

291 Adults Plan To Take Courses At Night School

Tuesday, October 3, was "back to school" day for 291 adults who flocked to the Richmond Hill High School to begin their two-night-a-week sessions which will wind up at the end of March. The 13 night classes will run every Tuesday and Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and are supervised by chemistry teacher John Munro-Cape. The press of administrative business this year forced Principal F. W. Morrow to turn over the supervisory work to Mr. Munro-Cape.

Of the 18 classes originally advertised, five had to be cancelled owing to insufficient enrollment, said Mr. Munro-Cape. These five were Grade 13 biology and English classes, metal working, drafting and shorthand. Of the 13 courses now in session, the enrollment (291) is approximately since the class registrations are not yet complete and some students have yet to enrol. The eventual figure is expected to top 300. Courses offered include typing (beginners and advanced students), bookkeeping, dress-making (beginners and advanced), millinery, all painting, physical education for men and women, conversational French, Algebra and English for beginners and advanced students.

Vacancies still exist in several of the classes, particularly in advanced typing, bookkeeping, dress-making, millinery, oil painting, physical education and Algebra. The fees are modest, $5 for the basic English course and $10 for other subjects. Mr. Morrow said that in Mr. Munro-Cape the students have an excellent supervisor. "He not only knows his stuff technically but is keenly interested in people," he said.

York Hospital Commission Praised On Adoption Of Regional Planning

Regional planning of hospital needs, as is now well understood in York County, was commended highly by Dr. J. B. Neilson, director of the Ontario Hospital Services Commission, at a special meeting of York County Hospital Commission this week. He said hospital costs have been increasing at the rate of ten per cent per year since 1946 and the problem is one which demands the most careful attention of citizens and community leaders. York County Council action last year in adopting the principle of regional planning, and the appointment of the York County Hospital Commission, was a step in the right direction in meeting the problem and was, in his opinion, the best way to best serve the people. Dr. Neilson said he hoped the principle of regional planning would be adopted in other parts of the province. York County Hospital Commission meeting, presided over by Chairman Ex-warden Jack Rye, was attended by Dr. Neilson, Dr. R. S. Peat, assistant director of Hospital Services Commission; Dr. C. K. Stuart, Senior Medical Specialist, Ontario Department of Welfare; Dr. R. M. King, Medical Officer of Health for York County, representatives of the York County Medical Association and the County Health Committee of County Council.

Main topic of discussion was the urgent need for hospital beds, and the temporary arrangement where some nursing homes are used for hospital care. Dr. King reported that there are in York County 22 licensed nursing homes with 300 beds. Where existing hospitals have not accommodation for convalescent and chronic cases, there is provision that hospital care may be paid for by the Ontario Hospital Commission in nursing homes approved for this purpose. In the northern part of York County 65 beds have been thus approved, and it was agreed after general discussion there will be a review of the whole situation. It was felt that until adequate beds are available in hospitals the number of nursing homes approved for this purpose might have to be increased.

It was stated that the ideal situation is to have in every hospital a certain number of beds for chronic cases, but until the building program of an extension to the Newmarket Hospital and the new hospital at Richmond Hill are completed temporary measures will have to be adopted. County Warden Joseph Fry extended thanks to the visiting

Halloween For UNICEF Will Help Unfortunates

Last Halloween some 300,000 Canadian children in over 1,500 communities (including Richmond Hill) collected $261,000 in pennies, nickels and dimes in their annual "Halloween For UNICEF" drive. UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund, co-operates with WHO (World Health Organization) and other UN agencies, to help governments undertake long-range programs for their children.

UNICEF provides the supplies needed to control and eradicate mass disease, improve nutrition and equip maternal and child health centres. UNICEF reaches 55 million needy children and mothers in over 100 countries, but there are other untold millions who cry out for help.

Consider This Under the UNICEF program, one cent equals five glasses of milk. One nickel will pay for vaccine against TB for five children. One lowly dime represents 50 vitamin capsules.

Six Year Show In the past six years $750,000 has been donated to UNICEF projects abroad by the children of Canada, and last year's $260,000 pot was a far cry indeed from the $15,000 raised in 1955, the year the "Halloween for UNICEF" program got underway.

Locally, junior grade school children have been participating in the program several years. The Public School Board approves the annual activity. For local kiddies as well as those elsewhere, the "Halloween for UNICEF" is a means of sharing their good fortune with children not so lucky. So, on Halloween Night, the countless little spooks and goblins, when they hold out a bag for treats and money bits, will be asking not only for themselves. As usual, several hundred of these "mighty mite" good will ambassadors are expected to make the rounds.

In Food Industry 35 Years

Experienced Operator Takes Hold Richmond Theatre Grill Re-opened

Mr. Sam Haggart, whose latest restaurant venture is the Theatre Grill, 69 Yonge Street South, Richmond Hill, formerly the Richmond Grill, said one is never too old or experienced to feel surprise and delight. Those were his sentiments Friday, October 26, when the new eating establishment officially opened for business, he said. Despite the fact the opening took place without fanfare, the place attracted a steady stream of patrons all day long.

Mr. Haggart, who prefers to be called Sam, has been connected with the food industry one way or another for 35 years, ever since he landed in Canada from Lebanon. In the last 20 years he has operated many restaurants, including the well known Toronto one, the Torro, on Bay Street. He is also former owner of the Nova restaurant at Newtonbrook and operates the Two Seven Drive-In on No. 7 Highway at Highway 27. Sam's wife, the former Florence LaBlue of St. Boniface, Manitoba, will be in charge of the Theatre Grill which opened with a staff of five. Helping out in the initial stages is daughter Marianne, 21, who has taken time out from her job as a buyer for a large department store at London, Ontario.

The Theatre Grill will be open from 6 a.m. to 1 a.m. daily. "We will make available banquets for all occasions and family dinners will be our Sunday specialty," he said. "We'll offer special business people's lunches and a speedy take-out service." Charcoal broiled steaks and chops will be the main meat attraction.

The Haggars have two other children beside Marianne. Eighteen-year-old Thelma is taking an honour arts course at the University of Toronto and plans to major in modern languages. Raymond, 14, is attending a boys' school in Toronto. The family resides in Thornhill.

CWL Region Meeting Staged At Thornhill

With members present from parishes in Aurora, Bradford, Markham, Newmarket and Richmond Hill, the regular fall meeting of Region 7 of the Catholic Women's League was held in the auditorium of St. Luke's school, Thornhill. Principal speaker of the evening was Mrs. Cobham, Diocesan president, who pointed out that the threat of communism made the observance of the religious principles of the church doubly important. A panel discussion on the Christian Family Apostolate was a highlight of the gathering.

Engineering Institute Now Operating In Hill

A branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada is now under way in Richmond Hill. At a meeting held last week an interim executive was formed. Regular elections will be held early in 1962. Members of the pro tem executive are K. Brown, D. C. McMillan, J. P. Miller, Peter Wilson, A. R. Pollock, S. D. Foote. A program of general and technical meetings is being arranged and it is planned to hold the first meeting early in November.

AURORA: Due to the town's growth, there will be less ice time rented at the arena to outside organizations. The local arena is paid for by taxpayers and they should have the use of it, declared Mayor Keith Nisbet.
