ing at the home of Mrs. John Heard, Observatory House, Yonge Street South, Richmond Hill. Mrs. Bruce Davis of King, Psychologist at the Institute of Child Study, will be the guest speaker. Dinner will commence at 6:30 and a charge of $1.75 per person is being made.

It is expected that a number of study groups will be active once again, and the Programme Committee, headed by Mrs. J. C. Belknap of King, has arranged an interesting roster of speakers for the fall meetings. These include Miss Lois Parkhill and Mr. Bruce Marsi. of the C. B. C. who will address the October meeting. Both are well known on C. B. C. television and Mr. Marsi was a member of the party accompanying the Queen on her recent Canadian tour.

During the late spring and early summer months one of the many worthwhile undertakings of the parent body, the Canadian Federation of University women, was its suggestion to the Prime Minister of Canada that the gift to the Queen on the occasion of her Canadian visit should take the form of a donation to establish a permanent fund for a graduate scholarship or scholarships for women. There is an urgent need for such scholarships none of which now exist. It was suggested these might be similar in terms and tenure to the Rhodes scholarships and recipients might be designated "Queen's Scholars." The C. F. U. W.'s proposal was supported by similar submissions to the Prime Minister from other national women's organizations.

Discuss Private Operation North Yonge Bus Line

At the regular monthly meeting of the Co-ordinating Committee of Richmond Hill, Markham and Vaughan, held in Markham Township Council Chambers on Wednesday evening of last week, the committee had an informal session with Mr. Larry Needler to discuss the possibility of the privately owned Newmarket Bus Lines providing a North Yonge bus service, similar to that now operated by the T.T.C. The present agreement with the T.T.C. is up for renewal and pending a report from the solicitor for the three municipalities as well as a report from the T.T.C. auditor regarding cost-per-mile-per-passenger for bus service from Richmond Hill to Steeles Avenue, the co-ordinating committee is investigating other avenues of service, unofficially.

Reeve John Perry said at a meeting of Vaughan Township Council on Monday of last week, "It should be made perfectly clear the co-ordinating committee is not drawing any conclusions yet regarding bus service. We have promised the T.T.C. we will hear their auditor's report. We do not wish to jeopardize our good standing with them, in having the T.T.C. believe we are negotiating with other parties before their report is presented and acted upon."

The Newmarket Bus Line which presently travels on the east side of Richmond Hill down Bayview to Steeles, across Steeles and down Yonge St. to Front St., would, Mr. Needler said, pick up as far north in Richmond Hill as the Elgin Mills sideroad, should such a service as his be instituted. Now running nine trips daily to and from the city, it was predicted the number of trips needed under the new plan would be 43 daily. Now handling almost 8,000 passengers a month, Mr. Needler would of course have to purchase more busses to provide such transportation.

Mr. Needler said he was interested in three questions which he proceeded to present to the co-ordinating committee. (1) How would deficit and profit be distributed. He said he felt that the bus line owner should come in for the profit-sharing, over expenses, as an incentive to giving bigger and better service.

(2) He asked about type of service required and suggested two after-midnight (around 2.30 to 3.30 a.m.) trips which are considered money-losers, having only one or two passengers aboard, might profitably be dropped.

He also asked whether his present system, i.e. carrying passengers directly to Front St. for the one all-inclusive fare should be continued. At present Mr. Needler's line transports passengers at the same price as the T.T.C. with, we understood, the trip to Front St., which would normally be paid for extra, thrown in. However, he said his was merely a proposal and he had no figures to offer the committee but was merely meeting with them to find out if they would entertain a proposal for service from him.

(3) This question was in regards to the length of agreement, which both he and the committee said should be for ten years, with regular check-ups throughout the time of contract regarding costs, fares, etc.

Mayor Ken Tomlin of Richmond Hill, who sat in on the committee meeting said, "We only wish to negotiate for a service proposed at cost. We don't want any deficit or profit — just at cost." He then said all three municipal Reeves and he as Mayor had met with the T.T.C.'s solicitor, with their own solicitor in attendance and it was agreed an accounting report is to be presented at which time the three municipalities expect a complete analysis of the line under the present agreement so they can have a black and white picture of how the line is handled.

In conclusion Mayor Tomlin said "I think that the municipalities are interested in maintaining the service for development and industrial and commercial purposes. Technically we want one that can be operated at cost."

