Mrs. L. Scott, 96 Friends in this neighbourhood will be thinking of their former neighbour, Mrs. L. Scott, on Saturday of this week when she will celebrate her 96th birthday. Mrs. Scott, with her daughter, Rhea and son Clarence now lives at Markham.

Until early this summer Mrs. Scott enjoyed good health, and only two or three years ago celebrated her birthday with a Chinese dinner at Lichee Gardens, Toronto. While she is still bright, Mrs. Scott is now confined to her bed.

Neighbourhood Notes
Mr. and Mrs. James McQuay and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Stonehouse spent a week-end recently at Niagara Falls and Fonthill where they visited Mrs. Stonehouse's relatives. A high point of the trip was the lift-locks at Thorold where the party watched foreign freighters being eased through the Welland Canal. One ship laden with molasses was from Greece.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart Rowlands and their family of Ajax visited Mrs. Rowlands' parents here, Mr. and Mrs. E. Crisp, last Sunday.

David Hooper celebrated his seventh birthday recently, with five friends present. Another birthday celebrant last week-end was Mr. Norman Reid.

Mrs. George Hooper was with the York Choraleers on Saturday of last week when they sang at Pioneer Village.

Congratulations to Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Binnington, whose second grandson, Mark Gordon Hewitt, was born last week at Morristown, N. J.

Mrs. Charles Hooper flew to Ottawa Thursday afternoon of last week to attend a dinner meeting. She returned home the same evening.

Mrs. Rae Donaldson attended an Explorer Leaders Workshop at Yorkminster United Church on Saturday of last week. On Monday evening of last week Mrs. Donaldson, Mrs. Sammy Snider and Miss Margaret Patterson met with Explorers at Brown's Corners United Church for the first meeting. The group will meet every Monday evening. Last week nine girls from 8-11 years of age attended.

The former Netta Spaans and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Kuipers of the Queensway, were guests last Saturday at the Foster-Thorneycroft wedding in Brown's Corners Church. Netta was the first bride in the rebuilt church.

Other local guests at the wedding were Green Lane neighbours of the Thorneycrofts — Mr. and Mrs. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Lak, the former Jean Lak and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turner, Miss Donna Palmer, Miss Jean Muirhead.

Among those who entertained for Miss Sylvia Thorneycroft prior to her marriage to Ron Foster on Saturday of last week were Mrs. Lawrence Leuschner, a neighbourhood miscellaneous shower; and members of the bride's office staff at the Provincial Laboratory held a shower at the home of a friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Craig had three strange little visitors after eleven o'clock one night recently. There was a light tap at the door, and Mrs. Craig answered, to discover three ragged dirty little boys who were unknown to her.

The trio were discovered to be runaways from a Toronto home for children and had set out early in the morning on a journey to find a grandmother who lived near Keswick. The Don Mills Road home of the Craigs was as far as they could trudge. Needless to say the worried matron of the home was happy to hear they were safe.

Mrs. A. C. Huston will be the guest speaker on October 4th, when Brown's Corners W.M.S. entertains friends of the community at their Autumn Thanksgiving.

Wedding

FOSTER-THORNEYCROFT
The first autumn wedding to be solemnized in Brown's Corners United Church since its re-building, took place on Saturday, September 23, when Sylvia May, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thorneycroft, Green Lane, Thornhill, and Ronald Ernest Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Foster, Keswick, were married amid a setting of ferns, yellow gladioli and bronze and peach-toned shasta 'mums. Rev. Dr. A. F. Binnington performed the ceremony, and the wedding music was played by Miss Jean Muirhead, a former teacher of the bride. Mrs. Allan Orr of Victoria Square was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautiful in a gown of white satin and lace. The fitted satin bodice featured a V-neckline with lily-point sleeves and long torso. The graceful crinolined skirt, of lace with satin front panel, fell to a scalloped hemline, ankle length. Her brief lace edged veil was caught to a fragile iridescent coronet, and she carried a cascade of yellow roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Charles Turner, sister of the bride, was matron of honour, and the other attendants were her cousin, Miss Shirley Ramster as bridesmaid, and junior bridesmaid Sara Gene Foster of London, niece of the groom.

They wore similar princess line dresses of peau de soie, waltz length, in shades of rust and avocado green and deep apricot. The senior attendants' headdresses were matching feather half hats and Sara Gene wore a circlet of bronze and apricot 'mums in her hair. They carried bronze and gold 'mums. Douglas Foster of London attended the groom, and the ushers were Frank Thorneycroft, brother of the bride, and Malcolm Taylor.

Following the ceremony the guests attended a reception and dinner in the church parlours.

Mrs. Thorneycroft received, wearing a becoming gown of green printed silk with white feather trimmed felt hat and matching accessories. Her corsage was white gardenias.

The groom's mother assisted in a two-piece ensemble in deep rose tones with matching petal hat and pink gardenia corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Foster are presently honeymooning at Myrtle Beach, North Carolina. On their return they will live in their new home on the Green Lane, Thornhill.

Emmanuel Anglican Anniversary

Emmanuel Anglican on a Sunday Morning

The 55th Anniversary of Emmanuel Anglican Church, Hanlan's Island and the second for its successor Emmanuel, Richmond Hill, was celebrated on Sunday to the light portable church on MacKay Drive, Richvale, the church being packed to overflowing and chairs had to be placed wherever possible.

Freshly painted — inside and outside — by the Men's Club under Lionel Boswell and Harold Silk, the church was gaily decorated with purple grapes on the vines, scarlet coloured autumn leaves, fruits and vegetables by the Chancel Guild led by Mrs. Harold D. White, the church provided a happy setting for a service of gratitude and joyous expectancy.

