Promise Lively Contest King Township Elections

During King Township nominations night in packed Kettleby Hall, every council seat was strongly - and politely - contested.

Township Clerk Harold Rose, Returning Officer, received the following nominations for December 5 elections:

Reeve — William Hodgson, farmer.

Deputy Reeve — Douglas Hutchins, farmer.

Ray Jennings, (withdrew) Wilfred Aitchison, farmer.

Norman MacMurchy, farmer.

Councillors (three to be elected) Gordon Cook, farmer.

Stanley Kuniski, farmer.

Jack Roubie, businessman.

Mrs. Ursula McLennan, housewife.

B. J. Langdon, bus line operator.

Trustees, Area 1 (three to be chosen)

Mrs. Loyis Tienkemp

Trevor Haight

Jack Guthrie

Albert Farran.

After 11 years on council, five as reeve, past Warden William Hodgson sought re-election on the basis of his record. "I won't promise you better service, because I've given the best I have," he told 200 ratepayers.

He reminded, the municipal building was established; nine bridges were built in the last five years, and 11 miles of paved roads constructed.

"I will give you the soundest municipal government I can render and will always be conscious of the tax dollar," Reeve Hodgson pledged.

Contesting the reeveship Mr. Douglas Hutchins, who spent three years as councillor and the past year as deputy-reeve, outlined six factors facing the modernization of township administration — better maintenance and road construction; better fire protection and policing; closer co-operation with police villages to help solve their growth problems; educational facilities; creating a more efficient administration; and supporting better planning of commercial, industrial, residential and agricultural assessment in the township.

Mr. Hutchins stated that if elected he would not accept the salary at present paid the reeve of King Township and set the figure "around $4,000." "I have a young family and responsibilities at home. A truck driver in King earns within $100. or $200 of that amount."

Mr. Hutchins said there was no intention to take the administrative part of fire protection away from police villages. He suggested township faced beginning a small efficient police force.

Mr. Wilfred Aitchison, defeated as deputy-reeve a year ago after seven years on Council, re-entered the field, opposing Mr. Norman MacMurchy, former member.

Mr. Aitchison said the new roads shed on the eighth concession, a county road, was necessary and overdue. He paid tribute to the retiring Building Inspector, Charles Ross and Roads Superintendent Chalmer Black, saying they had gone "to the senate of Township affairs."

Mr. MacMurchy promised "to try to do everything in the interests of ratepayers."

Five announced they would run for the office of three councillors. One-year members Mr. B. J. Langdon and Mr. Gordon Cook are contesting with Mr. Jack Roubie, Mrs. Ursula McLennan and Mr. Stanley Kuniski.

Mr. Cook urged purchase of a third maintainer of the roads department. "We need it more than we needed a township building this year," he declared.

Mr. Roubie said, "I think we need some one from the north part on council." He has been in business 10 years in Holland Marsh and said he knew many people around Kettleby.

Mr. Kuniski represented the "extreme west" section and said he and his brother operate a 200-acre farm, with a Holstein herd.

The only woman ever to run for King Township Council, Mrs. McLennan stated, "Because I have enjoyed living in King, I have been active in organizations. I cannot claim experience on council but I realize one must keep in continuous contact with its citizens. I have the time and energy and I feel I can make a contribution to this township."

Three-year Councillor Norman Taylor retired owing to the pressure of his electrical business.