Councillor W. J. Haggart of Richmond Hill, said, "We have to look at it this way — how much does cost cost?"

Mayor Tomlin said the T.T.C. has been operating at cost, "but that does not give us 'cost to us'." The T.T.C. claims that former profits have been derived from business south of Steeles and that a new contract from the town to Steeles may show a deficit for the three municipalities.

Deficit or profit whichever it is to be the bus line will continue to serve the people of the three municipalities, and until the accountants' statements are prepared and presented no further action will be taken regarding a bus service contract.

Dugald McCowan, chairman of the co-ordinating committee, asked if Mr. Needler could operate a bus service to compare with the present T.T.C. service. Mr. Needler said that would depend on the time element, meaning a 10 year contract. And, "Is it going to be a contract whereby the municipalities pay deficits and share any profits? If so, then why wouldn't it be feasible to operate it?"

The next meeting of the co-ordinating committee is to discuss sewage. The meeting in October will be held at Richmond Hill and Mayor Tomlin suggested a Mr. J. Heisey would be pleased to present a revolutionary system of disposing of sewage, somewhat similar to that used in Chicago. The Mayor said, "As regards Mr. Gardiner — if we had such a system as Mr. Heisey outlines we would not be polluting streams — we would be improving them."

For discussion in the not too distant future — a hospital servicing the three municipalities.

Ate 210 Chickens!

A wonderful Dollar Day Special, offered to the people of Richmond Hill last week during Richmond Heights Plaza celebrations, was made available at Pop's Restaurant. A huge banner in the window announced "Special — Chicken Dinner — $1.00." A chicken dinner for only $1.00!

The rush was soon on. The same people returned lunch time and dinner time, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The chickens rapidly disappeared down hundreds of appreciative throats.

Tally at the end of Richmond Heights Dollar Days — seven bushels of chickens eaten. At about 30 chickens to the bushel this means 210 chickens eaten.

How many chicken dinners was that? Better ask Pop, eh! Your reporter can't give ALL the secrets of the trade away!

Pop says, "But wait till next time. When is next time? October 29, 30, and 31. Watch for it and remember "Liberal" readers get all the news FIRST.

HAVE YOU HEARD THIS ONE?

The oil company executive was entertaining a chorus girl and had just explained how his company was one of the biggest in the business... with eleven hundred gas stations.

"Well, I think it's just wonderful how lucky you oil people are," she said. "Every time you drill in one of those places you strike gasoline."

"You'll strike it rich when you depend upon us for all your dry cleaning care too. Because it's a fact — you'll save money in the long run with regular dry cleaning care. Not only will your clothes look better but they'll last longer. Try us soon and see."

No Decision On Proposed County Planning Board

A special meeting of York County Council was held on Thursday evening, to hear Mr. Pearson of the Department of Planning & Development discuss the proposed establishment of a county planning board. In summarizing his remarks, Mr. Pearson pointed out that the county could not hope to plan on its own without co-operating with those municipalities on its borders. He said that in the past the thinking of council had been mainly rural, but in the future it would have to be expanded, as much of the county was becoming urban. His advice was to proceed slowly with the full co-operation of all existing boards.

$35,000 to Start
Mr. Pearson, in answer to a question, estimated that a planning board would cost the county $35,000 in its first year of operation, and that this would likely expand to $50,000 inside of five years. He said they would require a planning director and public relations man. Present boards would continue as they are, he said.

Asked about those municipalities already in Metro jurisdiction, and there are six, Mr. Pearson said that he believed that the county board would be busy enough handling remaining eight without seeking to obtain jurisdiction over any others.

Reeve Clark of Markham Township said he thought this would be very difficult to establish if all municipalities were not included. The speaker said that all incorporated areas would have a member on the board without regard to population.

Only a Bedroom
Mr. Bryan, chairman of the Woodbridge Board, asked what the county board could do for an area that Metro could not do. He said that his board considered that Metro wished to "grab" all the industry and use Woodbridge only as sleeping quarters, with all the expense of educating the children.

Mr. Pearson replied that he would hope that if a county board was organized, it would be in the spirit of co-operation and not controversy.

Lorne Evans, former chairman of the Whitchurch Planning Board of Whitchurch Twp., said that he considered the county board desirable, but 25 years too late.

The question was left with the county planning committee for consideration.
