York Young People Preparing For Busy 4-H Club Season

Farm boys and girls throughout York County are again looking forward to an active season of 4-H Club work, beginning with the club organizational meetings to be held in late March and early April. Membership is open to boys and girls residing on farms who will be 12 years old by May 1st, and who have not reached their 21st birthday by November 21st. Tractor club members must be 4 by May 1st. 4-H Clubs have as their motto, "Learn To Do By Doing," and the four "H's" stand for Head, Heart, Hands and Health, which signify the training and development that the members undergo. The basis of 4-H club operation is the project which the member has at home, and for which he is responsible. This may be the growing of a plot of grain, the raising of a calf, care of the farm tractor, etc., depending on the club which the member joins. Clubs to be organized in York are the Markham, Schomberg, Sharon and Woodbridge Calf Clubs; York County Baby Beef Club; Bradford Marsh Potato & Onion Clubs and East York Tractor Maintenance Club. A calf and grain club have already been organized in the Sutton district, with twenty-two and eighteen members respectively. The indication is that there will be increased membership in most of the clubs this year.

Regular monthly meetings are held for each of the clubs throughout the summer, at which time, under the guidance of local club leaders and the Agricultural Representatives, the boys and girls receive training in their club project. The club season ends with achievement day in the fall, when the members exhibit

Time To Find—
The "mail must go through" — on time — but one of Richmond Hill's postmen is sadly handicapped these days since he lost his wrist watch on Saturday, March 28, while delivering mail in the vicinity of Cartier and Balkan Avenues.

Postman Len King, who has been with the Richmond Hill post office since 1951, placed an advertisement in the "Lost" column of "The Liberal" this week, in the hope that now that the ice and snow has finally disappeared from walks and ditches, someone will find and return his watch, which he prizes very highly.
