Nature Notes

By Richmond Hill Naturalists Thirty-five members and friends of the Richmond Hill Naturalists met May 15 at 7:30 a.m. at the Southern Research Station, Department of Lands and Forests, Maple, Mr. R. Tilt was the leader and Mr. O. Devitt gave invaluable assistance. Many wild flowers and plants were identified and 71 different species of birds were seen or heard during the trip.

Among those were Common Loon, Ruffed Grouse, Eastern Kingbird, Eastern Wood Pewee, Parula Warbler, Black-burnian Warbler, Chestnut-sided Warbler, Bay-breasted Warbler, Connecticut Warbler, American Redstart and Rose-breasted Grosbeak.

The Gunns, from Oak Ridges, saw and identified a Blue Grosbeak on May 22, in the Purpleville Woods. This is a notable record for this area. Dr. Lillian Langstaff saw a Yellow-throated Vireo on May 16 and a Tennessee Warbler, a Wilson Warbler and a Canada Warbler, all on May 20.

The next field trip of the Richmond Hill Naturalists will be on Sunday, May 29. The meeting place is Wright and Yonge Sts., at 2 p.m. It will be a trip by car to various local spots. (Held over from last week) On Saturday, May 7, a group from the Richmond Hill Naturalists joined the Toronto Field Biologists at the Purpleville Woods and spent a few interesting hours with them. The whole party broke up into several smaller ones. One group went birding, one found wild flowers and plants, one visited a mammal trapline and one went with the group who learned about the animal and vegetable life in the ponds and swamps. All in all, a most gratifying experience. The next day, the Richmond Hill Naturalists met as a group at the water tower in Richmond Hill to go to the Purpleville Woods on their own. They divided into two groups — one watched and identified birds and the other group did botanical research.

Among the birds seen and identified over the week-end were a pied-billed Grebe, Black Duck, Red-shouldered Hawk, Greater Yellow Legs, Lesser Yellow-legs, Barred Owl, Ruby-throated Hummingbird, Crested Flycatcher, Least Flycatcher, Red-breasted Nuthatch, House Wren, Catbird, Wood Thrush, Hermit Thrush, Gray-checked Thrush, Red-eyed Vireo, Warbling Vireo, Golden Winged Warbler, Nashville Warbler, Yellow Warbler, Black-throated Blue Warbler, Oven Bird, Water Thrush, Hooded Warbler, Baltimore Oriole, Scarlet Tanager and a Swamp Sparrow.

The botanists had a great day seeing and identifying many flowers and plants. More will be seen and enjoyed as the season progresses. Among the ones seen on Sunday are: dog-toothed violet, bloodroot, wild ginger, spring beauty, Jack-in-the-Pulpit, water arum, marsh marigold, Bishop's cap and squirrel corn. To those who have not joined the Richmond Hill Naturalists, fees may be paid to Mrs. Y. T. Lambert, treasurer or Mrs. P. Addison, secretary.

The smallest team, but not the least important, was the Publications Dept. led by Mrs. P. M. Gould, B.A., Editor of the Glad Tidings and Editor of this department for the Society. She was accompanied by two of the office staff.

In the evening an address was given by Miss A. T. Jenkin, Director of the Leader Development Dept. Board of Women's Work, Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. Miss Pelton presented her play Adams, president of the Council, which shows some of the work being done in India.

Wednesday and Thursday sessions were given over to further discussions about the W.M.S. work and to business. In the evenings outstanding men of the Church were present to bring the messages, Rev. E. H. Johnson, B. Th., Rev. Paul Chan, Rev. Mariano De Gange, B.A., B. Th., B.C.

Friday morning session was entirely business, followed by the installation of the new officers by Rev. K. Glazier. In the afternoon cars were provided to take the delegates to the Home for Girls at Clarkson, where Rev. Munro acted as host on behalf of the General Board of Missions of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Local delegate was Dr. J. McLellan, minister at Bolton and Nashville, who is secretary of the Board of Evangelization for the church. There were several other delegates present from the Assembly, indicating a close cooperation between the men and women in the work of the church.

The social side of these meetings was not neglected. Each day the Glenview ladies prepared and served lunch to about 100 people. On Monday evening they entertained at a hot turkey supper when Rev. McLean spoke briefly, telling some of the humorous side-lights of his year as Moderator.

On Wednesday evening the Council Executive entertained at High Tea in honour of Miss Lamont and Miss Lily McArthur. Miss Lamont is a retired worker and Miss McArthur is retiring this year. They were presented with flowers.

On Thursday at six p.m., the delegates were guests of the Toronto East and West Presbyterians and the Toronto and Kingston Synodical at the tea hour. This is but an outline of what happened in Toronto when the women of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, gathered together for study and fellowship that they might go back to their people with a renewed and enlarged vision of the task of the Christian Church. Go ye therefore into all the world and preach the Gospel — "For unto you is born this day a Saviour that is Christ the Lord."
