"Walkin' On Down"

teachers and other members of the high school teaching staff who assisted in the athletic program's success were: Miss L. Rafferty, Mrs. B. O'Shea, Mr. S. Sneath, Mr. W. McVicker, Mr. J. Turchin, Mrs. M. Threapleton (make-up), and Mrs. E. Trott (art and scenery).

"Dear Mr. Editor"

Opposed To C.N.R. Route
Dear Mr. Editor:
I wish to register my protest against the proposed route for the new C.N.R. marshalling yard access line.
That the new yards are necessary, I have no doubt, but I certainly question the sincerity of the claim that the route through the Doncaster valley, in the south-west corner of Markham Township, is THE route from an engineering stand-point.
I believe that five possible routes are on the survey made, and I may add, by a firm who are supposed to know what they are doing. Now, all of these routes must have sound engineering principles to recommend them, or they would not be on the survey in the first place, and I also believe that it is reasonable to assume that at least two, and probably even three, of these routes have about equal possibilities, still talking from an engineering standpoint.

I am convinced that the C.N.R. originally favoured a route somewhere in industrial-zoned Richvale, but were prevailed upon by other interests to move south of the presently proposed area.
It is not difficult to guess that Metropolitan Toronto had a whole fist in the pie, with an eye to annexation, in about ten years time, of a nicely developed industrial belt around the north of the city.
The C.N.R. are not a law unto themselves, and public opinion will compel them to revise their plans.
Yours truly,
ERNEST THOMSON,

To Stand Trial Over 400 Get Free Polio Shots

George Franklin of Toronto was committed to stand trial by Judge a 1 jury, when he appeared in Magistrate's Court, Newmarket, on May 5th, by Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake.
The accused was charged with breaking and entering, together with theft of merchandise from Tony's Esso Station, Richmond Hill, on March 29th — also on a charge of criminal negligence of operating a motor vehicle, causing damage to a police cruiser of the Richmond Hill police department.

STOUFFVILLE: Funeral services were held here for the late Clayton Baker of Orillia who died on April 24, 1959. Mr. Baker was a Stouffville farmer for many years and then operator of the Maple Leaf Dairy until retiring and moving to Orillia. He was in his 69th year.

NEWMARKET: A Newmarket-bred cow, a two year old heifer bred by Hyfield Farms "Hyfield's W. R. Maria" won top awards at a Texas cattle show, the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club announced.

A life spent worthily should be measured by deeds, not years.

Approximately 400-450 adults attended the free polio vaccine clinic held at the Richmond Hill Health Unit offices in the Langstaff Building last Monday night. Drs. A. Smith and W. C. Cowan gave the prescribed doses and with the assistance of five York County Health Unit nurses, the lengthy line of patients was kept smoothly in order and all shots were finished by 9 p.m. The clinic opened at 7.30 p.m.
Next clinic will be June 1 for second doses.

STOUFFVILLE — The final stage of Stouffville's $600,000 sewerage system installation came to an abrupt halt when the contractor, April Construction Co. of Toronto, walked off the job. The firm engineer, John J. April said that the percentage of money being withheld by the town for clean-up was a violation of the contract. The contract calls for a 15 per cent holdback by the town until all work is completed to the satisfaction of the engineers. A communication from the April firm to council, claimed that 45 per cent was being withheld. However, council stated that the holdback was only 30 per cent. The added payment was held up when the construction firm refused to clean up their work as requested by council and its engineers.

No Decrease High School 1959 Budget

In future years Richmond Hill Council will request a meeting with the District High School Board when the year's budget is presented. Mayor Tomlin made this announcement when reporting to council Monday night on the result of his meeting with the representatives of the High School Board and neighbouring municipalities concerning certain items in the 1959 school budget. Richmond Hill Council refused at a previous meeting to accept an item of $27,000 for a contingency fund as they felt it was budgeting for a surplus. Mayor Tomlin reported that his conference with the Board revealed the contingency fund was provision for repairs and other expenditures not itemized in the estimates and could not be eliminated. He commented favourably on the meeting which he said had been most helpful.
A letter from the High School Board stated no further cuts could be made in the High School budget.

Mayor Tomlin said he appreciated that High School trustees faced a very difficult problem. He said the salary schedule at York Central District schools is not as high as Metro, and the Board faced a real problem in securing well qualified teachers. Contrary to reports the salary schedule for principals and administration at below metro levels.

Council did not rescind its previous motion rejecting the contingency fund estimate, but on motion decided to attach the letter of explanation to the budget. During the discussion of the High School budget, Councillor Haggart made a plea for more provincial aid for education and a lessening of the burden of the cost of education on the home owner. "Education is a matter of great importance and concern to everyone," he said, "and the burden of cost should be removed from the municipal level and the home owner and assumed by the province."
Deputy-reeve Tinker — "I would go farther and say that education is of national interest and concern."

Mayor Tomlin said the Teachers' Federation is one of the strongest unions in the country and he would hope that the provincial government would take an interest in it so that its demands might be tempered by an appreciation of the ability of the people to pay taxes.
Councillor Haggart — "I don't think the home owner should be singled out to bear the burden of education costs." He thought if the province assumed more of the responsibility the cost would be spread over a wider base.
Mayor Tomlin agreed some revision was desirable but reminded the meeting that if the province assumed a larger share it would mean more taxes somewhere.

Clerk of Session County Council

COUNTY CLERK J. L. SMITH

Mr. Jack L. Smith, seen above, has been clerk-treasurer of York County since January 1, 1954. Born in East Gwillimbury he attended Newmarket High School before teaching school; then went on to the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, where he graduated in Agricultural chemistry.
For some years after graduation Jack Smith went in for bee-keeping in a scientific way, running two apiaries, the largest having 80 colonies. He supplied buyers as far west as the prairie provinces, and it appears likely to us that his keen interest in the bee industry had contagious reception in the west, since prairie farmers began to look into the honey business for themselves in due time and now produce all their own honey for consumption, as well as exporting it back east and throughout Canada and the United States.

In 1925 Mr. Smith became clerk of the township of East Gwillimbury and remained in this office until going to Newmarket and County Council to become County clerk in 1954.

Mr. Smith lives at Queensville with his wife, the former Elva Doane, and one of their sons, Rex. Two other sons, Clair and Douglas, are following different and interesting careers. Rex, who is married, is in the general insurance business; Clair, who is a graduate mechanical engineer, and accountant, lives in Winnipeg and works for the Manitoba government on the budget. Clair was previously chairman of the budget committee for the Chrysler Corp. Douglas graduated as a chemical engineer from Queens, worked with Dupont of Canada for two years and is now back at Queens completing his third year in medicine.

Mr. Smith is a member of the Sharon Lodge 97, Sharon, and a member of the York Pioneers' and Historical Society, and is an elder of the Queensville United Church, despite his many duties not only when in council, but throughout the rest of the year. The county clerk sits in on all committee meetings, except that of Agriculture, and compiles the numerous reports required by county council, with the exception of those for Children's Aid and the Health Unit.
