Big Crowd Sees Yonge Street Can Meet Challenge Of The Future Show Time 1962

A capacity audience at Bayview High School Saturday evening gave a full measure of applause to 125 students of the Midmer Dance Studios who won all hearts with "Show Time '62".

The show opened with the Midmerettes Dancers, a high-kicking chorus who have recently performed on television. They proved their talent again when they opened with the Charleston.

In the number entitled Lost in Midmer Land, five little chipmunks and five little teddy bears, amusingly costumed, proved that children are never too young to learn the teamwork of show business. This was also demonstrated when a group of 16 youngsters, all under eight years of age, performed in the Candyland ballet.

The number, An Evening at a Night Club, showed the audience that these children are not only outstanding dancers, but also have talent for acting. Susan Owen, Judy Jenkins, Chris Dunlop and George Allen gave a good performance in the Hungarian Folk Dance.

Teacher Audrey Parker, one of the most outstanding classical ballet teachers in Metro, proved her teaching ability by the most professional performance of her pupils. Some have had just one or two years of training.

Eddy Midmer and his daughter Linda, made a perfect team when they danced in Swing Time. Assistant teacher Barry Manary made an appearance in a solo number that had many in the audience comparing him to Fred Astaire.

The scenery and lighting effects, the work of Barry Manary, Lindsay Christie, John Dagger and Doug Vickers, added much to the evening. The forest scene, complete with lightning and thunder aroused much favourable comment. Congratulations on the success of the evening have poured in from every side and the children have been asked to appear in several places in Ontario this summer.

The Yonge Street Merchants maintain that: (1) If the planning board accepts the merchant's suggestions and allow them to build apartments, other than for themselves, they would have enough revenue to keep in business, as well as bringing nearby trade to their Yonge Street doorsteps.

(2) Removal of boulevards and unsightly poles and wires overhead would bring about an up-to-date appearance. They would not frown on removal of old stores, which are claimed to be health hazards and eyesores on the main street. In fact one store at least, on Yonge has outdoor conveniences.

(3) It is impossible to buy or sell property on Yonge Street at the present time, because under an existing by-law, passed in 1957, you cannot have a building where there is no access lane in the rear.

"The regulations put into effect since 1957, are the basic cause of Yonge Street's condition," Mr. Taylor said. "The new developer, not the established businessman is getting the encouragement, and we have no alternative, other than to appeal assessment." Fourteen appeals for reassessment are waiting for a county judge's hearing, and all have a firm basis for their appeals.

But despite the existing slump in the downtown section, Mr. Taylor said, "I'm optimistic for the future. With the new hospital and the creating of dining-rooms, more people will come to Yonge Street. We'd just like to get these apartments which are of prime importance to our financial security, built."

He added that the Richmond Hill Planning Board has already cost the town a tremendous amount of money, "and we've had no results."

A seventy-suite apartment house, composed of bachelor suites and one-bedroom apartments such as one man wanted to build on Arnold Avenue, would not add to the school population. But it would help to bring life back to Yonge Street, in the area where it is needed most if we are to survive."

WHAT'S IN A NAME

It is little wonder the public is becoming confused by the steadily increasing number of new names, models, sizes and options being offered in new cars these days.

As if the situation wasn't bad enough there are a whole new series of new names now descending on us in the form of 1962 1/2 models. To the "old" names like Polara, Nova, Skylark, Monza, M.R. Bear, Cutlass, Grand Prix, Comet and Daytona are to be added such names as Wildcat, Coronado, Monterey S55, Meteor S33, Spyder, Monte Carlo, SP100 and Jetfire.

An automotive trade paper recently explained the whole thing in a cartoon. A salesman is talking to a purchaser and he says:

"This model is halfway between our deluxe and medium-price models, and in between our compact and low-price regular-size sedan, but midway, economy-wise, between the deluxe compact and the medium-priced first-line models."

