BALANCED DIET

Humans of all ages require a balanced diet to keep them in normal health and to maintain their body structure and functions. From the baby's carefully calculated formula to the protein-mineral-and-vitamin needs of adult and aged, the food we eat must supply the nutrients necessary to good health. Too much of one kind of food and not sufficient of another may cause malnutrition. Therefore, it is wise to keep to a balanced diet as suggested in Canada's Food Rules. Copies of these Rules are available free of charge from your local or provincial health department.
