Present Sources Inadequate— Vaughan Water Situation Demands Energetic Action By Councillors

Strong objections to the meter-installation price of $20.00 were laid by William Collins of Crestwood Road at Monday's Vaughan Township council meeting and proved an unexpected part of a heavy Waterworks Committee agenda. Mr. Collins said the $20.00 meter fee plus the $36.00 per year for water represented an exorbitant outlay. "I don't believe any community pays as much for water," he said. Mr. Collins also complained about a poor type connection which he said, leaked every time the water was turned off and then on by the waterworks department in the line of duty. "We expected to pay $3.00 per month for a five-year period," he said. "The five years are up and there has been no reduction while in fact the situation has worsened with the addition of the blasted meters."

Waterworks Chairman Ruth McConkey said: "The meters are intended to spread more evenly the consumption costs among those who use more than their 36,000 gallons per year."

"It's too much," said Mr. Collins.

"Maybe it is, I don't know," replied Councillor McConkey.

"Well, I know," said Mr. Collins.

"Well, who do you think is going to pay for the water?" asked the councillor.

A member of the Langstaff Community Association on hand on other business rose to the defense of the township's first lady. "After the five years were up, the township had to put in additional machinery including purifiers," he said, "and in my view the meter-fee and added costs to those using more than 1,000 gallons per month is reasonable. The waterworks system must be paid for."

Mr. Collins wasn't satisfied. "The real estate boys should be made to pay part of the costs," he said. "They make all the money. A subdivision should be fully serviced before a single house is built on it." Said Councillor M. Windatt: "This council has inherited quite a few problems. We'll keep studying the situation."

Thawing Service
Council decided to continue to thaw frozen water services with rented equipment and that rental cost should be apportioned according to the portion of the service connection that was frozen. Councillor McConkey pointed out that the township is responsible for thawing its services from the box to the main, adding that the problem is considerably worse than last year when there were only four calls for the thawing service. The situation this year, though worse than last is not bad enough to warrant the township buying and operating its own equipment.

Concord
A further study is to be made of the water requirements in the Concord Subdivision at Dufferin Street. "The ratepayers' association in Concord has asked us if we can do anything," said Chairman McConkey. "They are completely without water there and have to bring it in in tanks. The association has agreed to make a thorough investigation of the entire water situation in the area and when we are in receipt of that information we will see what can be done."

Elgin Mills
At the same time council directed the township clerk to inquire by letter from the Elgin Mills property owners as to the adequacy of existing wells for the supply of water in that area.

Steeles Avenue
Still on water, council agreed with the waterworks committee that a meeting must be arranged with the Metropolitan Toronto Waterworks Department in an endeavour to acquire a limited water supply for the existing homes and businesses on the Weston Road immediately north of Steeles Avenue. Said Councillor McConkey: "The people in this area have been most patient. They've never been able to pin down the Metro authorities to a firm decision and we're going back to Metro once again."

Edgely
Township officials also agreed that representatives of the waterworks committee meet with representatives of the principals, Romdon Estates to discuss the water situation for the proposed recreational development in the Edgely area. This project envisages golf courses, motels, and allied buildings, all of which ultimately will cost $2,000,000. By 1962, when the first stages of the development will have been completed a great deal of water will be needed. By 1964 when the entire project will have been readied for business still more water will be required.

Exploration
Pointing up the need for more water sources, council will contact the International Water Supply Company for further exploration for ground water sources in the township. The locations involved will be approved by the water works committee and the township engineer.

The waterworks superintendent was instructed to meet with Mr. Frank Evison of Elgin Mills and discuss conditions of a possible two-inch service that would be available for him at the Carville pumping station. Mr. Evison who sells water by the tankload, seeks access to township water for business purposes.

Meeting
Finally, the Vaughan Waterworks Committee agreed to a meeting with the Markham Township Waterworks Committee to discuss mutual arrangements that would be beneficial to both municipalities. The meeting was tentatively scheduled for February 15, 10 a.m. in Vaughan Council Chambers.

