Washing Machine Urgently Needed

People of Richmond Hill and district have many appeals for worthy causes and the generosity of our citizens has been proven time and time again. There are so many appeals for worthy causes in this and distant lands that sometimes we are apt to overlook needing and deserving cases right on our own doorstep.
There is in Richmond Hill a deserted mother, making a valiant struggle to keep together her family of eight young children. She had a washing machine and refrigerator but both have been repossessed by the finance company. She's finding it difficult to carry on without them, and we wondered if any of our readers could help solve the problem.
If you have a used model of either of these items they will be very welcome. Maybe some organization would like to do a little missionary work here at home, and anyone interested may secure full details from the editor of this column, TU, 4-1105.

WE CAN'T THINK OF A "Z"

Somewhere on
Yonge St. in Richmond Hill there
must be an article beginning with the letter "Z" that somebody wants to buy.
But, for the life of
us, we can't think of
it at the minute, as
this message from
Yonge Street's Business and Professional Association members is being written.

But from "A" to "Y"
- that's a different story. It's safe to say that the list of goods
and services beginning with those letters - and the ones in between - runs into
thousands.

Just think of a few
amusements - cars -
dresses - typewriters
- hardware - grocer-
ies - professional services - furniture -
travel services - the
list is endless.

And the beauty of
the situation, from
the shopper's point
of view, is that there
is no need to travel
miles from one place
to another to find
those goods and services - at prices that
are RIGHT. The 107
business and professional establishments on Yonge St.
in the Hill are reasonably close together. They form a
"shopping centre"
that offers quality -
price - selection - all that goes to make
real value.

Before shopping
elsewhere, why not
see what Yonge St. in Richmond Hill has to offer? The members
of its business group
are YOUR neighbors
- men and women
with a stake in YOU
with a stake in
YOUR community -
people who help to
carry the load of local activities. They will welcome the opportunity to serve
you.
