'Poison' Takeda Appears At Aurora On Oct. 10

Next Monday at the Aurora Memorial Gardens, the local fans will be able to see the fabulous "Poison Cam Takeda" in action. This is the Jap grappler who we all have been waiting to see all season, and matchmaker Tom Nelson expects a sell out crowd. This great wrestler has been cutting quite a swath through the Canadian heavy-weight ranks and last week at the Guelph Gardens defeated Les Lyman, Canadian Heavyweight champion. Lyman, no mean wrestler himself, as all the fans know, says he has never met an opponent as fast or as vicious as this Jap. Small, by heavyweight standards he nevertheless has been undefeated here in Canada, and Tom Nelson is hard put to find any of the locals who will climb into the ring with him. His flying tackles and spectacular aerial work keep the fans in a constant uproar and extra police are needed to restrain the more bloodthirsty fans. Two weeks ago in Windsor, he put Roy McCluskey in the hospital with a concussion and in doing so eliminated a strong contender.

Water Levels May Effect Water Fowl

The effect of fluctuating water levels on waterfowl populations has been noticeably demonstrated this year, from reports received. Those marshes with either natural or artificially maintained water levels have produced a normal to above normal hatch of migratory birds and may be expected to provide fine duck hunting on opening day. According to H. R. McCrimmon, District Biologist at Maple, marshes tributary to Lake Simcoe and Georgian Bay, where water levels have dropped appreciably since last year have below-average production of ducks and in view of the considerable dried out area they could hardly be expected to provide as good hunting as last year.
