DRIVERS WHO FEAR ACCIDENTS MOST

To 10 percent of the nation's drivers, the threat of an accident involving bodily injury holds a danger much greater than the possible injury itself. That's the fear of what may happen to them at the hospital.

These are motorists who suffer from disabilities requiring special drugs in emergencies. More than one million cardiac cases, three hundred thousand diabetics, one hundred and fifty thousand epileptics and hundreds of thousands of others.

Rendered unconscious by an injury, a cardiac patient, for instance, could die from lack of special drugs to treat his condition. Diabetics could go into insulin shock and epileptics become seriously ill. One in every 10,000 males is born an incurable hemophilic who could bleed to death from a slight wound.

So that the public and medical attendants will know of a driver's special disabilities, a unique organization exists to protect motorists suffering from such ailments. It is called the Medic-Alert Foundation and is a non-profit organization that provides its members with a metal wrist bracelet designating their ailment.

The bracelet contains the serial number of each member relating to a file at the foundation's headquarters in Toronto, Ontario, where 24-hour phone service will accept emergency collect calls. Individual membership is for life and costs only $5.

If you should encounter a Medic-Alert on an unconscious accident victim, be sure to heed its warning. If you are unsure what to do, bring the bracelet to the attention of medical personnel or contact the Medic-Alert organization for guidance. Your prompt action could easily save a life.

Herbert Mason, a member of one of Miss Izzard's first classes, pointed out that the influence which she has had on pupils at R.H.S.S. over so many years will now extend into the future through the two scholarships which she has awarded. One, the Mary Banting Izzard Scholarship is awarded for proficiency in English in Upper

Jaycees Present Tree Seedlings To School Children

Some 4,000 Austrian Pine Tree Seedlings were distributed to the public and separate school children of Richmond Hill last Friday in a long-term beautification project sponsored by the Richmond Hill Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Chairman of the project, Jaycee Dave Newing, asks that the parents encourage the children to care for their seedlings. The Jaycees feel that even if only 25 percent of the seedlings reach maturity, a thousand trees will add considerably to the beauty of the community.

The children brought small containers filled with garden soil to school to receive the seedlings in. They were instructed to plant them in the garden as soon as they got home and water them well. After two years, or when the seedlings are from 14 to 16 inches high, they are to be transplanted to a permanent location.

School. The other, the Donald Leno Scholarship, in memory of her former pupil, is awarded for highest academic standing in Grade XIII Modern Languages and History.

A silver tea service was presented to Miss Izzard on behalf of the York Central District High School Board by Robert Ross, chairman. On behalf of former students and friends, Peter Tobias presented the guest of honour with an oil painting by Tom Roberts, well-known Canadian artist.

There were many memorable moments throughout the evening — the prolonged applause and cheers which greeted the introduction in the audience of Mr. Harry Stamford, one-time caretaker of the school and affectionately known as "Uncle Harry"; the welcome accorded Mrs. Jean Shepherd Smith, Miss Helen Shaw and Mrs. Mildred Wright Hill, all of whom taught with Miss Izzard during her early years at R.H.S.S.; and the standing ovation which greeted the introduction by Mr. F. W. Morrow, master of ceremonies, of former principal James Stewart.

Mr. Stewart proposed the toast to Miss Izzard and it was soon apparent to all that the passing years had not dulled his well-remembered wit. He expressed the good wishes of all her former students, associates and friends for happiness and success in the new life on which she was about to embark.

Miss Izzard replied in her own most eloquent fashion, her audience listening attentively as she spoke of her early life and years of teaching. Following her address, former student Miss Elizabeth Ann McLeod presented Miss Izzard with thirty-two red roses representing her years of teaching at Richmond Hill High School. Miss Izzard, Mr. Stewart and Mr. Stamford (who, as Mr. Morrow pointed out, together represented almost a century of service to R.H.S.S.) led the gathering in the school song. The guest of honour then retired to the old gymnasium (now the cafeteria) where she was warmly greeted by her many admirers.