Council Has Busy Meet—

Whitchurch To Strengthen General Land Use Laws

Whitchurch Township Council, at their three hour Monday afternoon meeting dealt with everything from a careless driver from Saskatchewan to authorizing the payment of needed office equipment to gravel problems, land use questions and dead dogs.

Planning director J. R. Bousfield, acting for the township's consulting engineers, Proctor and Redfern, in a lengthy brochure, recommended a method of controlling commercial frontage on Don Mills Road Parts Lot 1, Concessions 3 and 4.

Council is concerned with a method to ensure that commercial buildings on property in that area will not be converted to residential structures. Mr. Bousfield said there were various safeguards applicable including a zoning by-law, site plan agreements or regulations in the general land use by-law, and felt that the best approach would be some additions to land use regulations.

He said a clause could be inserted providing for the conversion of commercial or industrial buildings to residential use and vice versa. It was also suggested that the township's planning board could add a rider to every agreement providing that it will not sign a deed until notified that plans for the building, or buildings had been prepared, submitted and approved by the building inspector. Firm suggestions would be forthcoming soon for the final consideration of council.

Rd. Allowance
Council agreed that it would be in the interest of the township to straighten the north end of Bayview Avenue. To do so, however, road allowance agreements will have to be entered into between Whitchurch and some property owners in the area. Back in 1908 a survey deeded a 50-foot road allowance to the township but a subsequent survey found that the thoroughfare was not travelling on the exact road allowance. One property owner, Mrs. Millie Ash, said she would be willing to convey a 66-foot road allowance through her land if the township would pay for the necessary survey and deed the balance of the land to her.

Clerk John Crawford was authorized to get the legal and technical balls rolling.

Gravel
It was decided to let gravel tenders covering 25,000 tons, to give the roads committee under Superintendent Ernest Davis a chance to ready itself for necessary spring roadwork, and to chop the usual $1,000 performance bond to $500. Councillors Elsie Gibbs and Ross Farquharson took the view that while $1,000 might not be a burden for big operators it could be to the small fellows.

Reeve Cliff Wallwork agreed that this was a not unreasonable view. Clerk John Crawford said that it should be understood that the township set the bond at $1,000 after adjoining townships had been asked only for half the amount in bond money. When Mr. Davis, in reply to a question said he usually hung on to such bonds until the fall the reeve said: "With you handling that kind of money we'll need to bond you." Following this laugh provoking sally council agreed that they would be satisfied with a $500 performance bond. Last year the township contracted for some 20,000 tons of gravel.

To Sue?
To sue or not to sue a Saskatchewan citizen was another question facing council. Recently the Ontario Provincial Police informed the Roads Committee that a westerner had piled his car into a sign post on Concession 4 on the east side of Davis Drive. Council felt the matter was really outside their jurisdiction and in the thoughtful silence which followed a mild discussion it was evident they (1) had no wish to be

Local Chess Club Meets Every Monday— Seeks New Members

The Richmond Hill Chess Club is into its second year and prospects for increasing last year's membership of 12 active players look good, according to Mr. John Newbold who is one of the chief forces behind the organization. Other enthusiasts are E. Walton and J. Austerberry of "The Hill."

President Newbold said the club has new quarters in the Municipal Building and meets every Monday, 7:30 p.m. All local players or learners are cordially invited to come along.

An interesting fact about chess is that, according to Mr. Newbold about one out of every 1,000 follow the game. It requires a mathematical bent, he says, but by the same token can help activate this faculty where it lies dormant in the personality. There may well be some connection between chess as it is widely played

Records A Beef But Goes Along

Councillor Maurice Windatt of Vaughan Township went on record at the February 13 meeting as being somewhat "disappointed" that the Vaughan Township-Toronto Gore-Woodbridge Representative to the Metro Toronto Planning Board was not a geographically neutral appointee. His recorded disappointment followed the official confirmation of appointee Gordon Longhouse, Woodbridge. He said: "I'm going along with council in the confirmation and I do not question the worth of Mr. Longhouse. It was my view, however, that inasmuch as Vaughan Township and Woodbridge may be embroiled in annexation questions in future that the best interests of everyone would be best served by a completely neutral representative." For the past four years Vaughan has been represented on the Metro Planning Board. This year Woodbridge asked to be included in that representation.

