Stand on the church hill at Headford, and you can't see too many homes, although one can see for a considerable distance. Yet from the closely surrounding countryside, every day last week, from Monday until Friday, there gathered in the church some one hundred and twenty five children and twenty five or six leaders to carry on Victoria Square charge's eighth Vacation School. It is becoming almost a legend to have no rain at this time, the third week in July, and this year was no exception, with sunny skies and warm temperatures every day. Each day the school opened with the youngsters singing as they entered; then a short invocation quietly sung by the children and a prayer of dedication for their offering. Choruses led by Mrs. Rumble with Mrs. McCague at the piano followed. Next brief devotional service with Mrs. Rumble telling the story on Monday, Mrs. Rodick on Tuesday; on Wednesday Mrs. Mumberson talked about Bridges and illustrated with the blackboard; on Thursday Mrs. Wellman had a wonderful flannelgraph on The Good Samaritan, while on Friday, Mrs. Elmer Leek told very meaningfully the story of the feud between the Jews and Samaritans about the building of the Temple. Next, more choruses, and how small children love to sing, particularly when suitable actions fit the words! Bible study followed for some groups outside — and what better place could be found? — then refreshment of orangeade and cookies, dispensed by Mrs. H. McCague and Mrs. Wes Middleton. Crafts were next; with the bigger boys led by Mr. and Mrs. P. Biggs, assisted by Mr. Mumberson, doing such things as making flour scoops. The girls under the capable direction of Mrs. Alf Miller, created all sorts of beautiful things — knitting bags, mats from spool work, needle and thimble holders from felt, cross stitch texts etc. The younger folk made kites and fish, and decorated lovely little holders for pencils as well as lovely scrapbooks. Everyone returned to the auditorium of the church for the "Good-bye Song"; then off in the busses that had brought them at the beginning. We are most indebted to Mr. Norman Reid who brought and returned to their homes some fifty children each day in his big bus; and to Mr. Gordon Morrison who used his bus for the Victoria Square contingent. We can never adequately thank these gentlemen. And the leaders, and all their helpers — how can they be thanked for all they did! One wouldn't dare to name them for fear of missing one, but we earnestly hope they received their thanks from the radiant faces of the happy crowd of youngsters.

On Friday evening we met again, parents along this time, so they could see how we have our daily meetings, and the results of our craft work. Each group gave a demonstration; but the wee tots who "performed" the story of the Good Samaritan, literally "brought the house down." There will be pictures again this year, thanks to Mr. Biggs; and Shirley McCague took a movie film. Daily collections, and the one on Friday evening will permit us again to send $66, to be used to send "Pictures of Jesus" to other small folk throughout the world. This is the 1959 project for Vacation Schools.

We missed very much this year, the presence and assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Binnington; but our very good friends Miss Dorothy Hood and Mr. Lawson Mumberson kindly substituted. It is planned to have a meeting of all who helped in the school and who are able to come, at Headford Church on Monday, July 27.

Socials
Mrs. Wm. Welman is holidaying at South River, with her daughter Ruth, Mrs. Isaac Reaman and her family.
Mrs. Ben Terry is also on a holiday in Vermont, having flown there with her mother a week ago. She is expected home this week.
Johnny and Theresa Pierce are spending the summer with Lorraine and Murray Acreman.

Mrs. Cummer Lee has been renewing acquaintances of long standing recently. On Saturday, she was guest at the wedding of a former school chum; and on Sunday had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. J. Post in Rexdale. Mrs. Post and Jean were in High School together, each later becoming teachers.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Rumble are at present on a trip down east; on Sunday morning they had reached Three Rivers, Quebec. Don Brodie took over for Stewart on Sunday in Sunday School.
Mrs. Morris visited her daughter Lorraine Acreman on the weekend, coming down from her cottage at Wilcox Lake.
Mrs. Acreman entertained the boys of her Sunday School class to a weller and watermelon party in the flats on Monday. The boys had a thrilling time seeing what has come to be known as "The Boat" at the Acreman place, and inspecting the stock car, and trying on the crash helmet that Murray uses at the Pincrest races.

The executive of Headford W. A. has decided to accept the following dates for their bake sales at Victoria Square — August 14 and September 4.

AURORA — Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Garfat, Yonge St. South, recently bought a single-engine Cessna, Model 175 aircraft, which they keep at Malton. In mid-May, Mr. Garfat received his flying license, and his wife is now taking lessons. Last week-end, Mr. Garfat and a friend took off for the southern United States. They spent Saturday in New Orleans and around the Gulf of Mexico and were back at Malton by 3.30 Sunday evening.

Town Playgrounds Report

"Our second week at the playgrounds, 'On Wheels Week' ended on July 17," Miss Nancy Stocks informs "The Liberal."

"Under the leadership of the Richmond Hill Police and the leaders the bicycle safety campaign was a great success. At this time I would like to thank Al's Sport and Cycle Shop for donating bicycle accessories which were used as prizes for the contests held by each park."

This week is called "Wild West Week" Most of the playgrounds will be making an Indian Village and having Pow-Wows as their special event.

Walter Scott
Our second week at the Walter Scott playground has been rewarding. Crafts and special events have been centred about the theme, "On Wheels". The younger children painted, crayoned and sketched pictures of their carriages, tricycles and wagons. The older children made wheels with paper plates, drew posters and made many things of interest pertaining to a Wheel Week project.
On Thursday morning the juniors decorated their carriages and bicycles. The carriages were decorated (no doubt with mother's help) with Christmas decorations, crepe paper and one had petunias from hood to wheels. The Seniors travelled the hot pavement of Bayview Avenue to meet with the other playgrounds for a demonstration with regards to bicycle safety.

The inter softball games have started and Walter Scott has got off to a good start winning the first game against Crosby 18-3.

The leaders feel that the children are enjoying themselves and prove it by coming back each day to join in the fun and work.

Town Park
The second week proved as interesting as the first and slightly more organized. The weather was in their favour and stayed sunny and bright. The registration remained the same as the first week.
During the week the children made match holders, posters and wheels out of paper plates. The special event for the older children was a bicycle rodeo on Wednesday afternoon at the Loblaws' parking lot. The local police force put the children through a test for brakes, steering, etc. Later, a contest was held for the best decorated bicycle. All of them were very colourful and cleverly decorated. On Thursday morning the younger children had a costume parade around the block which was followed by judging of the costumes. The ball team lost its game with MacKillop playground 13-9.

Beverly Acres
"On Wheels Week" proved to be another successful week at Beverly Acres Playground with an average daily attendance of 220 children. On Monday, all the children brought coat hangers for crafts. They used them in making
