

Local Police Boys' Band Needs Help

By Ted James
With organizational work well under way, the Richmond Hill Police Boys Band Association is taking on the complexities of a large organization.

Beginning with an idea in the mind of one man, Police Chief R. P. Robbins, the organization has expanded tremendously since its beginning some two months ago. The trumpet and drum band, the majorette corps; the drill team and the color party are all divisions of the association. All told, they require the services of more than 200 boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 20, not to mention those of better than 50 part-time instructors and executive members.

Operated entirely on public subscription, the group is in the midst of a financial campaign. Formed primarily to provide a healthy, stimulating and creative activity for the young people of the area (which swings far beyond the town limits of Richmond Hill), the association must provide instruments and uniforms for its members . . . and this costs money.

Under the guidance of association Chairman Robbins and Treasurer P.C. Ted Greene, the group secured 34 horns and 11 drums at a very reasonable price. It was decided to purchase the instruments before the uniforms since the teen-agers had to learn music and marching procedures. It was also felt these public funds should not be overused, but should be used to go too far into debt until it had established itself as a representative group from the Richmond Hill area.

To start with, a letter was sent to the businesses of Richmond Hill outlining the group's purpose and asking for donations with a goal of $5,000.00.

A deputation went before town council to ask for a grant of $300.00 as a down payment on instruments.

Booster ticket sales were begun at prices of one, two and five dollars.

Like anyone would, the executive then sat back and waited for the funds to roll in. They soon realized things weren't that simple.

At this point, nearly 60 boys and 25 girls had registered as members of the various groups. They wanted something to do, and something to do it with. In other words, they needed their instruments.

The town hall in the municipal building was vacant, so the majorettes began practicing there every Sunday at 3:00 p.m. come heck or high water. They are still there: cramped but practicing.

The band, which had only two rooms to use instead of the six they need, used the hall once a week until one night when they were practicing they were informed the library below stood a good chance of having the ceiling drop in on them. So band practices were forced to stop.

At the present time, that is the situation. The Central Ontario Wrestling Association is co-operating with the band to present a special night of wrestling early in February to raise funds for the group.

The band association is working on "Gasoramas" and other similar activities to raise money. Members of the band and majorettes are busy selling booster tickets to interested citizens to raise money.

All these people are working hard to acquire the necessary funds with which to operate, but it all boils down to this: they need public support.

Whether you are asked or not, please try to give something to the Richmond Hill Police Boys Band Association. Any member of the police department will be glad to give you information or to arrange speakers for groups. Donations can be sent to the police office at 56 Yonge Street North in Richmond Hill or to the Bank of Montreal in Richmond Hill.

Remember the members of this association are, in effect, the children of the area. As such they are a responsibility to members of the community. They would like your help.

The association is still taking members in both the boys and girls groups and has yet to turn anyone down. Can you turn them down?

Quick Dish For A Cold Day

Mona Robertson
Now that we have feasted on the rich and delicious dishes that form so large a part of our happiness and sense of well-being during the holiday season, perhaps our appetites are satiated with "fancy" foods and we (especially our husbands) are ready to return to plain but wholesome fare again.

The children, of course, never tire of Christmas and New Year treats — but as with anyone else on a rich diet, their appetites too begin to lag if they are not treated with the casual touch in food — wholesomely prepared.

Let's start with soup. And not out of a can! With the use of the blender, or a sieve or strainer, it is possible to prepare a potato soup that is the basis of a hearty and attractive meal. Serve it with thick slices of crisp French bread and butter; with toasted croutons sprinkled with nippy cheese, or hot cornmeal muffins or teabiscuits.

We like to serve this soup to our family with hot teabiscuits, 1 cup which we have mixed half a cup of diced cheese and/or chopped cooked meat, preferably ham. Just before we add the liquid to the dry biscuit mix we toss in the additions and an extra tablespoon or two of milk, stir and spoon the biscuit dough into well-greased or oiled muffin tins and when done (in a hot oven as usual) we serve the biscuits along with the potato soup — and enjoy the applause with modesty!

The biscuits by the way are mixed while the following recipe is cooking atop the stove.

Potato Soup
3 large potatoes; 1 medium onion (more if your family really enjoys this pearly vegetable); 2-3 stalks of celery; 1 tablespoon salt; 3 cups of water; 1/8 teaspoon of pepper (for those who like it hot and spicy).

Dice vegetables after washing and peeling and cook until tender. Remove from heat, strain. Mash or blend vegetables until smooth. Add two cups of whole milk to the soup stock into which you have blended:

1 tablespoon of flour, 2 tablespoons butter.

Combine all with the puree of vegetables and heat gently, stirring only to prevent scorching, until the soup is just below the boiling point and ready to serve with those hot biscuits or croutons fresh from the oven.

Mash or blend fruit salad or some of your own canned preserves makes a happy ending for this meal-in-a-hurry.

Resolution Says Check Needed On Inflation Trend

Warning of the dangers to the Canadian economy of the present threat of inflation Woodstock City Council has asked for action by all levels of government.

The following resolution has been sent to all Municipal Councils in Ontario for their consideration:

"WHEREAS the threat of further inflation is inherent in the recent wide-spread wage increases in certain industries and the rate increases awarded to railway and utility corporations; and

WHEREAS these increases have been brought about by pressures exerted by management, labour unions and railway and utility corporations without full regard to the effect which such increases will have on the economic wellbeing of the nation as a whole; and

WHEREAS the Government of Canada has itself been party to some of these increases with respect to wages and prices; and

WHEREAS such increases will set in motion pressures for comparable wage and price increases in other wide sectors of the economy; and

WHEREAS further price increases will seriously affect our ability to sell Canadian products and goods in competitive world markets as well as our own Canadian Domestic market and thus further curtail production and employment; and

WHEREAS the effect of all this will be to further devalue the savings of millions of Canadians besides jeopardizing their economic security;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the City Council of Woodstock expresses its alarm at the situation which has developed and which, unless promptly checked, will have grave consequences for most Canadians;

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities be requested to make immediate representations to the Federal Government — in the name of the Municipal Governments of Canada and on behalf of Canadians in general — urging it to use every persuasive and legal means at its disposal, in order that the threatening inflationary pressures be kept under effective check and control;

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to every municipal council in Ontario and that they be urged to endorse it."
