

Milk Roundsman Buys Business

EMILE VAN LAERE who was born in Belgium and educated at Antwerp High School and emigrated to Canada in 1956 is the owner of the new Allencourt Hardware.

Back in Belgium Emile worked all his life since leaving school in the hardware business, but when you emigrate to a new country you cannot always be employed in the trade or profession you are best qualified for, and the most successful immigrants are those who are willing and able to adapt themselves to just any kind of employment which they are able to obtain.

Hardware To Milk Round
From the hardware business to milk is a far cry perhaps but employment as a milkman was the only job Emile was able to land arriving in Canada. He obtained this post as soon as he needed and proved himself not only adaptable but successful too holding it down for four whole years during which time he built up a considerably more valuable business than he took on, although modestly he does not like to boast about such achievements. Back in Belgium

All the time Emile was waiting and hoping for an opportunity back in his old love — the hardware business. And at last he has succeeded. He has left the milk round to co-partner in the Allencourt Hardware.

Emile lives at 380 Broadvale Crescent, Beverley Acres, with his wife Matilda, and their two children, Brenda aged 9 and Paul aged two years.

Gift to the "Queen"
The Allencourt Hardware gave a splendid gift of a golden cup and saucer set to Miss Allencourt, 1959, when she won the title recently and other gifts to the runners-up.

St. Mary's Guild 1st Fashion Show

By: Mona Robertson

St. Mary's Anglican Church Evening Guild held a very successful first fashion show in Warwick Hall on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of last week with a total attendance of five hundred persons for both nights — including quite a number of men who seemed not at all bored but just as interested as the ladies and teenage girls present to view the latest Fall and Winter fashions.

This was a "first" for this type of venture for the ladies of the Guild and President Mrs. Heather Blaney said in thanking those present for their support, "We were very fortunate in being sponsored by Warwick House, Shield's Footwear and the Richmond Gift Shop."

The lovely theme of Autumn was carried out admirably by Mrs. Flowers, in the decoration of the hall and runway, for the models, with great sheafs of wheat, a cornucopia of autumn vegetables and, a salute to Richmond Hill's latest form of recreation, a curling stone decorating the upper stage and lending an air of casual sophistication.

Warwick Butt as style moderator described gowns, sports clothes, shoes, jewelry and hairdos, as the models, all members, or daughters of members of the Evening Guild swirled and posed in a most professional and pleasing manner.

The showing included a large number of carefully co-ordinated color combinations in casual, sports and semi-dress wear and each costume was complimented by Shield's fine footwear, and jewelry from the Richmond Gift Shop and Warwick House. The different "matched sets" in purses and shoes featured the season's newest styles and shades for casual, tailored or dress wear, as the models put their (two) best feet forward.

The jewelry collection featured the popular medallion necklace and a wide assortment of bracelets, in many different metals, styles and arrangements; as well as earrings and glamour pins which gave just the final, and "just right" touch to milady's costume.

A necklace of coins was one of the different styles which Warwick had imported for his Richmond Height's Plaza Shop.

Fashion-wise, we would say that the women and girls of Richmond Hill are most fortunate in the opening of so many stores "just for women," during the past year... and the measure of the success these various stores in town are enjoying through the patronizing of local buyers, is, we feel, due to the keen perception of these who run the shops and who select the right kind of clothes, at a price that pleases.

Mohair, is back in the fashion news, and Warwick House showed a stunning skirt of mohair, in soft gold shade, with co-ordinated topper while another model, wearing a striking red dress of wool wore a cocktail hat made of black mohair bows and net.

Among the models, (with our choice of their most becoming outfits — of course we, like everyone else present — simply loved every outfit shown) were: Miss Beverley Higgins in a black velvet dress with striking-white stole; Mrs. Heather Blaney in a Persiana grey coat with Wink collar; Mrs. Anna Little in a two-piece Loden green Sun Valley outfit with subdued check top and Little Bobbie Hazelwood, 333 Paliser Crescent South, is a lucky little boy. His name was entered in the lucky draw organized by SHELTON-MANSELL MOTORS during the recent grand opening of their branch in Richmond Hill which is on Yonge Street near the Richmond Theatre. The prize was a genuine replica Austin Sports car and doesn't young Master Hazelwood look pleased with his win. He will be awfully popular with his pals from now on. They will all want to ride in this beautiful little car.

"Dear Mr. Editor"

Dear Mr. Editor: In the issue of your paper dated October 8, it was stated that Grade 13 of the Richmond Hill High School, after consultation with their principal, have decided to call off initiation because of the large number of Grade 9 students in proportion to the Grade 13's. The ratio according to your article is 5 to 1 which is approximately correct. The statement which has been referred to is however a misrepresentation of the facts. The Grade 13 students of this school are in favor of initiations and the cancellation of it is due to Mr. W. Morrow, who made his decision arbitrarily and without regard to any suggestions or plans from the Grade 13 classes of his school.

Mr. Morrow has thus stated that the ratio of students is much too high this year for a practical initiation. May it be pointed out that in 1955 when most of the present Grade 13's entered Grade 9, the ratio at R.H.S. at the time was approximately 5 to 1. This is an approximate taken from the "Orbit" of that year which in class lists tabulates 26 Grade 13 students and 133 Grade 9 students. In all fairness we must remember that in the years following 1955, the school population has more than doubled, but the ratio has remained constant.

R.H.S. is presently holding a magazine campaign which at this time, after five days of operation is sadly lagging behind its quota. We feel that this is due to a lack of general school spirit which cannot wholly be blamed on the cancellation of initiation. We would suggest that measures such as this one are not helping the situation. As graduates of R.H.S. will remember initiation was a glad experience both in Grade 9 (although perhaps it was not recognized at that time) and in Grade 13.