Guests at the dinner renewed friendships and greeted old classmates, some of whom had not seen each other for twenty years. They signed a guest book which was later presented to Miss Izzard, and examined a display of old "Tattlers" and "Orbits", pictures and mementos of school days at R.H.S.S.

The apparent success of the evening was ample reward for the committee responsible for its organization. Headed by Trustee Mrs. Kathleen James of the York Central District High School Board, it included the following: Trustee Mr. Morley J. Kinnee, Principal F. W. Morrow, Mrs. J. R. McAllister, Miss Frances Hurst, Dr. Walter Mason, and ex-students Messrs. Peter Tobias and Barry Colard, Mrs. Ruth (Wellman) Reaman, Miss Elizabeth Ann McLeod and Mrs. Betty (Smith) Cook.

"We can't stop progress in the south-west corner of the township but we are opposed to any 'leap-frog' development into the rural areas that would create similar problems," stated Mr. Donald Deacon, chairman of a newly organized committee formed to delve into such matters and present recommendations to the council and planning board. Mr. Deacon addressed a regular meeting of Markham Township Council at Buttonville on Monday night. "We are all fearful that the existing taxpayers will suffer," continued Mr. Deacon. "It's often the boomerang that follows five years later that causes the trouble."

The council gave its unanimous approval to the formation of the committee to comprise the following members, Donald Deacon (chairman), Forest Dulge, A. B. Wilson, G. W. Campbell, Stanley Patterson, W. W. Mason, Ray McTavish, Wm. Hood and Frank Williams. This service will be performed without remuneration.

"We are very fortunate to have persons within this township who are willing to offer us assistance," stated acting reeve, Lawson Mumberson. Reeve Wilfred Dean was not present.

Mr. Deacon suggested that his committee might require additional members to assist with the program. "We want volunteers but not anyone who thinks he will get paid," he said.

Planning Director, Ron Forrest contended that such problems pertaining to urban build-up in rural areas should be handled from a provincial level but had been placed on the shoulders of individual municipalities. "Someone must take the bull by the horns," he said. He noted that no hand-book had ever been prepared on the subject of urbanization that would give direction to a planning board or council.

Mr. Deacon said that his committee was anxious that any subdivision did not comprise only a benefit for the developer but to the area as a whole.

"We, as a council are very concerned over the same thing," replied Mr. Mumberson.

STOUFVILLE: Two of the outstanding air cadet awards in Canada have come to Stouffville Squadron 94. Cpl. John Wylie is one of two hundred cadets chosen for the senior officers training course at Camp Borden this summer. W. O. Albert Taylor was awarded one of 250 flying scholarships given to Canadian Air Cadets.

The Bayview File —

Claim Closed Stores Due To The Road Conditions

At Monday night's Richmond Hill Town Council meeting Deputy-reeve Broadhurst stated that the special roads committee of York County is meeting Thursday night, to recommend roads to be taken over by the Toronto and York Roads Commission. Referring to the hope that Bayview Avenue might be included in such recommendation Deputy-reeve Broadhurst said he will be pressing this year for a committee report and recommendation which will be realistic. In the past, he said, the practice has been for the committee to recommend the taking over of several roads and often the recommendations have no relation whatever to the financial ability of the commission to go ahead with the work.

"This year I will press for a report recommending only those roads the commission is sure it can finance," said the deputy-reeve.

Mr. Broadhurst made the statement following the reading of a letter from Ben Walker Jewelry Ltd. making a strong complaint about the continued unsatisfactory condition of Bayview Avenue. Referring to a recent car mishap experienced by the reeve the letter stated: "The road where Reeve Perkins broke a torsion bar on his car is only a small sample of what happens to people who do their shopping at Bayview Plaza. Four or five stores have closed down on account of the road conditions, claiming customers will not take a chance with their cars owing to the deplorable condition of roads in the area." The letter concludes, "we are asking as one of your taxpayers to try and help us prevent any further loss of business."

Councillor MacDiarmid asked the clerk if he kept a special file for complaints about the condition of Bayview. "If you do it must be a pretty big file," commented the councillor.
