York Farmers Market Features Wide Selection Of Christmas Goodies

(By Doris FitzGerald)
 Santa paid a visit to the York Farmers Market building on December 12th, bringing bags of goodies to the children attending the annual Christmas party for the market stall holders and their families. The happy affair was arranged by Mr. Edward Gladding, president of the market board, and included a delicious buffet dinner - hot roast turkey with all the trimmings, and pies for dessert - provided by the women, a draw for a twenty-three pound turkey, and entertainment. Mrs. Floyd Mustard, Mr. Gladding's mother-in-law, who assists each week in the Gladding concession was the surprised and excited winner of the big turkey. Mr. Stan Wain is in charge of the programme, and the magician, three piece orchestra and caller for the square dancing added to the enjoyment of this pleasant get-together of farm folk who seldom have time to chat on market days. There will be two of these this week, because of the extra Christmas market on December 22.
 Last Saturday the aisles were crowded with shoppers laden with parcels, flowers and greenery, and exuding good will as they exchanged cheery greetings with town and country friends.
 From curiosity we asked three market gardeners what vegetable was most in demand for Christmas dinner. Each said the various stalls exhibit a wonderful selection of squash, cabbage, beets, onions, celery, potatoes, Canadian apples etc. and green vegetables imported from warmer countries. The firm freshness of the winter vegetables can be attributed to the use of good cooler houses and root cellars, and the "know-how" of growers with years of experience. For instance Mel Groves who

These Tips May Help You - Play It Safe With That Tree

Canadians during December will buy and decorate millions of natural Christmas trees cut from the nation's tree farms and forests.

Use Care In Decorating
 A tree contains natural resins which ignite easily and burn readily.
 If proper precautions are taken, however, fire may be avoided. Particular attention should be given to trees in churches and schools.

Don't Block Exits
 Trees, in addition, should not be set up close to stairways because in case of fire the stairway as an exit from upper floors would be blocked.

With regard to the care of Christmas trees in the home, here are some suggestions:

- (1) When you choose your Christmas tree this year, select one which appears freshly cut. Feel the needles to make sure they are firmly attached.
- (2) Keep the tree out of doors until just before Christmas. And keep it standing in a pail of water so that it will remain fresh.
- (3) When you put the tree up, place it in the coolest part of the room. It should be as far as possible from radiators, heaters and as far away as possible from the fireplace. This will reduce the chances of fire, and keep the tree from drying.
- (4) Use a tree stand which has a water container in which the trunk can rest. Most trees

Electric trains should be set up away from the tree. A spark from the train could ignite dry pine needles.

Use only electric lights to decorate the tree - never candles. Be sure to check lighting sets before placing them on the tree. Those with frayed wires should be discarded. When you buy a new set look for the UL tag or label of Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc.

When you open presents on Christmas morning, put away gift wrappings you intend to keep. Gather up other wrappings and throw them away immediately after presents are opened.

The lights on Christmas trees should be turned off when everyone is away from home.

Check the tree for dryness from time to time. If needles near lights have started to turn brown, change the position of the lights.

When the needles start falling, take the tree down immediately and discard it outdoors.

Even if the tree is still fresh, plan now to dismantle it the day after New Year's.

Make sure your decorative lighting does not overload electrical circuits.

Wiring and electrical equipment used out-of-doors should be designed for the purpose.

Council Decides To Query Lawyer About Bus Route

Considering a letter from the Toronto Transit Commission, which pointed out that an application for authority to run a bus line from near Elgin Mills, down Bathurst Street to Ontario Highway, Transport Board by Trailways of Canada, Richmond Hill, town council decided to seek its solicitor's advice with regard to its powers. "They have a point," said Councillor Tom Broadhurst, referring to the T.T.C. claim that the operation of the Bathurst bus line could have a bad effect on the Yonge Street bus line, jointly owned by Vaughan and Markham townships and Richmond Hill. The T.T.C. recommended that the three municipalities get together before the Transport Board hearing on January 16th.
 The solicitor's opinion will be relayed to the transportation committee, headed by Councillor A. White, so that the necessary action can be taken.

Kindergartners Get Reminder Of Traffic Hazards In Holidays

Realizing that in the excitement of the Christmas season, young memories forget the lessons on traffic safety which have been drilled into them. Constable Doug Young of Richmond Hill Police Force, visited the kindergartners classes at Richmond Hill Public Schools to remind them of Elmer the Safety Elephant, who never forgets.
 He explained the purpose and meaning of traffic lights and other safety measures, giving the youngsters the proper procedure to follow while crossing a street and reminding them to be extra careful during the Christmas season.

Work Superintendent Gets Practical Proof Signs Quite Truthful

The signs on the Mill Pond at Richmond Hill mean exactly what they say when they warn that the ice is unsafe for skating. Fred Bovard, town works superintendent, proved this week. While eight to ten feet out on the ice one day, testing it, it gave way, landing him in water some four feet deep. He was carrying a crowbar and was able to break his way to shore, chilled but unharmed.
 He points out to parents and youngsters that his experience should be a warning. In spite of the signs, children go out on the ice. If a junior citizen had gone through where he went through, the chances of a fatality would have been high. "Keep off the ice until it is certified as safe," he advises.

100 Pounds Beef Won

Wind-up of recent radio auction staged by the Richmond Hill Junior Chamber of Commerce came last Saturday when the draw was made to decide the winner of the grand prize resulting from bids made during the auction.
 As a result Grant Mowat and family of 229 Brown Dale Crescent will be well rationed for the next few weeks. The prize was one hundred pounds of beef, given to the Jaycees by Richmond Hill Cold Storage Company.
