Patti-Lu's Dress Shop Opens In New Location Thursday, September 10

OPENING TODAY at 24 Yonge Street, Richmond Hill is the newest ladies' wear store in town. Mrs. Patricia Anderson who trades under the name of Patti-Lu claims that it is now "the largest ladies' wear store in the district."

The new store is situated in the same block containing the new hardware store owned by the Hill family which is also slated to open its doors next Tuesday.

Free Gifts For All Patti-Lu is launching her new establishment in style. There will be a free gift for every customer who enters the store today, tomorrow and Saturday. Humorous Pat Anderson told her reporter "unless it is two million of course, then I'll be giving away the store."

Wonderful Draw Prizes There will also be lucky spot prizes for customers who happen to be standing under certain prearranged lucky spots on the ceiling at given times. Every customer will also participate free of charge in a lucky draw which will be drawn after one month at the new store. Prizes number four as follows: 1st Prize, A Rene Original Imported Dress from Paris, 2nd, A triple sheer Harvey Woods waltz length gown, 3rd, mantled slim authentic tartan and vest, 4th, a garment fitted girdle and bra specially fitted for the winner.

Fashion Shows A fashion show will also be provided at stated hours at intervals. Readers should telephone the store for time schedule. Pat Anderson says she is employing all trained Richmond Hill girls for the fashion shows. She says that Richmond Hill has quite a selection of "the cutest little things".

Mrs. Patricia Anderson Proprietor of the Patti-Lu Dress Shop which opens today in its new location.

Who is Mrs. Anderson. Most people in the district know her more familiarly as "Patti-Lu" because that is the name by which her store is known.

Delight In fashion woman herself who is able to show off a gown at its best she delights in making other women look beautiful in the dresses she provides.

Modelled At Sixteen Pat was educated at the Elia School, Downsview and fell in love with beautiful clothes at an early age. She started modelling while still attending High School and later joined the staff of the Lady Ellis Stores and was manager of the branch store on Eslington Ave. for eight years.

For some time she served as a buyer for Fairwatters. "Never Dictate To Public" Patti-Lu says of customers however, "You should never dictate to the public - they pay your rent and deserve the best service you can give them."

Of dresses she says, "I like dresses and I like the people who wear them. I delight in showing them how to wear them to advantage. I love to show them how to put feeling into a dress."

Patti-Lu felt that her listener, a mere man, would hardly appreciate this, but no doubt lady readers will be fully appreciative of the message Pat was trying to put across. That she is entirely sincere there can be no doubt.

A Long Time Dream Concerning Richmond Hill, Pat had this to say, "In 11 years in business in the city, I could never get on such good terms with customers as it is possible in this delightful town. Now here in Richmond Hill, everybody calls me 'Pat' and I know them all by name. They come back again and again. We sometimes have a coffee together and always pass the time of day. It is so much more friendly and personalized than it can ever be in a large bustling city where everybody seems to be always in such a rush."

While this was being said a customer entered the store. Patti-Lu passed the time of day with the lady. There was a delightful small conversation between them while your reporter stood by, until the customer finally made a selection and said, "I think I'll take that one dear."

WON'T THAT BE NICE! PICKERING: Work on the Consumers' Gas pipe line was ordered stopped by Deputy-revee McPherson after council had agreed the pipe line was in the wrong place.

We are happy to note that Joyce McDonald is now a senior probationer, having spent the past two months at the General Hospital. This means an extra ribbon on her cap for her return to Stratford.

The Cummer Lees spent a recent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Sher and their family at Green River. All the small fry had a wonderful time with the ponies for possession of which Earl has quite a reputation.

On Tuesday of last week, Mrs. Acreman took the boys of her Sunday School class for a picnic to Wilcox Lake. We were sorry that Keith and Richard Burton could not go with them, but that was the day they left for a short holiday away from home.

Mrs. McDougal visited for a few days last week with the Cummer Lees, staying over to keep the twins, while Cummer and Jean and Bob visited the Ex. The Elmer Lees were at the big fair on Wednesday last also.

Gordie Lee spent a few days last week with his cousin Charlie, small son of Herb and Cille Lee; while Gloria returned to Toronto with Grandma McDougal. They were all back home for Sunday, when Mr. and Mrs. Harold McDougal with Patti Jean also spent the day with the Cummer Lees.

Joan and Nora Wellman also stayed with their grandmother, Mrs. Wm. Wellman, on their way back from the Exhibition. We enjoyed having them in church and

Bargain Sale At Isobel Hewitt's

Mrs. Isobel Hewitt who owns the woollens and handicrafts store at 14 Yonge Street North is currently engaged in a large sale and is offering excellent bargains in woollens and handicrafts to her customers.

Mrs. Hewitt was born in Toronto and educated in the city at Harvard College. During World War 11 she served with the RCAF Women's Service and was for a time stationed in Washington, D. C. It was while there she met her future husband J. Albert Hewitt who is an architect. No wishing to leave Canada, she persuaded her husband to emigrate to Canada and to adopt Canadian citizenship.

The couple came to Richmond Hill 12 years ago when they bought a lot from Ada McKenzie and built their home at 95 Highland Lane. The present business was established in 1951.

Mrs. Hewitt is anxious to completely restock her store and is now selling out the existing stocks at bargain prices.
