The new Rector paid high tribute to his predecessor, the Rev. Arthur A. Chote, and to the Rev. Edward Morley for their ministrations in the Parish during the past six weeks.

Mr. O'Neill thanked the Church Board and members for the welcome accorded him, and for the good work already done. Appropriately choosing as his Text, II Corinthians 6, "We, then as workers together, with him as assured the congregation of his fullest co-operation.

Chester's Column

I really had to go running to the history books the other day. One of our favourite customers (she's a fan, I guess, because she seems to like this column) came up and asked me where the dry cleaning business got its start.

Somebody, somewhere, she said, must have had the bright idea of cleaning clothes in a fluid that, unlike water, had no affinity for textiles but at the same time went for the dirt.

Well, I don't know much more than when it started. The idea of dry cleaning, though, wasn't North American. It was French.

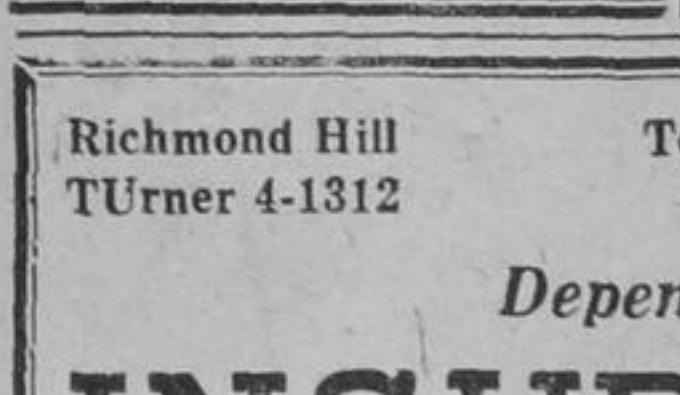

It all started in France about the middle of the last century, which makes the business a hundred years old, or so.

Since then, it's spread around the world. The methods used are about the same everywhere, but dry cleaning plants in Europe are quite different than on this side of the Atlantic. There are fewer dry cleaning plants in Europe, and they are generally much larger organizations.

There is efficiency in bigness, sometimes, but I think we've managed to keep the individual attention that a customer expects when you're handling personal belongings.

If, for instance, you come into our place and tell us that it's a blob of peach juice on your jumper, or a splash of so-and-so brand ink on your lapel, you know that the spot is going to be watched carefully throughout the whole cleaning process.

Knowing what the spot is, we'll use exactly the right solvent to remove it. But, and this is important, too, we won't try it in the first place if it would harm the fabric.

The Walter Scott Guide and Brownie Mothers' Auxiliary held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. J. Gibb, Wednesday, March 13. After the business meeting Mrs. R. Castle gave a talk on Brownies which proved of interest to all mothers present. The evening ended with a social half hour.

The congregation of the new St. Matthews' United Church was thrilled and proud of the performance of the Junior Choir on Sunday, March 17, at the morning service. This choir is under the leadership of Mr. Bob Madeley and Mrs. S. G. Snooks. Mrs. Snooks had typed the hymns and bound them in black and green. The girls looked very attractive with black satin bows on their white blouses, while the boys wore black bow ties with white shirts. Both the boys and Mrs. Snooks. The choir, which ranges in age from 8 to 13 years, entered the room singing 'Holy, Holy, Holy.' They then sang three sections, 'Stand up, Stand up for the name of the Hills,' and 'Tell me the Stories of Jesus.' During the singing of the second hymn, the solo part was sung by Miss Lenore Fleming, who has a beautiful voice. All the boys and girls of the choir knew the words and tunes so well that everyone in the congregation appreciated and realized the amount of time and training which must have been given by Mrs. Snooks and Mr. Madeley to produce such a splendid choir. The members hope they may again soon have the opportunity of having this Junior Choir sing at another service.

The Women's Group of St. Matthew's Church held a social and work meeting on March 19 at the home of Mrs. G. M. Farr, 100 Cartier Crescent. The meeting opened with Mrs. R. Smith welcoming four new members. Mrs. A. McLellan told the group about the Saturday evening dance, sponsored by the Richmond Hill United Young Married Couples' group, at which ten couples from St. Matthews' thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Mrs. E. Wilson showed the members a beautiful selection of cards for every occasion. After a period of sewing, knitting and quilting, the ladies played games, and then enjoyed delicious refreshments. The next business meeting will be held in the evening of April 2, at the home of Mrs. B. Knight, 348 Crosby Avenue.

Following the Sunday evening service at the Richmond Hill United Church, the members of the Young People's Fireside Group held their regular meeting, which included discussion and the planning of future programs. The speaker at the Friendship Hour meeting of March 31 will be Dr. David V. Anderson.

Akela Margaret Styan addressed the recent regular meeting of the First Richmond Hill Scout Mothers' Auxiliary, on the origin and aims of the Cub Movement. In her own happy way she stressed the importance of early training of the boys, and the satisfaction derived from working with them. Members of the Auxiliary had been requested to attend wearing a hat of their own making. After careful inspection of the gorgeous creations, prizes were awarded as follows: Most original, Edna Dunn; Funniest, Ruth Charity; Prettiest, Joyce Hunt.

