Obituary

Late Wm. Oscar Wrigglesworth
Following an illness of six months, William Oscar Wrigglesworth died at the home of his daughter, 244 Demaine Crescent, Beverley Acres, January 20, 1962. Funeral rites, conducted by the Rev. C. G. Higginson of Richmond Hill United Church, were held last Wednesday at the Wright and Taylor Chapel of the Pipher Funeral Home, Richmond Hill.

Born at Hornings Mills, Ontario, in 1895, the son of William and Eva Wrigglesworth. Oscar Wrigglesworth moved to Honeywood at an early age, where he attended public school. He married Ella Jane Campbell in 1918 and they made their home in Toronto for 17 years, later moving to Thornton and Dundalk, where he farmed to his death.

In 1951 the family moved to Richmond Hill and Mr. Wrigglesworth became the custodian at Jefferson Public School, where he was a trusted and well-liked employee until he became seriously ill last summer. He was on leave of absence from his work at the time of his death.

The Rev. Mr. Higginson paid tribute to his kindness and steadfastness to duty, in a chapel filled with floral tributes to a quiet man, in an ordinary walk of life.

Interment was in Richmond Hill Cemetery, and pall bearers were John Whalen and Dave Barber, Richmond Hill; Hubert Rennie, Toronto; Harvey McKinnee, Orangeville; Arnold Rogers, Bond Head, and Milton Betheridge, Thornton.

Surviving are his widow and two daughters, Harriet (Mrs. Ross Miller), Toronto, and Mabel (Mrs. George Haviland), Richmond Hill; also 10 grandchildren. Two daughters, Eleanor and Dorene, pre-deceased their father.

"The Liberal" joins his friends and relatives in expressing sympathy to the bereaved family.

High School Library Club Plans Film Show For February 7 and 8

"The Idiot" (part 1) from the novel by Fyodor Dostoyevsky will be the next film shown by the Richmond Hill High School Library Club, at the Richmond Theatre, February 7 and 8. Dostoyevsky is one of the originators of the "psychological novel" and he has been called a "Christian Existentialist."

This is the story of a good man in a corrupt society and readers of the novel will delight in seeing its characters realized on the screen with a sense of period and skill of portraiture.

Returning from Switzerland after a long and serious illness, Prince Myshkin meets Parin Rogozhin, a rich and boorish millionaire on the train. Rogozhin describes his infatuation for a wealthy landowner. Arriving in St. Petersburg, the Prince finds the household of his distant relative, General Yevanichin, distressed by Natasha's proposed marriage to Ganya

Ivolgin, the general's secretary. This is being arranged by the landowner, Totsky, to avoid scandal, so that he can marry into the general's family. The Prince stays at the house of Ganya, where he meets Natasha, and predicts that the proposed marriage will be a disaster. Rogozhin arrives and offers more than Totsky has agreed to settle on her, if she will marry him. The climax of the film is her birthday party that evening, at which she decides which of the three she will marry.

A 16 mm. programme will be shown in the auditorium of the public library on February 18th at 8 p.m. It will be devoted to an exploration of the film as an art. The feature film will be a modern re-telling of the story of Orpheus by Jean Cocteau. "ORPHEE" is almost unique in being a film made by a poet, and is one of the best demonstrations of what possibilities the film as an art form, possesses.
