Medical Missionary Coming To St. Matthew's

DR. WALTER STRANGWAY Dr. Strangway, one of the world's great, is coming to Richmond Hill on Tuesday evening, March 20th. He will address an open meeting of the St. Matthew's United Church Women, Crosby Avenue. The meeting is called for 8:15.

Dr. Strangway is one of Ontario's gifts to Africa. Born in Lambton County, educated in Victoria College and Toronto University, interned in New York, he has given his life to the ministry of healing among the people of Angola. In 1928 he took up the work at Chissamba Hospital, where he has laboured ever since. During that time he has performed 20,000 operations. His chief claim to success rests however on the thorough piece of educational work he is doing in establishing a native corps of trained workers in the medical field.

Now on his fifth furlough to Canada, Dr. Strangway will tell the exciting story of his great work next Tuesday. Africa is in the news today, and the future of the world, my future and yours, will be affected by it. Your presence on Tuesday evening will be most welcome.

NORTH YORK: The township will vote on fluoridation next December, at the time of municipal elections, with other Metro municipalities.

Council Curlers Are County Best Win Second Time

Richmond Hill's civic curlers were again victors in the York County bonspiel held at the market on March 9th - the second time in a row. The county bonspiel, now an annual event, is participated in by teams composed of members of municipal curling clubs in the county, municipal clerks being eligible. Sixteen rinks took part in the current year's event.

Competition is keen, many of the teams having curlers who are experts at the game.

The Richmond Hill rink, which defeated the county staff in the finals, played three games. Its members were Countess Margaret Southwell, lead; Councillor Al. White, second; Town Clerk Russell Lynett, vice-skip; Reeve Floyd Pinken, skip.

People At Court Using Private Lot Parking

Hope that the parking situation in the neighbourhood of the municipal building would be improved shortly was voiced by Mayor Hagarty when Mr. P. C. Hill of the Canadian Tire Store at Yonge and Richmond Streets complained that vehicles of persons attending magistrate's court were being parked on his property. Negotiations for more parking space were going on, the mayor told Mr. Hill.

The situation was a bad one, said Mr. Hill. Owners of cars parked on the street received summonses. He asked what could be done to keep unauthorized cars off his lot and was told that police could not act on private property. He also said that his lot was used extensively by churchgoers, but was refused permission by council to use municipal parking space alongside the municipal building.

Richmond Hill High School Students Display Real Talent At Music Night

By Margaret McLean

Enthusiasm and variety were keynotes of the highly successful "Music Night, 1962" held at Richmond Hill High School on March 8th and 9th.

The enthusiasm on the part of the youthful musicians was evident right from the beginning as it was on the part of their fine director, Mr. S. W. Atkinson. And before very long, this enthusiasm was communicated to the audience who gave every sign of enjoying themselves thoroughly.

As for variety—the program provided something for every taste; from music, Western style, presented by two able young guitarists, Monte Wagner and Joe Mendelsohn, to a Chopin Polonaise performed with remarkable authority by John Seddon.

Suzanne Mimics Marilyn A good deal of spontaneity was injected into the program by an item called "A Rainy Night at the Ski Lodge". The audience was asked to imagine that they were looking in on a group of young people frustrated by rain at a ski lodge who begin to entertain themselves with music. This situation quite naturally introduced John Jackson, who played an accordion solo, a trio of singers, Janet McCowan, Joy Wilson and Janet Thompson and a hilarious take-off on Marilyn Monroe by Suzanne Higgins which just about brought down the house. Next a dance band consisting of Terry Crooks, Rab Wilkie and Tom Sheret on sax.

Tom Joyce and Len Madill on trumpets, John Madill, guitarist, and John Seddon at the piano. Brian Thurston had a pleasing style in his two vocal solos, "Climb Every Mountain" and "Fascination", and was ably accompanied at the piano by Joan Angus.

Vocal stylings of quite a different type were offered by the ebullient Suzanne Higgins who bounced through a presentation of "Blue Moon" which gave rise to a tumultuous applause—and not a few whistles! She was accompanied by a guitarist in dark glasses who, I think, must have been Monte Wagner.

The Dixieland Band was another lively group of youngsters who had the audience foot-tapping right away. They were John Cringan, clarinet; Don Gibson, trumpet; Ricky Leason, piano; Ed Waters, tenor sax; Mike Wilson, trombone; Ed Jensen, brass, and Jamie Macanuel, drums.

That this impressive array of musical talent could be unearthed in such a relatively small high school is quite remarkable. These youngsters have obviously worked very hard to achieve such standards, and to achieve as obviously has been encouraged and helped by devoted teachers. As while the bouquets are being passed out, let's not forget one for dear old Dad, who forked out a lot of money for all those music lessons; and a great big one for poor old Mamma, who saw to it that Johnny and Jane did their practicing!

