

THE END OF PACKARD

The Studebaker-Packard Corporation is dropping the name of Packard from its corporation title and thus declaring at an end the era of one of the fine cars of history.

The last Packards were built in 1958 on a common body shell with Studebaker. The first one was built in 1899 in Warren, Ohio, by J. W. Packard and his brother who assembled the parts by M. R. Bear hand in a small workshop.

Like many of the fine automobile makes established since then, the Packard was built as an improvement on some of the vehicles being manufactured at the time, particularly the Winton Horseless Carriage.

The story goes that Packard first proposed some improvements to the already famous manufacturer. Winton rejected them saying: "If you're so smart why don't you build a better machine yourself?"

Mild and easy going Packard was offended and replied: "Why, Mr. Winton, I guess I'll do just that." Packard designed a roomy luxurious and prestige automobile which that famous car remained until its death.

The decline of Packard was due primarily to market changes and the unpredictable shifting of public preferences. Perhaps most of all, Packard will be remembered for one of the most famous slogans ever coined in the industry - "Ask The Man Who Owns One."

Its meaning makes as good sense today to anyone seeking a quality car or a reputable, reliable dealer.

Pretty May Bride

MRS. THOMAS OAKLEY

At St. Mary Immaculate Church, Miss Mary Edith Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Hill, and Mr. Thomas Wilbert Oakley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Oakley, were united in marriage: Rev. Basil Green performed the wedding ceremony, and the nuptial Mass

(Photo By Lagerquist) was celebrated by Rev. Joseph McArdle, S. J. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz-length gown of white Chantilly lace, the fitted bodice featuring a round scoop neckline, with long lily-point sleeves. The shirred bouffant back added dramatic interest to the full circular skirt. Her shoulder length veil of silk tulle illusion was held by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

Miss Jessie Henderson, maid of honour, gowned in dog-wood pink, and Miss Jeremy Hill, sister of the bride, in palest aqua, were the bride's attendants and were gowned alike in silk organza over taffeta, featuring bell skirts with embroidered lace bodices. They wore matching headpieces and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations. Mr. Anthony Hill was best man, and Mr. Edward MacBrien acted as usher. After a wedding luncheon at the Four Winds, Mr. and Mrs. Oakley left for a trip to Quebec, and on their return will make their home in Richmond Hill.

NEWMARKET: A number of stores in Newmarket Shopping Plaza were broken into recently. A substantial amount of money was taken from one of the stores. The vandals, thought to be juveniles also entered a laundromat, which is open all night, and placed a number of fish-heads in a dryer.

School Board Requests

(Continued from Page 1) not they felt the seminar to be a success and whether they would like to have future seminars. Purchases Considerable discussion took place around the question of the deletion from the board's statement of policies the statement that prices received from local businessmen that are within 5% of the lowest price on any item received by the board should be entitled to additional consideration. While all the trustees felt that the board's policy of patronizing local merchants wherever possible was a good one, it was felt that the retention of this directive in the policies would jeopardize the board's position in getting bids that is, outside contractors would not bother putting in bids if they knew the contractor would go to a local businessman even if it were higher. It was accordingly moved and carried that this directive be removed from the board's statement of policies.

Accept Lowest Tenders The building committee submitted prices for the providing of windows and fixtures at Walter Scott and Beverley Acres Schools and it was decided to award the contract to the lowest bidder, Sentinel Electric, for a total of $7,960.00. The work is to be done in July. The price quoted includes sales tax, which will be refundable. Three prices were also submitted for the installation of fluorescent fixtures at MacKillop, McConaghy and Walter Scott Schools. The contract was awarded to the lowest bidder, Canadian General Electric at a figure of $2,445.28. This figure also includes a refundable sales tax. It was specified that this work should be done before July 1st. The business administrator reported on the demonstration he had had of several hand operated duplicators. The purchase of the "Copy-Rite" machine from National Stationers at a price of $175.00 was approved. The business administrator also advised that in company with an official from Laminated Structures he had examined the laminated beams at Beverley Acres School and it was felt that the beams were no worse than before and were not dangerous, but that a close watch would be kept on them.

Speech Therapist Superintendent McIntyre reported that he had had only two applications for the post of speech therapist, neither of which he felt justified in submitting to the board. Instead he requested permission to appoint a teacher already on the staff who has the necessary skills and will take a further summer course and take this position over in September.

The teacher appointed would receive an extra $300 per annum, plus transportation. The board agreed that this be done. The question of allowing teachers time off with pay for the purpose of writing examinations was discussed and it was decided that teachers be allowed two half days off per year for this purpose, with pay; but that any additional absences for this purpose should be approved by the superintendent and would require a deduction from sick leave. It was decided to hold the next board meeting on May 31st to permit the members of the board to attend the meeting being held on May 24th to discuss the possible amalgamation of essential services of the five municipalities of Markham and Vaughan, Richmond Hill, Woodbridge, and Markham Village.
