About 50 boys and their leaders had a wonderful time last Saturday afternoon at Lands and Forest station at Maple. They saw the most up to date radio station, and learned about the control of forest fires, beavers, lynx and wolves from the deep-freeze unit, which are kept for investigating the control of parasites. They learned about hunting and trapping licenses, laboratory experiments on fish, the effects of feeding and water temperatures regarding the fish and also the care and growth of seedlings and the experiments carried on to improve and further our beautiful forests. After about four hours of great interest and much walking, the 10-car cavalcade returned the tired and happy boys to their homes.

The canvassers for all Scout and Cub activities will be calling on the parents soon and they do hope that they can make their objective to carry on this wonderful work for the boys.
