Alice Elizabeth Delf Weds Bryan N. Mitchell

The marriage of Alice Elizabeth Delf and Bryan Napier Mitchell was solemnized in a candlelit evening ceremony in St. Mary's Anglican Church, Richmond Hill, with Reverend A. A. Chote officiating.

Against a background of white peonies and blue delphiniums, the bride wore a gown of white crystalite over faille, fashioned with a moulded basque, lily point sleeves, and a portrait neckline outlined with sequins and seed pearls.

The bride's mother wore a daytime frock of rose crepe and lace, with a navy hat and accessories and a corsage of pink roses and mauve sweetpeas. The mother of the groom chose a frock of toast faille with cream-coloured hat, brown accessories and a corsage of Joanna Hill roses.

After the reception held in North York Memorial Hall, the bride donned a charcoal-gray suit with shaded white and gray box jacket, white hat and black patent leather accessories, and white orchid.

On their return from Atlantic City and New York City, the bride and groom will reside in Islington.

Curtain Club Leaves Off Casting For Gay Picnic

Cicely Thomson wearing chef's hats in white and green, Bill Hall, Walter Smith, Bob Little and Stuart Parker took over the delicate business of sizzling the hamburger steaks at the Curtain Club Picnic on Monday evening June 20. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lewis had opened their home and grounds to the Curtain Club for this occasion.

And it was an occasion — for this was the time for Richmond Hill's "theatre folk" to relax from the tense business of choosing and then casting their first Fall Play. Literally the light-hearted evening was sandwiched between long nights of readings in the Club rooms as members tried-out for parts.

After the serious business of making the chefs feel that they really were necessary in their work, and that each and every pie and tart was the best ever tasted, the President, Mrs. Matilda Thomson took the opportunity to thank Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and the hostesses for the evening. Mesdames Rabinowitch, Edmunds, Boyer, Anderson and Little, and those companies that had so generously donated beverages, and the rain for stopping.

Before Miss Edna Izzard as master of ceremonies introduced the feature entertainment of the evening, Mrs. Dorothy Boyer was presented with a special decoration of merit for her contribution beyond the call of duty, that is to say, slicing the onions for more than fifty people to put in their hamburgers! Then the Sadlers Smells Badly! — the company on Monday night presented "Charazade" complete with a delicately executed pas de deux with Maul Porley and Rosie Butt as the featured dancers. (Ed. note: We suspect these two performers were using noms de dance). Miss Butt, dainty in a white satin tutu was at her best in her arabesque, save for the great leap