We, this year's Grade 13, would like this tradition to be carried on.

Signed — Grade 13

Enjoyed Visit To Richmond Hill

Dear Editor: — May I ask the courtesy of your columns to express my thanks to the many kind people who made my recent three months holiday in Richmond Hill such a memorable and happy event in my life. The friends whom I made are too numerous for me to have any hope of thanking them individually.

I was pleased to find my son and his family so happily settled in such a pleasant and thriving community, and I hope to return to it for a longer visit in 1961.

I thoroughly enjoyed reading your newspaper and have requested my son to forward me copies so that I may keep abreast of what is happening in Richmond Hill.

Yours truly, Alice Broadhurst (Note: Mrs. Broadhurst recently returned to England after a pleasant visit with her son, Mr. Tom Broadhurst, 343 North Taylor-Mills Drive, Ed)

Another Store On Yonge Street

George Richard Blake who is married and lives in Willowdale but hopes eventually to move into Richmond Hill, owns the "Melody Record Store" in the Willowdale Theatre Block on Yonge Street. Mr. Blake has now opened a branch store in the Richmond Theatre Block on Yonge Street, Richmond Hill. His wife Bette operates the Willowdale Store while an assistant has been moved up from Willowdale to operate the Richmond Hill store.

Emigrated From England

Mr. and Mrs. Blake came originally from London, England, where they were also educated. Before emigrating to Canada, and following his school and college education, Mr. Blake served with the Royal Air Force on aircrew duties and spent some time with the RAF in the Middle East. After this he studied architecture and was employed in an architects office.

Records & Repair Service

The store in Willowdale has been very successful, Mr. Blake reports and so many of his regular customers were from Richmond Hill that he decided it would be more convenient for them if he established in the town, which he has now done. Besides the sale of all the popular records, the store will accept record players and tape recorders for repair.

plain co-ordinated skirt; Sue Butt in a white nylon housecoat with one red-velvet applique pocket. Mrs. Maud Davies, mother of Mrs. Wright, who has been here on a visit from the states, and who graciously offered to model clothes for the older woman, won a round of applause when she modelled superbly a black wool dress and grey Persiana hip-length shortie coat.

Mrs. Adrien Edwards was stunning in a rust jersey wool sheath with cool neckline and we enjoyed seeing Mrs. Dorothy Plaxton in an Arday of California dress of holly red, perfect for holiday entertaining in a semi-formal setting; Mrs. K. Wallace demonstrated with her modelling how to look your smartest in a co-ordinated slack and mohair sweater set. Miss Anne White looked very charming in a turquoise corduroy tunic, to be worn with or without a blouse, depending on the occasion; Mrs. Grace Jackson very smartly turned out in a two piece black wool dress and Miss Sue Higgins, in an "Eskimo coat" of white shaggy nylon, with northern-fur hood, made a pretty picture.

From twinkling toes, to shinning coiffures — Sellwood's Beauty Salon dressed each model's hair to suit her personality — our local models wore the latest fashions "From the Hill" to the very best advantage and when the prizes were awarded to various members of the audience during intermission, the lucky ones were more than delighted with their winnings. Mrs. White, mother of model Anne White won the grand prize — an outfit by Casual Girl; Mrs. Marg McPhee, 1 free watch cleaning; Mrs. Eleanor Lecuyer, a Hathaway skirt; Helen Gator, a pair of cashmere shoes from Shield's Footwear; Lois Doctor, a kitten sweater from Warwick House; Mrs. Lorna Kerwin, bedroom slippers from Shields; Mrs. Binkley, a Susan Van Husen shirt and Mrs. Maurice, a surprise gift from the Richmond Gift Shop.

Each lady attending the show was presented with a sample D. Barry make-up compact; and enjoyed seeing Mrs. Rita McGuire do a make-up job on Mrs. Anne Swartz, convener of the fashion show for the Evening Guild — during intermission.

Tuesday evening winners: Mrs. Kasarowki, slippers from Shields; Margaret Riach, bracelet from Richmond Gift Shop; Mrs. Dorgan Van Husen, blouse; Warwick; Mrs. Ned Hill, housecoat; Mrs. E. Robinson, silk square and Mrs. Ian Macdonald gift from Main-prize drugs; Mrs. Paul Morley, gloves; Mrs. C. Lilly, shoes from Shields; La Verne Flannigan, surprise from Richmond Gifts.

Convicted on charges of robbery and possession of stolen goods when they appeared in Magistrate's Court, Newmarket on Monday of last week, Gerard Desjardins and Orielle Robinson, both of Palermo, Ontario, received sentences of two months from Magistrate O. S. Hollinrake, on Tuesday, October 13th.

Following a break in of the premises of the Ontario Power Line Construction Company, Richmond Hill and the removal of goods to the value of $350.00, the two thieves were arrested by Constable D. ## Principal Morrow Made Decision On Initiation Further to the news item in last week's issue stating that initiations have been cancelled at Richmond Hill High School it should be clarified that the decision was made by Principal F. W. Morrow. Mr. Morrow explained the reasons for his decision to grade 13 but the actual decision was his own.

It was felt the rapid growth in school population had made it impractical to continue the initiations any longer. There is now a population ratio of 5 to 1 as between grade 9 and grade 13 students. Mr. Morrow advised grade 13 last year that it would likely mark the end of initiations. The North York and Vicinity Headmasters Association meeting in Newmarket last May recommended that initiations be discontinued.