Dead Dogs
Council studied a request from the Junior Branch of the North York Humane Society requesting the installation of a concrete disposal tank in which the remains of canines could be disintegrated in lye or other suitable chemicals. The branch also suggested that the dog truck used to pick up strays be equipped with cages which could be individually removed. The Junior Branch went on to say that in the interests of keeping lost pooches happier they would be glad to construct the cages.

Holland Valley
A report from the Holland Valley Conservation Authority showed the following persons have been appointed to that organization: Newmarket, John Ogilvie; Aurora, Lorne Evans; Bradford, Dr. Blackwell; East Gwillimbury, A. Kelley; West Gwillimbury, M. Ritchie; King Township, N. D. MacNurthy; Whitchurch Township, Edward Barlow. A representative for Tecumseh Township has yet to be made.

Rd. Overspending Argument To Await Auditor's Figures

The question as to whether Markham Township had overspent its 1960 road budget by $66,000 would have to wait until an auditor's report was presented, declared Reeve Wilfred Dean on Monday afternoon as his council held its regular meeting.

Deputy Reeve Lawson Mumberson and Councillor Charles Hooper engaged in a verbal "hassle" of some minutes' duration when application was made for part of the provincial subsidy for 1960. The flare-up marked a resumption of an oral battle which the two members engaged in some time ago.

No question was raised as to the work itself but the method of seeking payment came under fire by Councillor Hooper. A considerable amount of provincial subsidy was involved, he declared.

Both members of council failed to satisfy each other with their figuring and the matter subsided with a sort of unwritten understanding that it will be reviewed as and when auditor's figures are available.

DEPT. OF HEALTH TWP. OF NORTH YORK

Suffocation
The large plastic bag, a very popular and useful packaging material, will continue to constitute a menace to infants. After plastic bags or wrappers have served their purpose, they should be destroyed.

Should an emergency arise from the misuse of plastic film, the immediate need is to restore breathing. If possible, send for the fire department inhalator squad, and have the nearest hospital alerted.

Meanwhile, try to resuscitate the child. Place him on his back, with his head well back, and use the "mouth-to-mouth" method recommended by the Red Cross.

Vaughan Waterworks Committee Confer On Kleinberg Well

On Jan., 30, Vaughan Council authorized Clerk-Treasurer J. McDonald to arrange a meeting of the waterworks committee with all persons who will be affected directly or indirectly with the establishment of the proposed well site and road entrance to the Kleinberg well.

The well is now in, piped, capped and cased, and there is enough grade A water available to provide the entire area. Water enough in fact to provide 100 gallons per day to each of 4,000 consumers. The well has cost the township $20,000 so far.

Normal subdivision could be supplied from this source. This subdivision is to have approximately 186 lots. The developer, Grad and Schniffer, would pay a water fee of $400 per lot, or just under $75,000. They would post a bond with the township, or deposit this amount in cash as their share of the service main project to the subdivision and the township would draw this money as it constructed the mains.

The township would in turn debenture for the rest of the money which, among other things would provide a pump house and all appurtenances relating thereto, and an access road to the well for the water trucks to do their business.

Council also requested the Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority when establishing a flood level arising from the construction of the proposed flood control dam to work to a level established by the township. This level will be related to the elevation of the proposed pump house at the well. Formerly, the township was unsuccessful in getting a firm commitment about the level from the authority and now it has taken the initiative and decided what the level should be. Entrance to the well would be through the northerly part of P. Berton's property as proposed by the township engineer and this proposal has been accepted by council.

Another step was taken by council at its February 13 meeting when it was decided that the acquisition of the access road to the well site be deferred until the matter can be discussed with A. Walwyn, one of the property holders.

SCOUT NEWS
4th Richmond Hill
4th Richmond Hill Scout Troop enjoyed a day of hiking and tobogganing, under the leadership of Skip Bill McCord, on Saturday, February 4th. The outing was held on the farm of Charles Robson of Purpleville. It would appear that a good time was enjoyed by all in attendance.

4th Richmond Hill Cub and Scouts are holding their Father and Son Banquet on Monday, February 20, at 6:30 p.m.
