The ladies of Thornhill Baptist Mission Circle braved the elements on Wednesday last to attend the first meeting of the New Year. Miss G. Stevens presided and gave the devotional entitled "Rejoice Evermore." Mrs. J. Martin gave a very interesting newscast of the missionaries and after a solo by Mrs. Roblin, Mrs. C. Pady gave the third topic on India entitled "The Struggle for Men's Minds".

The Mission Circle accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Pady as treasurer, an office she has held for the past three years, and during the past session, Mrs. A. Kent was elected vice-president and Miss G. Stevens, who had been holding that office was elected treasurer. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Consider Separate School At Thornhill

In referring to reports that a Separate School will be built in Thornhill, Rev. S. P. Cirivello, parish priest, stated that the establishment of a Separate School was under consideration.

In a recent survey of a possible school population in the parish, it was estimated approximately 80 children would make use of the school, thus necessitating the building of a three or four room school.

A meeting of the Holy Name Society was held last night when, Rev. Cirivello stated, the matter would be discussed at this meeting.

I Beg Your Pardon
Understanding and learning depend to a large extent on the ability to hear correctly both what is said and the tone in which it is said.

As part of the Township School Health Service, the hearing of all pupils in Grades V and VII is tested each year by means of a machine called an audiometer. This testing is at present in progress, and the parent will be notified when it appears that a child has defective hearing.

We urge you to consult your Family Doctor if your child is suspected of having defective hearing.

War Against Disease

Some measure of man's success in his battle against disease can be gleaned from this oft-told medical joke:

Doctor: "I can't do anything for your cold, but in case it develops into pneumonia, I can cure you."

The common cold is still a medical mystery. Pneumonia, just a generation ago a deadly killer in Canada, is now well down on the lists of causes of death.

In those figures is a dramatic story — a story of a decade of breath-taking successes in the fight against disease and death. A host of other infectious diseases — scarlet fever, whooping cough, mastoiditis and diphtheria, to name only a few — have bowed before the combined skill of the physician and the research chemist.

From the laboratories of universities and pharmaceutical firms have come a steady succession of allies in the war against death and disease. Best known, of course, is the British-discovered penicillin — first of the antibiotic drugs. Then there are the sulfas, the hormones and the vitamins.

One of the outstanding sources of new drugs has been The Upjohn Company, one of the world's leading pharmaceutical houses. Just recently, The Upjohn Company of Canada placed in operation at Toronto a modern new laboratory and plant.

Commenting on the opening of this new plant, Donald S. Gilmore, chairman of the board and managing director of The Upjohn Company, said Canada's medical care and research programs are expanding at an unprecedented rate.

Although Canadian health care and research are now among the best in the world, he added, they are still improving.