The Rev. Fred C. Jackson, whose is text "The Church - The Body of Christ," Mrs. James E. Howard and the choir gave the anthem "Prayer of Thanksgiving" and the solo "My Task" was beautifully sung by Mrs. A. Duckworth, included among the guests from the original church, were friends and relatives of the late William C. McGolpin, a founder of both Hanlan's Island and Richvale Churches, who died recently leaving a generous bequest, estimated at $5,000 pending probate of the will.

This sum is a splendid addition to the building fund, and encourages the expectation of building a permanent Emmanuel Church in Richvale during this coming year. The Women's Auxiliary under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Webster, served a delightful luncheon in the Parish Hall which gave opportunity for the renewal of fellowship with the Hanlan's Island guests, Richvale members back from vacation, and to welcome new parishioners.

The children had a wonderful time at the party and would like to have more of these family gatherings in their Church School, which is a happy thought!

Dial Telephones For Markham Are Planned For '62

Dial telephone service will be introduced in Markham and Unionville by the fall of 1962, W. C. Barnes, local manager of The Bell Telephone Company of Canada announced this week.

He said excavation work has already begun on the site of a new dial exchange building on the north side of Church Street, near the intersection of the building awarded to Yarmac Construction Limited of Toronto. Architects were John B. Parkin Associates, of Don Mills.

The one-storey building with basement will measure 50 feet deep with a 78-foot frontage. Its foundations, framing, floor slabs and roof slabs will be of reinforced concrete, and it will be finished with brick walls and steel window frames.

Mr. Barnes said the new exchange building will house sufficient dial switching equipment and associated apparatus to serve both the Markham and the Unionville exchange areas and also to take care of telephone growth for some years to come.

In addition to constructing and equipping the building, the program includes extending the outside wire and cable facilities so that they can be adapted to Markham and Unionville's own dial system.

All of these operations will be scheduled so that the change-over from manual service to dial may be made in a matter of seconds.

The actual date of the change will be announced later, Mr. Barnes said.

Events Planned By St. Paschal Women's League

Events planned for the near future for the Catholic Women's League of St. Paschal Baylon include a mother and daughter Communion breakfast which will be held at the Yangtze Pagoda on October 1st, following the 8.30 a.m. Mass. Convened by Mrs. Helen Bulger, the event will have as special speaker Rev. Father L. J. Wall, Archdiocesan Spiritual Director of the C.W.L.

A rummage sale will be held at the Church Hall on Steeles Avenue on October 21st. These events were discussed at the opening meeting for the 1961-1962 season, with the president, Mrs. Kay Baxter, in charge.

A regional meeting will be held at St. Bonaventure's Church, Don Mills, on October 11th. A marathon bridge and euchre will be held again this year. A leadership training course will also be repeated this season.

Members were also urged to send letters of commendation or disapproval to TV channels or movie houses where these seemed to be warranted.

Curtain Club To Commence Season

transforming the premises into a really exciting theatre and clubhouse. There have been generous donations of lumber, paint and accoutrements which, with hundreds and hundreds of dollars of labour produced a large stage, a seating capacity for 90, dressing rooms, storage space for props and costumes, an attractive coffee bar, bulletin boards and lighting fixtures. The masonry, carpentry, painting, electrical work and interior decorating (the last by Ruth Rabinowitch) will pass the most critical scrutiny. Greatly prized are the svelte stage curtains, donated by Mrs. M. Appleton, mother of member Mrs. Daniel Crampton. The Appletons are the former owners of the John Maselfield residence and theatre.

The theatre, which will operate twelve months a year, will experiment with that which is new in drama. The club anticipates staging the works of Brecht, Anouilh and Beckett as well as those of Coward and Rattigan. Serious drama, comedy, musicals, pantomimes ... all will be grist to the dramatic mill.

Future Is Promising
What of the future otherwise? Dramatically, the club knows where it is going. It intends to produce plays at regular intervals and foster talent wherever it reveals itself. From its better quarters it will be in a position to exchange ideas and experiments and loan talent and from other drama groups.

Financially it will depend for working capital chiefly on the modest $1 per person admission fee.

It invites active membership participation at $7.50 per year per individual and $12 per couple.

Future Is Challenge
By the time "first night" ceremonies take place, October 4, the treasury will be pretty bare, members say cheerfully, but with the satisfaction that comes from the knowledge that their $1,600 kitty, plus generous donations of time and material, has been transformed into an exciting tangible worth several times that much.

It's taken Richmond Hill eight years to realize that the 80-member Curtain Club is part of the community fibre. But it appears that already the citizens know that the new theatre is not just a playhouse as such.

but a community project and that proper support morally, financially and in terms of talent will be forthcoming as a matter of course and not brow-beaten social necessity. Incidentally, to make certain you have a ticket for one of the four nights' performances, call AL 7-1423.

Planning Board Sees Film Demonstrations Of Foreign Projects

Community planning as carried out in other lands was the subject of a highly interesting National Film Board film shown to members of Richmond Hill Town Planning Board last week by Douglas H. Hitchins, member of the board. While it featured projects in England and European countries it also showed Canadian progress, with the Don Mills development being taken as the North American example of good planning.

Under the title "Comparisons In Suburban Living - Six Solutions" - the film emphasized the steps which had been taken to provide better living conditions, suited to the character of the individual country. A high degree of cultural development had been woven into the practical. He claimed that similar various countries was that in Holland, where Rotterdam had been practically completely rebuilt on practical, yet beautiful, lines, following the destruction higher claim might have resulted.

The complaint was referred to the council's finance committee for investigation.

A notable feature in foreign developments was the combining of apartments and row housing with single family dwellings.

The man in the case had been without his car for far too long a period, said Councillor White. In the event that the car had been needed for work a much higher claim might have resulted.
