HAVE YOU HEARD THIS ONE?

Two hobos in New York were reading a newspaper left on a park bench. Glancing at one of the headlines, MAN WANTED FOR BURGLARY - IN CALIFORNIA, one of them sighed:

"Sounds good, if it wasn't so darn far away I'd apply."

Vaughan Reeveship—
Lively Interest Seen In Strong 3-Man Race

A wide open race for the reeveship of Vaughan Township was guaranteed Monday evening at the Maple Community Centre when three ratepayers formally filed their intentions to run. Another healthy race is in the offing for the deputy-reeveship, a development not generally expected since it was felt that Jesse Bryson, incumbent councillor would receive an acclamation.

Contesting the reeve's office will be Albert Harrison Rutherford, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, insurance agent, former councillor and deputy-reeve, Vic Ryder, deputy-reeve for the last two years and Eric W. Anstey of Thornhill, who is seeking to move up from his position as councillor. Mr. Ryder, of Kleinberg, also is an insurance agent. Jesse Bryson will be opposed by Ronald M. Fenn, former Thornhill real estate agent.

Rutherford
 In his acceptance speech, Mr. Rutherford said the great need for whoever was elected reeve would be greater consideration of the average taxpayer, better lines of communication between the various township departments and well planned industrial and residential development. He said there should be close co-operation between the area school board, the planning board and council and that new developments should be made to provide adequate school sites. He went on: "It is also my opinion that developers should provide water, paved streets and sewers and should not expect township residents as a whole to carry the burden." He contended that the official plan for Vaughan, now finalized, was not a new project, but that five years ago the then council acquainted the people with it. There have been changes made in the plan, he said, and these changes should be the common property of the people to study and pass on. "I'm willing to spend time and study and energetic leadership if elected reeve," he said.

Ryder
 Vic Ryder reviewed the work of the roads committee of which he has been chairman for the last four years. "It has been the policy of your roads committee to facilitate the development of good roads throughout the township, and to gradually replace worn-out equipment." He said permanent paving of stretches of road on Bathurst Street and the 7th concession would be underway by spring, adding greatly to the good traffic situation. Last year, he said, approval was asked for $708,000.00 and a total approval came back for $415,000. All but $42,000 of an originally $330,000.00 approved for permanent roads and paving had been deleted due to changes in government policy. Subsequently approval was given for three and one half miles of base road reconstruction on Bathurst and Concession 7 and contracts for these projects in excess of $100,000 were awarded. The 7th Concession project has been approved by the Municipal Board while the other awaits approval. These projects were approved over and above the $415,000 already approved. A future seven-year roads program, he said, would outline heavy-traffic areas and help round out the overall roads situation in the township.

Turning to the formation of the area school board, he said council's thinking in that matter was conditioned in part by the fact that a co-ordinated industrial future would spread the benefits over all school supporters. Referring to the marshalling yard he said the same reason was applicable to the future assessment benefits which must follow the yards. Industrial assessment must not be taken away from any section, he said, but must be equitably shared for everyone's benefit, lessening financial school burdens while guaranteeing the best in education for everyone's children.

He also said that an industrial commission would be desirable, rejected out of hand election assistance from any person or faction whose ulterior motives would reflect in any way against the township's good and his personal integrity, and said his public and personal records were open to inspection. He said he was offering to the people the experience he had accumulated as a township executive and the organizer of a successful personal business, and respectfully asked for the support of the voters.

Anstey
 Mr. Anstey, the 23rd speaker, assured the crowd he didn't intend to take advantage of a captive audience, and would confine himself to pertinent facts. The qualities required by a reeve, he said, included administrative ability, planning ability, time to devote to municipal affairs and a desire to serve. "I humbly suggest that my experience as a public official has not left me without these qualities," he continued.

In the past four years I have attended some 800 meetings as councillor and committee member. For two years it's been my privilege to serve as chairman of the planning board and to represent Vaughan, Woodbridge and Toronto-Gove on the Metro Toronto Planning Board. It's been my privilege to help produce a workable official plan for Vaughan along with a by-law which zones every part of the township for specific uses. It must be approved by the Municipal Board and by you the taxpayers." Mr. Anstey said he has been greatly concerned with the question of red tape surrounding a farmer who wanted to leave part of his land to a family member and helped loosen these restrictive laws.

It is also against the non-renumerative road allowance situation which deprives property owners of part of their land when road widening projects are underway. This is unfair and I intend to hammer away at needed changes.

So far as attracting industry, he said, there is no magic wand. Vaughan would get only the industries its elected officials worked for. "Competition for new industry is keen," he pointed out, "and certain disadvantages face our township. Leadership and energy are required in this matter. He concluded by saying that if elected reeve he would fight vigorously for individual and township rights and proper developmental planning.
