Big Change From 1961

Amity Marks Submission Of Both School Budgets

Presentation of budgets of the York Central District High School Board and the Richmond Hill Public School Board featured the recent meeting of Richmond Hill Town Council. The atmosphere during the high school presentation differed greatly from that of 1961, when hostility developed between council and board over the board's adamant refusal to eliminate $40,000 from its budget for contingencies, in order to assist council in keeping the tax rate down. As it turned out, the contingency fund was not needed, the board finishing the year with an $83,000 surplus.

The 1962 budget had been cut to the bone, said Chairman Robert Ross in presenting it. No amount for contingencies had been provided, neither had the budget been padded by the disguising of additional amounts in various sections. Mr. Ross was accompanied by Trustee L. Clement, last year's chairman of the public school board, who resigned at the end of 1961 to become a high school trustee.

An increase in the number of pupils and a consequent jump of 25 teachers were said by Chairman Ross to be major factors in the gross increase in the high school budget of $217,000.

Technical Costs Jump
"Over the long run this is going to cost a lot more money," said Mayor James Haggart, referring to the cost of the new technical school system. "It is said that costs of operating such schools run 30 per cent higher," he declared. "I am not blaming you for starting these schools but just pointing this out," he said.

Councillor Margaret Southwell said that council should express appreciation of the action of high school trustees in not including a contingency fund in the budget.

Outside of considerable questioning of members of the high school board on individual budget items, particularly teaching costs, council members adopted the report as presented with no criticism, indicating on several occasions their sympathy with the problems confronting the trustees.

Public School Board
Councillors also accepted the public school budget, presented by Chairman Harold Sanderson and Trustee W. H. Hutchinson, chairman of the finance committee in equally co-operative fashion. While they questioned details of the budget, no criticism was offered. Congratulations to the school board were expressed on behalf of council by Councillor Al White.

The declining cost to local taxpayers due to additional grants from the province was stressed.

Awards include trophies for winners of finals, $200 in cash to be divided among the six finalists to help defray expenses, smaller trophy replicas to each preliminary winner, special awards to outstanding individual actors.

Richmond Hill High School will perform Act 1 of "Berkley Square" on April 4th and Thorn-Hill Secondary School will stage scenes from "Twelfth Night" on April 9th.

Township Defers Action On Birds For '62 Hunting
A decision on the usual raising of pheasants for hunting in the recognized game areas of the township has been deferred by Vaughan Township Council. Council has been considering the passing of a bylaw which would prohibit the discharge of firearms in the municipality and has already given two readings to it. Further study is being given to the enactment, especially with reference to its acceptance by the courts. A similar bylaw in the township of Markham is being studied, with its effect on the controlling of hunting in that municipality.

Residents, especially farmers, have in recent months taken strong exception to the indiscriminate use of guns by hunters, especially those from the city, and have demanded action to halt it.

Reeve Vacates Chair
Both Reeve Wilfred Dean and Deputy Reeve Lawson Mumberston refused to continue in their council seats. Both claimed ownership of shares in the company which, they said, debarred them from voting. Councillor Charles Hooper took the chair and moved a resolution which, in effect, censured the telephone company for its stand. Other members of council remaining in their seats. Councillors Allan Sum-chance the twenty-nine subscribers to a local exchange or to require them to pay about $29 monthly for their AXminster telephones. In the event of transfer to a local exchange it is likely that they would be transferred to the Unionville exchange, which is to start operating on a dial system this fall.

James R. Rayeroff, solicitor for the 29 subscribers, said that he had gone back to 1968 to show that the Bell Telephone Company had made contracts for these people which had been renewed over a term of years. He maintained that his clients had a good case in requesting continuance of the service and doubted if the company could secure legal consent for a change. He said that the matter would be taken to higher courts if necessary.

Company's Case
Mr. C. W. Barnes, speaking for Bell, said that in the past the company had taken in the small area along the Don Mills Road where the 29 telephones were located and that these subscribers had continued to enjoy this special privilege for years. If any of them wished to retain their AXminster numbers they could do so by paying $29.60 a month. "I tried to get a private line to Toronto and the company quoted me $52 a month," said one subscriber in reply.

Mr. Barnes said that when dials arrived in Unionville, persons residing in the area would have free calling to Agincourt, Stouffville and Gormley. Protests from the floor declared that to be useless. "Who wants to call Stouffville or Gormley? We call to the south," one member of the audience asked. Any one residing in the Unionville area could secure toll service to the city by paying $10.50 monthly additional, or $29.60 for a two-way service, Mr. Barnes said.

Planner Criticizes
Markham Township Planning Director Ronald Forrest charged the Bell Company with lack of a desire to co-operate. It was hurting the township's efforts to attract industry to the southwest corner of the township, he asserted. Mr. Barnes said that was not the case. Calling habits of the area had been checked and it was found that 25 per cent of the calls went to Stouffville. "When you get your development going you will find us right there," he told Mr. Forrest.

System Change Protested

Phone Subscribers Pack Markham T'nship Office

Twenty-nine telephone subscribers in the Buttonville area who have had phones on the Axminster 3 exchange will put up a fight to retain free calling privileges to Toronto which they claim to have been promised years ago and have enjoyed ever since. They and other subscribers, numbering around a hundred, packed Markham Township hall at Buttonville last Monday to protest a revision of telephone service for the area. Township council, having adjourned in the afternoon, met in special session at night.

The Bell company proposes to change the twenty-nine subscribers to a local exchange or to require them to pay about $29 monthly for their AXminster telephones. In the event of transfer to a local exchange it is likely that they would be transferred to the Unionville exchange, which is to start operating on a dial system this fall.

WHAT TO DO IN AN ACCIDENT

First aid training is like not having a seat belt in your car. You don't miss it until you need it and it isn't there.

What is even worse than lack of first aid knowledge, however, is the harm done by well-meaning persons to accident victims in the mistaken belief they were helping them.

One of the first "don'ts" listed by the Red Cross for citizens lending a hand at automobile accidents is don't move an injury victim unless it is absolutely necessary. If the injured person has to be moved, then don't roll them over or twist them around. Pull them either head or feet first while a second person supports the other end of the body. This is to avoid aggravating internal injury.

Shock is almost always a result of injury and the best first aid procedure is to keep the victim comfortable and warm. If bones are broken, don't move the limbs involved while you await the arrival of an ambulance.

Bleeding should be stopped with a clean cloth pad and burns should be protected from the air by the same method to lessen pain.

Head injuries often bring unconsciousness and the victim should be kept quiet and lying down. If the victim isn't breathing, artificial respiration is necessary immediately.

Observance of these simple procedures until medical help arrives can save a lot of suffering and perhaps even a life.

Don't forget the Fashion Show of new Spring Hats at 3 p.m. and the Tea and Bake Sale from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. in the Victoria Square Community Hall. Proceeds for the Cancer Society.
