Hospitalizes Man

James Wark of Langstaff, an employe of Skinner & Merrick Construction Company, had the dubious distinction of being the first man hospitalized by a "burst first man hospitalized by a "burst bubble" last week, when the plas-tic bubble installed west of the ichmond Heights Plaza to facilitate winter construction work was wrecked by a high wind just at noon hour last Thursday?

Mr. Wark suffered a compound fracture of the leg when the francework collapsed. Five minutes more and the building site would have been vacant as the men were just gathering up their tools preparatory to stopping for the lunch hour.

Jack Hollowell, town building inspector, said he had inspected the bubble after its erection and it appeared to be sufficiently well braced, but, Mr. Hollowell said, this was more or less experimental, since it was the first one er-ected in this district and by this company, and apparently it did not have enough support for high wind resistance.

It takes three weeks to erect such a bubble and it is unlikely the firm will rebuild it this year. Costing approximately $1,000. the permit winter construction. It is designed to cover the basement excavation.
