Local Pharmacy Robbed

Late last Sunday night, February 17, thieves broke into the Klinitz Pharmacy, 6431 Yonge Street, and made off with an undetermined amount of cash. Smashing their way through the heavy glass of the front door, the thieves ransacked the till and jimmied open a small safe at the rear of the store. According to S. Klinitz, the owner of the pharmacy, no drugs or other merchandise were taken, the main loss being from the branch post office. At the time your correspondent interviewed him, Mr. Klinitz was still checking his cash receipts, and could not say definitely how much money had been stolen. The store must have been broken into, said Mr. Klinitz, some time between 10 p.m. Sunday evening, when the last police check was made, and a quarter to 12 that some night, when an unidentified youth reported the broken door to the local police. Mr. Klinitz himself first heard of the robbery about midnight Sunday. Police of Markham, Vaughan and North York have been alerted, but at the time of writing no report of their progress can be made.

CARS ARE MY LINE

By Bud Lauria

If you were going out today to buy a car, new or used, what would be the three most important things you'd look for?

Ask yourself this question, and then I'll tell you what happened when thousands of prospective car buyers were asked this same question in a recent survey.

In this very broad survey among people who were looking for a car, the most common reply said they rated cars by economy first, comfort second and style third.

The same people, after they had bought a car, were asked why they had selected it. And the answers were exactly the reverse. It was style first, comfort second and economy third.

Which only goes to prove, I suppose, how little we really know about ourselves and why automobile engineers go gray.

It's still largely a mystery why people buy the cars they do, but it's no mystery WHERE they prefer to buy them. Every survey and report I've ever seen shows that people buying used cars go mainly to NEW car dealers.

They know that a new car dealer has earned the respect of the manufacturer he represents; he's earned his franchise which can be snapped back at any time if he turns to shady practices. He can't be a fly-by-nighter who sets up a sign on the nearest vacant lot.

They know that the new car dealer has the service facilities to look after the cars he sells. His warranty means something.

So, when you're looking around for a used car, drop into the lot. A salesman will show you around, but he won't high pressure you. If you don't buy today, we'll still be in business tomorrow.

Interesting Pioneer "Over 90" Visits Here

To those in Richmond Hill who made the acquaintance of Mrs. Mary Daly during her recent visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lindsay, it will be of interest to know that Mrs. Daly is now back at her farm home at Fredonia, Ontario. This lady, remarkably active, both physically and mentally, has as her philosophy "Life is just what you make of it", especially when one is "over 90".
To stay with her niece, Mrs. Lindsay, Mrs. Daly travelled from, and returned to, North Bay by train, unaccompanied.
In Richmond Hill when visiting, Mrs. Daly preferred to walk, including the 1 1/2 miles to St. Mary's Anglican Church when she was a guest at the afternoon W.A. meeting.
Mrs. Daly is a great reader and still a student, she keeps up-to-date on world affairs, sets a high mark in working out the Reader's Digest "Word Power", cross word puzzles, and of course is an exponent of the Bible.
A Sunday School teacher for a lifetime, and still active in church affairs, as during her 56 years as a member of the Fredonia United Church, there have been only 24 services when Mrs. Daly was not in attendance.
In 1901, Mr. and Mrs. Daly took up farm land at Fredonia, 7 1/2 miles from North Bay, the log house was built and keyed with wooden wedges. Today it is weathertight with the original moss that was forced into the cracks.
After the passing of her husband nine years ago, Mrs. Daly has lived alone on her farm, with no electric service, cuts her own wood, and carries her water from the spring several hundred yards from the house.
Mrs. Daly's family includes a son, daughter, six grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.