Dr. Winnifred Bryce will be guest speaker at the annual service of the Women's Missionary Societies at Richmond Hill United Church on Sunday morning, March 24, at 11 o'clock. Dr. Bryce who is widely known as a forceful and eloquent speaker is a former missionary in India, where with her husband, the late Rev. George P. Bryce, she worked for many years.

The 3rd Richmond Hill Guide company held an enrolment on March 18. Commissioner Mrs. E. Redemeier enrolled Judy Rimmer, Joan Cosgrove, Elinor Correa. Carolyn Oliver and Carol Powell of the 4th Richmond Hill Brownie pack and Patricia Price of the 6th Richmond Hill Brownie pack, won their Golden Hand. Congratulations to these girls.

The March meeting of the Glen Elm Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. R. C. Craino, 305 Paliser Crescent, and was featured by a White Elephant sale. This was a great success, with Mrs. W. Sayers in the role of auctioneer. Names were drawn to select a mystery friend to send a card to on their birthday. A cake sale was discussed with a date to be decided on. Thanks from the group were extended to Mrs. J. Dewsbury for her suggestion that the Glen Elm W.I. make a layette to be entered in the Women's Institute Competition. Guests for the evening included Mrs. J. Pollard, Mrs. W. Sayers and Mrs. Dewsbury from the Richmond Hill branch of the Women's Institute. Three new members were added to the mounting Glen Elm membership. Their next meeting will be held on April 16 at the home of Mrs. N. E. Nichlas, 305 Paliser Crescent North.

W. I. Guest Speaks On Mental Health
Mr. John D. Parks, B.A., B.D., Executive Director of Ontario Division of the Canadian Mental Health Association, was guest speaker at the monthly meeting of Richmond Hill Women's Institute.

Mr. Parks, a very compelling and experienced speaker told the members that just as many patients are in mental hospitals as in all other hospitals combined. The public must be educated to understand emotionally disturbed people. Education begins at home. Teachers and nurses, trained to take responsibility, a great deal of love and affection, and a lot of research are needed to combat this No. 1 health problem.

Mr. Parks said the best years of your life, the retiring years, can be happy years if you plan and look to the future. The members agreed to take the Penny-A-Day bags, proceeds from which assist in the research programme of this worthy cause.

STOUFFVILLE - The municipality will receive a loan of half a million dollars for the financing of the sewer project from Municipal Improvement Corporation.

By asking Richmond Hill's Curtain Club to produce several short plays with the theme of swift attack on cancer being essential, the Cancer Society of Ontario has given honorable recognition to the club's work for the past three years.

Mrs. Malcolm Thomson, Chairman of the Speakers' Panel for the Richmond Hill district and past president of the Curtain Club is handling the details of production with the Ontario Chairman of Education and Publicity for the Cancer Society, Mr. Jack Brockie.

The enthusiastic support of the group to help out the Cancer Society in its wonderful work, was evidenced at the last meeting in the Lions Hall. Prior to production the Club is selecting plays from the ones given by Mr. Brockie.

William Thomas Tyndall Passes On In 78th Year

In the passing of Mr. William Thomas Tyndall on March 18, Richmond Hill lost one of its well known pioneer citizens. Born in Richmond Hill, Mr. Tyndall had resided here for the last 45 years.

After living in Toronto during his earlier years, he returned to Richmond Hill when it was still a timbered area, and was employed for a number of years at the sawmill of John Innes, after which he joined the Provincial Civil Service, serving many years on the staff of the Langstaff Industrial Farm.

For over 40 years Mr. Tyndall was a member of the local Volunteer Fire Department, and had many interesting experiences to relate in regard to the days when the horseless fire-fighting equipment was propelled by man power, with the side-pumpers also operated by hand.

Always showing a keen interest in the local Fire Department, Mr. Tyndall was an honorary member right up to the time of his death. A life-long member of the United Church, Mr. Tyndall was also a Past Master of the Richmond Hill Orange Lodge No. 2368. He was in his 78th year, and is survived by his wife, Mrs. Annie Baker Tyndall, son Ralph of Toronto, daughters Mrs. L. Teetzel (Zellah) Richmond Hill, Mrs. H. P. Smith (Marjorie) of Kingston. The five grandchildren are Keith, Carl and Bruce Teetzel, Hugh Tyndall and Richard Smith, one granddaughter, Mrs. Pat Donovan, and one great-granddaughter, Kathleen Donovan.

Sisters of Mr. Tyndall are Mrs. J. Richards of Willowdale, Mrs. L. Northgrove and Mrs. L. Darby of Toronto.

Resting at Wright and Taylor's funeral home. Service will be held on Thursday at 2 o'clock, by the Rev. C. G. Higginson, with interment in Richmond Hill Cemetery.
