More than sixty members of the Powell Road Home and School Association turned out at Powell Road School on Monday evening, February 24, to enjoy themselves at the annual celebration of the association's birthday. Dancing and games were arranged, with the bingo tables being the most popular.

Many attractive prizes were won; and a drawing was held for a painting by Mr. Tom Bradbeer, the association's talented vice-president. During the refreshment period the members sat at tables according to their birth month, with an appropriately decorated birthday cake in the centre of each table.

On Tuesday evening, February 18, a meeting was held at the home of Mr. W. Hodgins, Woodward Avenue, to organize the Markham/Township West Branch Progressive-Conservative Association. Mr. Hodgins was elected president of the new association. He will be assisted in his duties by C. Clifford, A. Funnell, J. P. Hanna and W. J. Lennox, as vice-presidents; Mrs. W. J. Lennox, secretary; Mrs. M. Cordingley, treasurer; and G. Davis, J. M. Harding, O. Latham and C. Nagle, executive members.

The morning gym classes will continue to include badminton, volleyball, gym and folk dancing; and afternoon classes in millinery and bridge may be offered, if sufficient interest is shown.

A drive to collect old clothes, toys and other articles for the Fred Victor Mission will soon get under way in the district. Anyone who has any serviceable clothing to donate is asked to get in touch with Mrs. Condon of 60 Grandview.

Joint Meeting
On Tuesday evening, February 18, representatives of local home and school associations met with the trustees of the School Area at Thornhill Public School, to discuss problems of general interest. Present for the school board were Chairman Roy Bick and Trustees Allan Parker, Jackson Taylor and George Chandler, and Supervising Principal Eilert Sand, in his capacity of chief executive officer of the board.

Mr. Sand addressed the meeting briefly on the topic of the need for an adequate and agreed "philosophy of education." He traced the development of various such philosophies from the time of Plato and Aristotle, through Rousseau — whose ideas, said Mr. Sand, have contributed much to the present concept of "child-centred" education — to John Dewey and Sir Richard Livingstone. He deprecated the increased emphasis on scientific and technical training, the result of the Russian success in launching earth satellites.

He hoped that we would ourselves, in 40 years, with scientists than people.

The development of the child, said Mr. Sand, should be fostered not only on the intellectual but also on the social and spiritual plane. And this called for a co-operative effort on the part of the school, the home and the community.

The question of "early closing" was brought up. Chairman Bick stated that it was the policy of the board to operate the schools full time. Mr. Sand said that the board had given permission for one early closing a month, so that area teachers might get together and discuss educational problems. There were other occasions, said Mr. Sand, when the schools had to close early because the school inspector had called a meeting of teachers. Elaborating on this point, Mr. Taylor said that a school inspector could by law call a teachers meeting at any time, and as many times during a month as he saw fit.

Improvements to school playgrounds, and the general development of the area schools, were discussed. Future planning by the board, it was pointed out, was necessarily tentative, due largely to the uncertain status of proposed new subdivisions within the area. Powell Road School was an example; very little could be done at present, until the future of the development on the land to the north of the school was finally settled.

Trustee Taylor, as public relations chairman for the board, raised the question of adequate exchange of information between the board and the taxpayer. This was a problem which the board had been attempting to solve. He suggested that, if some solution about the schools arose, one of the trustees might be asked to attend a local home and school meeting to answer it. He also pointed out that the board met at Thornhill Public School on the first Tuesday of each month, and that interested taxpayers might attend these meetings.

The Henderson Avenue delegation asked if any further plans had been made to set up kindergartens in the schools. Chairman Bick stated that detailed estimates of the cost of kindergartens in all the schools were now being prepared. Once this was done, the board proposed to apply to the township councils for debentures to cover the cost. If, as Mr. Bick felt might happen, the councils refused to approve the debentures, the board would then bring the matter to a vote of the taxpayers. This procedure, the meeting decided, was probably the best way of settling the question of whether the people of the area not only wanted kindergartens but were prepared to pay for them. In any event, Mr. Bick stated, it would be at least two years before kindergarten classes could officially start in any of the schools.

Obituary

Late Mrs. Joseph Grainger
Another one of Carrville's senior citizens passed away Monday night in the person of Mrs. Joseph Grainger, who resided on Carrville Road West. She was in her 89th year.

Mrs. Grainger was a very highly esteemed resident of Carrville community and in days gone by was an artist at rug hooking. Her real pride and joy was her beautiful hooked rugs. In recent years Mrs. Grainger's health was failing and she was unable to be very active.

She will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved her and we would like to express sincere sympathy to her son, Mr. Orville Grainger and his family in their time of sorrow. Mrs. Grainger was laid to rest in Carrville Cemetery beside her late husband.

The word salary comes from "salarium" meaning salt money, since Roman soldiers received part of their pay in salt.
