Maple Buys Balance Of Streetlights For $1856

Following negotiations with the Ontario Hydro, Maple Trustees have agreed to the purchase of the streetlights in the older part of the village at a cost of $1,856. At the time streetlights were installed in the new subdivision, the Trustees were told that it would be necessary to purchase the balance of lights. For many years, these lights in the older part of town have been rented from the Hydro. With the completion of the deal, all the lights in the village will belong to the municipality.

At last week's meeting, Trustee Kirby Brock was re-elected chairman of the Board of Trustees. Trustees John Neufeld and Andrew Snider, along with Mr. Brock were all re-elected in December by acclamation. The matter of representation for the proposed formation of a library was deferred as was the matter of parking restrictions in the village. The latter will be reviewed with village merchants before any decision is made.

Maple Trustees Again Seek Share Of Capital Fund

At a short meeting last Monday afternoon, the Maple Trustees re-asserted their belief that the police villages in Vaughan Township should share in the capital fund from the sale of lots within the village limits. A motion by Trustee John Neufeld that the police villages receive 50 per cent of the $300 subdivision lot fee received the unanimous support of the three-man board. The trustees contended that the limited resources of the village combined with their increased operating costs were the reason for the re-introduction of the question. The resolution will be forwarded to Vaughan Township Council in the near future.

It was the general consensus that the subject of incorporation was still of interest to the community as a whole. Trustee chairman Kirby Brock recommended that arrangements be made for a speaker to be present at a public meeting to acquaint the residents with all the aspects of such a proposal. Mr. Brock was of the opinion that such a move would encourage a more definite decision on possible incorporation. In drawing up an agenda for the coming year, such matters as drainage, the water supply, appointment of library representatives, parking and the Greenstein subdivision will be considered.

cars ARE MY Line
By Bud Lauria

FROM END TO END
Some of our customers were a little sceptical, I'll admit, when I announced proudly that the new 1957 Pontiac had been redesigned and restyled right from front to back to make it the best car buy on the road today.

From front to back, I told them, and I proved it. From the front... well, take the radiator. The Pontiac radiator is structurally much stronger this year and the pressure has been raised from seven pounds per square inch to 13.

I sometimes get a big "so what?" when I reveal this—so I explain it. Among the advantages is the fact that the boiling point in the radiator is raised to 31 degrees above normal—that's a big margin of safety.

Pontiac is a mass produced car—sure—but not so mass produced it forgets individual needs. There are three different kinds of radiators. With Hydra-Matic transmission the radiator has a built-in oil cooler. And with air conditioning the radiators are bigger to take care of the extra load.

Going toward the back of the new Pontiac we find a more powerful engine, a new distributor and—Pontiac really stands out here—the entire drive assembly has been improved.

And at the back, rear axle shafts are redesigned and stronger, the differential is new. All of Pontiac is new right back to the striking rear fender fin with its integrated lights reflectors and dual exhaust ports.

Yes, from front to back, Pontiac is the most excitingly new car I've seen.

To my mind the unsung heroes of this wonderful car business are the engineers who design the "under-the-hood" car that most of us know little about and seldom see. They've done some wonderful things under the hood of the new Pontiac I want to tell you about next week.

Forum Feels That Farmers Should Unite For Strength

The topic "Is Parity Income Enough?" was the third discussion on Parity for Agriculture studied by Edgeley Farm Forum on January 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Keffer. After studying the question "Do you feel that obtaining parity income is the most important problem in agriculture," the members felt that the biggest problem was getting the farmers to co-operate and unite in their thoughts and ways to obtain a stronger voice and to make their wants known and achieved.

Do Remodelling At United Church

Work parties are the order of the day around Maple United Church for the next two weeks, as volunteers painters, carpenters and tile floor layers seek to put the present Sunday School hall in shape for the opening of the new Christian Education Centre on Sunday, February 17. The auditorium is being painted throughout, the old kitchen is being transformed into a commodious choir room, with new cupboards, and the present kindergarten room and choir room is being made ready for a minister's vestry. Each night a group of workers, ladies and gentlemen assemble under the direction of Warren Baillie, general chairman. Bruce Murchison in charge of painting operations, Lloyd Palmer in charge of floor laying and Norman Lund supervisor of choir room alterations. Members of the Woman's Association have been responsible for the serving of refreshments at the close of the work periods.

Safety & Security Topic Federation Agriculture Meet

The monthly meeting of the Vaughan Federation of Agriculture was held in Edgeley Hall on January 28, with the theme, "Safety and Security." The film "The Closed Book" was shown. This picture brought out the effect of disregarding safety rules, such as striking a match without closing the cover, ignoring school signs, dangerous curves, ladder safety, etc.

The panel discussion under the chairmanship of Frank Brumwell of Gormley, brought out some of the points on safety. Andy McClure spoke on barn fires and the precautions one should take such as a close check on your electric wiring, especially if it's been in more than 20 years. Carl Boynton, second speaker, stressed the car accident picture and how careful one should be. He said the driver should be sure he has proper protection. Agnes Forster brought out some very interesting points on farm accidents and Workmen's Compensation coverage, and stressed the danger of children riding on farm tractors or implements.
