fitted bodice and cathedral train were trimmed with seed pearls. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion fell from a halo headdress of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of shasta daisies, white geranias and button mums.

To receive the bride's mother wore beige shantung with brown lace trim and brown and beige accessories and pink corsage. Assisting was the groom's mother in beige lace with brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses.
