During Austerity Week Take A Refuge With You

During the past few months we in Canada have been given a real insight into the plight of hundreds of thousands of refugees, through the press, radio and television. But, for many, the astronomical figures on the number of refugees (at least 15-million) who still exist in our "free" world transcends the imagination. The problem is too often shrugged off with "what can I, as an individual citizen, do about it?"

One concrete answer to this personal dilemma comes from Port Hope, a relatively small town on the shore of Lake Ontario, which has formed a community committee for World Refugee Year. Taking the incorporated name of their town as their cue, Port Hope's aim is to renew the Hope of thousands by suggesting to every Canadian that he should "Take a Refugee with You".

Every one of us can "Take a Refugee with Us" by exercising some personal sacrifice, and turning the saving over to World Refugee Year.

We can all do this, most particularly from April 24-30, 1966, which Mayor Ken Tomlin has proclaimed Austerity Week, as part of a national plan announced by the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities to help the refugees.

April 24-30, you can "Take a Refugee with You" in innumerable ways. It's Monday, and you go into a restaurant for lunch or dinner. Take your refuge with you — by setting aside the price of an extra meal, or even a glass of milk.

It's Tuesday, and you take your morning coffee or tea break. Take your refuge with you — by treating your refuge to the price of a cup (you might have had a second cup, if your refuge had not been with you).

Wednesday, a half-holiday in many communities, and you take the bus or train to visit friends. Take your refuge with you. This refugee child or adult has never enjoyed a trip. Be sure to tell your friends about your constant refugee companion during Austerity Week.

Thursday, and perhaps you'll go to the movies. Take your refuge with you — and set aside the price of an extra admission. Friday, shopping for the weekend. Take your refuge with you — by contributing the price of a pound of butter, a tin of soup, a dozen eggs.

Throughout Austerity Week we can all make some personal sacrifice in this way and send the money we save to Mayor Tomlin, Richmond Hill, marked for World Refugee Year. In Austerity Week we can, each one of us, make some conscious effort to help, no matter how great or small. In Austerity Week we can do something to help, as an individual. We can if we will.

It wouldn't be practical for Imperial to divide its income dollar the way the people in our picture are doing. A more exact division is required, as you can see from the figures below.

Here's how Imperial's income dollar is divided

Last year, out of every dollar Imperial took in:

- 55 cents was spent for raw materials—mostly crude oil—and for freight, a big item in a big country.
- 25 cents went for costs of operating the company. This included wages and salaries for our 13,000 employees.
- 9 cents was for depreciation, money set aside to help pay for replacing worn-out equipment.
- 5 cents went to various taxes (not including provincial road taxes ranging from 10 to 18½ cents per gallon).
- 6 cents was left. But two of these had to be set aside for equipment to make new products and for expansion of things like refineries and service stations to meet the public needs.
- 4 cents was left for the shareholders—whose investment made the company possible.
