42 Years With Firm

William Dodds, 11-Year Resident, Former Mason And Rotarian, Passes

The funeral of William G. Dodds, 61, prominent Richmond Hill citizen, took place Tuesday from the Wright and Taylor Chapel of the Pipher Funeral Home with the Rev. C. G. Higginson of Richmond Hill United Church officiating.

Mr. Dodds, widely known throughout Ontario and a highly respected citizen, passed away last Saturday at Branson Hospital. He resided at 25 Harding Blvd. He was born at Berkeley, Ontario, completed his education in Toronto and as a young man became associated with the well known importing and distributing firm of Herlich & Co., Don Mills and this year completed his 42nd year with the company.

He was married to the former Florence Anderson of Toronto and came to Richmond Hill 11 years ago. He was socially active in many ways, was a former Rotarian and a Mason, with membership in the local and Aurora Chapters. He was held in great esteem by all who knew him by virtue of his amiable nature, tolerance and courtesy. As a commercial traveller who covered most of Eastern and Northern Ontario, he amassed countless friends among people from every walk of life. A member of the United Church, he took his Christian duties seriously without seeking to impose his views on others. His death came as a great shock to the community.

Saturday Films For Youngsters At The Theatre

There will be another in the series of special film programs for children at the Richmond Theatre, next Saturday at 10 a.m. and at 2 p.m.

The feature will be "Toto and the Poachers," photographed in color. Toto is an African boy whose uncle is a scout on a Kenya game reserve. He sees two strangers carrying elephant tusks. He knows they are poachers but the adults will not believe his story when he tells them. So Toto with his pet monkey sets out to catch the poachers, only to be caught himself. But he is rescued by the game reserve scouts.

This picture illustrates a principal of making films for children, which was learned early in the experience by Mary Field and her staff. One of the first pictures they made was "Jean's Plan." It was sent back from the censors marked "Adults Only." Miss Field was very surprised at this for they thought they had made the film very carefully. It was an exciting story, it had a documentary background, the characters were in the round and a moral was present but not obtrusive. So they asked the censors what was the matter. The thing they had done wrong was to show a frightened child. The censors said you must never show children the picture of a child who is frightened. So a valuable lesson was learned, and you will notice in all C.F.F. pictures that although children may get themselves into difficult situations, they are never frightened. The children in the audience identify themselves with the children on the screen, and by the time Toto gets himself caught by the poachers he is known to be both brave and resourceful. He is not frightened himself so the children know he will be all right.

Mary Field recounts many other incidents such as the above encounter with the Censors in her book called "Good Company." This book covers the years she was working for J. Arthur Rank, making children's entertainment films, and may be borrowed by any Home & School member from the Courtice Memorial Library.

"Rest" Not Enough
 The sort of repose that contributes to mental health does not depend altogether on external conditions but on sound adjustments to tasks, opportunities, pleasures and the general order of a man's life. "Rest" is not enough. *1w43

The Wealth of Creatives
 Slowly we learn — but surely, that our wealth in this world is not in that which we have bought, but in that which we have created; in what we have really and truly made our own. In doing this we find ourselves and become integrated personalities of strength and maturity, better able to stand life's demands. *1w43