Name Mrs. D. H. Storms To Auxiliary Roster

There's nothing like getting all the family in on a project. Chairman Douglas H. Storms has been a driving force in the organization of the new hospital to serve the southern part of York County, construction of which will start at Richmond Hill shortly. Now Mrs. Storms has been named hon. president of the recently formed auxiliary for the hospital, officers for which were named at a well-attended meeting at which ladies from all parts of the district were present.

Teen Town

RICHMOND HILL by Mike Donahue Last Saturday marked the beginning of a new term of office - those elected to office were: Keith Sayers, president; Reg Pemberton, vice president; Sharon Aldred, Joan Buchanan, Bill Hack, Bob Jamieson and Carolyn Sayers, directors.

The large group of Teen Towners enjoyed the appearance of "The Phaetons" who proved themselves as the best group to hit Teen Town this season. We hope to see more of them. Don't miss the next Teen Town - the new executive have many surprises in store for you!

On behalf of the retiring executive I would like to express the wish for an even more successful season and to add that it has been a pleasure and a real experience preparing the dances for your enjoyment. Special thanks to Garry Anthony for his terrific job of supplying the music for Teen Town.

Some orators don't seem to understand the difference between eloquence and endurance.

WOODBRIDGE: Kindergarten classes will be introduced this fall, public school board trustees have decided.

AURORA: Town council will study a bus system for the town, after receiving a petition from 78 residents of the Regency Acres subdivision.

Our Lady Queen Of The World

The March meeting of Our Lady Queen of the World Holy Name Society was held in the parish school Wednesday last. President John Pennycfather thanked the society's thanks to the Bob O'Toole, Arnie Brooker and Percy Coe for their work in organizing the skating party held the latter part of February. Frank Hishon reported that the unemployment committee had been able to find employment for a few men in February. There are still some men looking for employment, particularly in building trades and general labour.

Treasurer Joe Sampson reported that the annual draw tickets had been distributed to many retail outlets from Keswick in the north down to Sheppard Avenue. Merchants in the area are giving the society the same fine co-operation they gave last year in helping promote the sales of these tickets. The first prize of $5,000.00 with a prize of $500.00 going to the seller of the winning ticket.

The society was notified that arrangements are being made to find a suitable location to hold the annual election banquet in May. Messrs. John Burton, Frank Murphy and Bob Cham-pou spoke to members on credit unions. St. Mary's Parish has a credit union which has been in operation for some years and have extended an invitation to Our Lady Queen of the World parishioners to join. The speakers stressed that while credit unions are usually operated by Roman Catholic parishioners as a non-denominational as to membership. In actual fact the credit union movement was originated by a Jew, a Protestant and a Roman Catholic. The Roman Catholic Church has been a strong supporter of credit unions ever since.

Credit unions now claim a membership of over 10,000,000 members. Very simply a credit union is a group of people who know each other and are organized in such a way as to help them save and borrow money from each other. A man's good character is the only security he has to put up to borrow from his credit union. St. Mary's Credit Union is open to all denominations. Its area covers a radius of five miles radiating from St. Mary's Church in Richmond Hill. Officers are elected by the members. The credit union operates from St. Mary's School on Monday evenings. Mr. John Burton elaborated on the size of the credit union movement in Ontario. There are over 1,400 credit unions in the province with assets of approximately $250,000,000, and 550,000 members. One out of every 11 residents of Ontario is a credit union member. All profits realized from loans are paid back to members. All bonds and shares are insured at no cost to the members. Reasonable dividends are paid each year, the amount being set by the members when the annual financial report is presented to them. An official invitation was extended to Our Lady Queen of the World parishioners to visit the credit union offices so they could see for themselves how it operates.

School Board Mr. Gordon Trussler, chairman of the separate school board addressed the society. Mr. Trussler has served as a trustee on the school board since 1958 recently being elected chairman. He said that since a recent survey has shown that generally very few people show an active interest in the affairs of their school boards, he welcomed this opportunity to outline the organization of the board. There are nine members, three who represent the rural areas and six who represent the urban area. The board services an area from the 19th line south to Highway No. 7 and from Maple to Don Mills Road on the east.

All board meetings are open to the public. School supporters can address the board if prior to the meeting they have submitted in writing their intention to do so. Meetings are held on Wednesday evenings. Mr. Trussler stated that there were presently over 1,000 children attending separate schools in the Hill. He discussed the problems of supplying proper facilities to this number of children especially with the funds available to the separate school system. While there are limited grants from the provincial government it is a known fact that no share from public utilities profits is allotted to the separate schools whereas the public schools do receive a sizable share of this public revenue.

Accidents on school property were also discussed. Of 15 accidents in separate schools this year, only two were caused by pupils deliberately breaching school regulations. All accidents have been of a minor nature. Mr. Trussler explained that supervision of the children in the schools is quite adequate but even so accidents are still bound to happen. Parents can be assured that efficient supervision of their children is constantly maintained and the child's welfare constantly safeguarded and precautions taken to prevent school accidents. President John
