"Christmas In August" Richvale Gospel Chapel

"Christmas in August" was the successful theme for the Richvale Gospel Chapel last Sunday when 120 children contributed gifts destined for the African children of the Dr. Ross Woodward Mission. The unique occasion was directed by Mr. Ed. Bunn of Aurora, one of the Sunday School teachers and saw a mass of school supplies plastic toys and other lightweight gifts contributed by the children, including sufficient money to take care of postal costs to Africa. Lightweight gifts were encouraged because a greater variety of school supplies and gifts could thus be realized.

Special guests included Dr. and Mrs. Bob Stevens who recently returned from troubled Congo. They acted out a market-scene dialogue. Mrs. Stevens, dressed in authentic African clothes, with a basket on her head and a baby on her back, talked about her life and family and offered for sale typical African manufactured articles such as ebony carvings, wooden combs and bark cloth. The dialogue proved to be an excellent means of familiarizing the audience with some of the African culture and economy.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baker entertained with a guitar-accompanied duet and Mr. Baker rendered several solos as well. Recording the affair was Mrs. Peter Smith. The "Christmas in August Party" took place at the Richvale Gospel Hall.

Charles Hooper To Study Russian Farm Methods

Charles Hooper of Buttonville, well-known Markham Township farmer and a former councillor, reeve and warden of the county, left Malton Airport Monday evening bound for Russia and a first hand inspection of the Soviet agricultural picture. By the time he gets back home on September 16 (in time for his daughter Mary's wedding the day after) he expects to have satisfied his curiosity about Russia's farm methods which, he said, was aroused two years ago during a trip to England where he came in contact with farmers from the Soviet Union.

Mr. Hooper is part of a 10-member group, farmers all. The tour was organized by CKNO-TV, Wingham, and he and his nine companions are representative of most of the province. Mr. Hooper said before leaving Canada that his companions will fly from Russia to England and then return to Canada. In England they will also concern themselves with farm problems and techniques.

Paid Top Price For Pony

The highest price ever paid for a pony at auction in Canada, $4,500., was the selling price of Capt. Black's Symphony at the dispersal sale of Cousin's Shetland ponies at Aurora last week.

The purchaser was Clarence Graham of Woodbridge who is the owner of a string of prize winning ponies. Clarence is well known in this district having attended Richmond Hill High School when his parents farmed on concession two, Vaughan. His wife is the former Laurina Rutherford of Vellore.

The Graham ponies may be seen at the "Ex" this week and are rated among the top prize winners.
