Along about last Christmas or soon afterwards, wee Martha Calder developed a bit of a wheeze in her throat, which as time went on did not become worse nor did it disappear. It was variously diagnosed as a cold or an allergy, and not being quite satisfied with this, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Calder last week took their small daughter to the Sick Children's Hospital for x-rays. On Thursday last they left the little girl there, and on Friday a large button was removed from her esophagus, so now she is feeling nicely and will be home again this week. Had this object entered the trachea, results could have been much more serious. Truly mothers need eyes in the backs of their heads!

Sunday was a day to remember in Headford Church. It was Rally Day in the Sunday School and combined with it were the promotions which only occur here every three years. It was a joint service, with the school seated in the choir loft and ably taking part in the service. Stewart Rumble, Superintendent, read Psalm 96, alternately with them; and the school as a whole read the Scripture lesson. Next they sang a song of the miraculous Draught of Fishes, with wee Connie Burton performing a star part. (There have occasionally been speculations as to what will become of our choir in a few years, but Sunday's service set all our fears at rest.) Then came promotions, and as Mr. Rumble called their names, the pupils came down, passing through a decorated arbor, to be greeted by their new teachers, and taken to the centre of the Church. When all the pupils were down the whole centre of the Church was full and a row of 's at the back was needed.

Following were promoted from Cradle Roll to Beginners: Connie Burton, Linda Snider, Gordie Lee, Gloria Lee, Bruce Terry, Paul Welton, Mary Ellen Johnson, Jenny Calder - teachers Elizabeth Barker and Ann Curtis.

From Beginners to Primary: Ian Calder, Mark Terry, Larry Burton, Brenda Wellman, Jeanette McDonald, Tommy Clarkson and Michael Calder. Teacher - Marg. Brodie. From Primary to Junior: (Girls) Jean Clark, Rosemary Leek, Margaret McDonald, Jacqueline McDonald, Donna Morrison, Sharon Bell, Kathy Burton, and Janet Johnston. Their teacher is Cora Brodie.

Boys — Bobby Lee, Carl Morrison, Richard Burton, Keith Burton, David Terry and Billy Clarkson, with Mrs. Acreman.

From Junior to Intermediate: Alfred Johnston, Albert Leek, Sharon Rumble, Sharon Johnston, Norine Simpson, Christine Terry - Teacher, Mrs. Cummer Lee.

From Intermediate to Senior: Susan Terry, Barbara McDonald, Austin Johnston, John Rumble, David Rumble, Murray Clarkson, Frances Toyne, Diane Toyne, Terry Morrison, and Frank Toyne.

On Sunday evening, it was your correspondent's privilege to attend, as guest of the Brodie family, the Annual Church Service of the Junior Farmers, in the lovely old Church at Sharon. There was a very fair attendance, with some of the local folk in the choir. Guest speaker was Rev. Norman Pick of Markham, who gave a wonderful sermon on "I am the resurrection and the life," from John 11-15. Soloist was Angus Morton. A fireside followed in the basement.

Related Anniversary greetings to Mary and Jim Curtis for September 19; and congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Horner for September 26. Birthday greetings also for the 26th to Melvin Wellman.

Mr. Elmer Leek and his family were guests for dinner of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Leek of Gormley on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wellman, with Brenda and Paul, called on Mrs. Marshall in Collingwood on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Frampton of Longe Branch, sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Acreman, visited the Acremans on Sunday.

Next Sunday will be Anniversary at Headford. Service in the morning be at eleven o'clock, when Mr. Barrett will address the congregation. The evening service at 7.30 (sermonously announced last week for 7 o'clock) will be in charge of Rev. Curtis of Mr. Albert. Music will be by the York Choraleers; all of which adds up to a very fine day. Services in Victoria Square and Browns' Corners will be withdrawn, as also will be Sunday School at Headford.

A goodly number attended the joint service of Carrville and Thornhill at Thornhill United Church on Sunday morning to hear Rev. Hugh R. MacDonald, B.A., B.D., of Minden, Ontario, in view of a call to this charge. The church was quite well filled and with a unanimous vote, the congregation expressed the desire to have Mr. MacDonald come and be their minister for the joint charge of Carrville and Thornhill if passed by presbyteries of each charge.

While Rev. Mr. MacDonald is quite young, he proved himself very capable of the challenge given to him. It is hoped he will be released by his present charge and soon able to start here.
