CARS ARE MY LINE

By Bud Lauria

One of the signs of real intelligence is the ability to learn from the experience of others, not to be pig-headed about our own ideas and to accept the good and reject the bad from other people and other places.

Some of the ways of European driving we could very well adopt over here.

I've always been intrigued with one idea they have in Switzerland. At every blind intersection there are huge mirrors set at a 45 degree angle so that a driver has a clear view of what's coming from the side.

In London, cars don't use their headlights at night, just parking lights. You really don't need anything more on a well-lighted street and headlights just add to the glare.

All the road signs in Europe are standardized; you don't even have to know the language of the country you're in to understand them.

There are "signs" you have to know in the car business, too. When a car comes in for trade you have to think "Could a car with pedal treads worn that much really have only 25,000 miles on it?"

Or, on the other hand, you have to cock your head in suspicion when the speedometer says 25,000 and there are BRAND NEW rubber treads on the pedals. For, if a car dealer makes a mistake in taking in a trade-in car there's one person he's going to try to pass the mistake on to — the customer.

When you're in the car business you have to know how to sell cars, granted. Just as important, you have to know how to BUY cars. You can then give a fair price to the person who's trading in and keep his business. And you'll be able to sell the car again, also at a fair price. That, I think, is why we've been staked out at the same place, in the same business, for so long.

Deepest sympathy is extended to the family of Mr. Wm. Kaufmann, who passed away last Friday in his 94th year.

Mrs. H. Gottschalk has been receiving treatments in the Orthopaedic Hospital, Wellesley St., for the last 10 days, and will be having a cast put on this week, best wishes are extended to her for a speedy recovery and return home.

Eddie Owen, Oak Avenue suffered a very badly broken arm a week last Sunday when he encountered a broken limb on the tree he was climbing.

Almost every bone in his arm was broken and an operation was necessary. Eddie is still in Toronto General Hospital, and uncertain of when he may return home. He and his family are very grateful for the assistance friends and neighbours gave him at the time of the accident, and the kind thoughts since.

Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wood, Spruce Avenue has returned from a trip to Brockville, Ottawa and vicinity. They took their little granddaughter Marion, with them and she was thrilled to have her picture taken with the Mountie on duty at Parliament Buildings.

Elisabeth Barker was guest of her aunt, Miss Emma Barker, in Toronto over the week-end.

Lorraine and Murray Acreman were Thanksgiving visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Beckford at Havelock. While there, they found the fishing at Cordova Mines quite good for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Jones were Thanksgiving guests with Billy and Melvin, of Hal and Mrs. Acreman, when on their way back from closing their cottage at Franklin Beach.

Headford Church was beautifully decorated with flowers and fruits of the harvest on Sunday for the Thanksgiving service. The minister had a special message and among the visitors were Mrs. James Coulter, Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson, Ruth and Noreen, of Richmond Hill, Miss Barbara Deverell, and Joan Curtis of Newmarket, the last named being a week-end guest of Margaret Brodie.

In keeping with the occasion, the Sunday School pupils enjoyed a film strip on "What we should be thankful for", shown by Mrs. Freeman Barker.

Many folk from our community attended Woodbridge Fair on Monday. Perfect weather made the attendance there a record.

Sr. Women's Institute

On Wednesday evening of last week a group of the Sr. Women's Institute visited the John Madson School at Cherry Hill Farm, Unionville. Here we saw classes in Woodworking, Leatherwork, Ceramics, Art, Metalwork, Oil Painting, and last but not least the Folk Dancing. These classes were all very interesting. Following the visitation the group returned to the home of Mrs. Reid Brumwell for a short business meeting and refreshments. Mrs. H. McCague was appointed as a delegate to attend the Women's Institute Convention being held at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto on November 2, 3 and 4. It is requested that as many of the ladies attend as possible.

COLOUR-BLIND ABOUT COAL?

...it can cost you money!

Don't just order coal—insist on 'blue coal'. — 'blue coal' is colour-marked for your guarantee of heating satisfaction. This famous fuel is deep-mined hard coal — carefully graded from start to finish. It gives you the clear full flame that means better heat — thrifty heat — safe heat. Thousands of Canadian families rely on 'blue coal' for steady, healthful heat.

So don't be colour-blind when you buy coal. It pays to order 'blue coal'.