We hope this doesn't leave you as confused as a group of ladies recently polled by a financial paper on their automotive knowledge. They thought that a brake drum was used by musicians, that radiator hose was a brand of nylons and that the police should do something about universal joints.

Names and styles and options will continue to change. Sometimes, like the hemlines on women's skirts, for no apparent reason. But the names that stay, and the dealers who service them will be those that acquire and keep customer loyalty through quality performance. A purchaser soon tires of a new chrome strip or fender contour, but the memory of reliable service lingers long.

Board To Seek Ruling Fees Outside Children

The Richmond Hill Public School Board has decided to ask its solicitor if it can bill and collect tuition fees for pupils going to town public schools, who aren't legally entitled to attend.

Superintendent Gordon S. McIntyre told the board that the case which prompted his request for guidance was now "complicated by a number of other factors," but that he would still like to know what course to follow if a similar situation should arise in the future.

Although both Mr. McIntyre and board members carefully refrained from any comment which might give a clue to the identity of the child concerned, it was indicated that the child, because taxes were going to separate school support, should have been attending a separate school. Mr. McIntyre said that the parents had not been notified by registered mail that, since the child wasn't entitled to attend public school, tuition fees would have to be paid in advance on the first of each month.

He said no reply was received from the parents, but the child continued to attend the public school.

"The principal refused to send the anti-noise bylaw to permit do it, either," said Mr. McIntyre, adding that "the child is the wrong person to saddle with the problem."

Mr. McIntyre also said that the Department of Education would not interpret the section of the Schools Administration Act which permits boards to charge tuition fees for pupils not legally entitled to attend the board's schools.

The board agreed to permit distribution of literature about Richildaca Day Camp among pupils in its schools. However, in granting permission, the board indicated that such permission would probably not be granted again next year.

Although several trustees commented that Wm. Babcock, operator of the camp, was doing a good job, and benefitting the community, it was still a private operation, and that they could be establishing a precedent by allowing him to hand out the information. Chairman Harold Sanderson suggested that if Mr. Babcock were permitted to distribute information about his business, other private concerns would have the right to do the same thing.

May Revise Boundaries

After Mr. McIntyre reported on kindergarten registration, and projected attendance, there was considerable discussion of revising the boundaries between Beverley Acres and Crosby Heights schools. This has been referred to the board's planning committee for discussion.

Mr. McIntyre's figures showed that 370 children had been registered for September, 1962.

Amend Anti-noise Bylaw To Permit Longer Hours

Vaughan Township Council Monday night gave three readings to a bylaw permitting the operation of road machinery for two, ten-hour shifts, six days per week at the CNR marshalling yard project and the Department of Highways' work on Highway 11 at Langstaff and on Bathurst Street, north of Highway 7.

The CNR will operate the two shifts constructing right-of-ways at their yard between Keele, Jane and Main Streets, just north of Steeles Avenue until July 1.

Between Con. 6, 7 and 8, north of Steeles Avenue, the two shifts will be permitted until Oct. 1, this year.

The Department of Highways will operate 20 hours per day, six days a week, south of the Langstaff sideroad, between Yonge and Bathurst Streets, and on Bathurst Street north of Highway 7.

The owner will be given 30 days notice and if he does not clean up the property in that time, the township will do so and charge him.

Because of complaints about the condition of property owned by D. Roller at Kleinburg council decided to have Mr. Roller attend their next meeting to discuss the matter.

At the same meeting, council gave three readings to a bylaw amending the zoning bylaw to permit the development of a 12 unit motel at the Holiday Ranch restaurant, Maple Ave. and Yonge St. Clerk McDonald stated that residents of the area had been polled on the question and would be polled again before the rezoning is effected.

On the recommendation of the road committee, council decided that J. S. Grant be notified to complete the application of primer on roads in Nor-maple subdivision within 15 days.

A report from Duncan Hopper and Associates with costs of double surface treatment on Dufferin Street between the Maple sideroad and the Department of Lands and Forests property was referred to the department. Regional Forester P. Addison indicated earlier the department is prepared to share the cost of this work.
